(By Associated Press)
LONDON, England, July 15.—The soviet government is offering a reward of 2,000,000 rubles for the head of a man claiming to be Czar Nicholas II of Russia, according to information received by the Jewish correspondence bureau today.

The advisers say the claimant, who is in Siberia, has raised a considerable following. In accounting for his escape from Bolsheviki, he asserts it was a servant impersonating the Czar who was killed at Yekaterinburg, where the czar and his family are understood to have been executed.

UNBELIEVABLE! COAL
PRICES MAY BE LOW

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 15.—A reduction of the price of bituminous coal was predicted here today by members of the sub-committee of railroad officials and coal operators meeting here to complete details of a plan to relieve the coal shortage in New York City, New England and the northwest.

By a scientific distribution of cars, the committee hopes to provide a steady stream of coal to the affected districts. Under this plan the committee members believe the coal operators will find it impossible to exact the high prices that the acute shortage has made possible.

The car question alone is the stumbling block, it was said; the coal operators having assured the railroad representatives that enough coal can be mined to supply all orders. The shortage is estimated at 25,000 open-top cars, only a fraction of which, it is said, are now being built.

Edgar Herbert, charged with having issued checks without funds in the bank, entered a plea of not guilty. Case set for trial in circuit court July 26.

Sarah O. Pinnick has been granted a divorce from George L. Pinnick. Custody of the child has been awarded to the Wayne County Board of Children's Guardians, but the parents are permitted to visit the child and the child can visit each parent. Alimony of $100 awarded to Mrs. Pinnick and the father must pay $20 per month for the support of the child.

Students Starve in Central Empire, Friends' Board Says; Is Feeding Many of Them

Pitiful conditions are reported existing among the students in German and Austrian cities by the American Friends service committee. Whether to buy bread or books is the problem now lying before thousands of students in the higher schools and universities of Germany and Austria. Many of them are forced to give up all hopes of study in order to secure a bare living.

In Vienna the Quaker mission is providing a daily breakfast for 1,100 students, consisting of cocoa and bread. A charge of one-third of a cent is made for this. The work is being rapidly expanded.

It is planned during the coming year to supervise adult and student relief in Germany besides having exclusive charge of the great relieving operations. The American Friends service committee will handle the students' relief through the Hoover food-draft plan, by which money from interested contributors in America will be converted into food drafts in New York, and the food drawn from the warehouses of the American Relief administration in Germany.

As many workers are coming home from the service in Europe, vacancies are made for which additional help is desired. It is necessary, however, to pass a very rigid examination before acceptance. One of the requirements is a thorough knowledge of the German language.

FEW BIDS FOR CITY COAL SUPPLIES ARE RECEIVED BY BOARD

Bids for supplying coal for the Richmond Municipal Electric plant and for city buildings received by the board of public works, Thursday, were almost conspicuous by their absence.

One bid received for coal for municipal buildings was rejected because it failed to offer coal in the quantity advertised for, 250 tons. This bid was submitted by the Richmond Coal company, by O. O. Smith.

One bid to supply the municipal electric plant with 25,000 tons, was taken under advisement. The bidder was the Smith-Osborne Coal Sales company, represented by O. O. Smith. The board objected to the restrictions imposed by the bidding company. The company agreed to give the board until Monday morning to accept or reject the bid.

Don't Guarantee Rate
The Smith-Osborne Coal Sales company offered to supply the municipal electric light plant with 25,000 tons of Kentucky run of mine, nut and slack for a period of one year at the rate of $6 per ton, f. o. b. mines, but the bid was qualified with the demand that if the city accepted it the city would enter into the same conditional agreement with the operators that the bidding company would be required to enter into, a provision against maintenance of the rate in the event of embargoes, strikes, wage increases, to miners and other causes over which the contracting company would have no control.

Mr. Smith called attention to the chaotic condition of the coal market. "This is principally due," he said, "to the action of the great industries going into the open market with preposterous offers. They are willing to pay almost any price for coal. The bigger the expense they run up, the less excess profits tax they have to pay," he remarked.

The city in recent months has purchased coal for the municipal plant for $5.00, $5.25 and $5.75 per ton. Only occasional shipments on these orders are being received. Some of the coal purchased at $5.00 has not yet been received. The plant's consumption now averages 100 tons per day and it has a little over 30 days' supply in reserve.

The bid for coal for city buildings offered only two carloads, considerably less than the amount advertised for, one carload of Pocahontas A at $11.00 per ton, f. o. b. mines, the other Kentucky lump, $10.00 per ton, f. o. b. mines.

COAL IS SECURED BY FARM MANAGER
H. M. Buettner, manager of the elevator at Fountain City, reports the arrival of five cars of Kentucky and Illinois coal, this week, at a cost of $11 per ton to the threshers. He says it is "good coal," the best obtainable, and the threshing ring men are hauling it away so that the cars may be sent back to the mines.

Mr. Buettner says that orders have been placed by the federation farmers for 12 cars of anthracite. The state federation has engineered a deal whereby a lot of anthracite was secured by the sending of representative direct to the mines, the contracts providing a delivery price of about $15 per ton at Indiana points. Some of this coal will come to Fountain City.

Threshing in New Garden and Franklin will begin about Wednesday of next week, at which time a lot of grain will be in condition for the machines.

Peasant Artist Darde
Felt Own Way to Fame;
(By Associated Press)
PARIS, July 15.—Paul Adolphe Darde, awarded the envied Paris Salon national prize for his marbles "Faun" and "Eternal Suffering," is greeted by critics as a genius in the real sense of that abused word.

Darde, in the simple telling of his career, stands out among artists. He was a shepherd in the region of Lozère. Son of a small farmer, he watched a flock or worked the ground until he was 20. He fought in the war and today, famous, he is only 31.

The big, powerful, blond-bearded peasant, began drawing, he says, when he was eight but felt his own way until he took a drawing course in the Lozère high school and later studied at Montpellier. Through the counsel of his two art teachers he came to Paris. He spent five weeks here in the government art institute and worked three days in Rodin's studio. With that slim grip of the classic school and the modernity of Rodin, Darde began the working in marble and metal that made experience his teacher.

The "Faun" is a massive, vigorous conception, sneering, cynical and sensual. "Eternal Suffering" represents a woman's head, snake-entwined, with face up turned, in anguish and almost distorted as if with physical pain.

Darde works directly in marble without a wax or plaster model.
