

INDIANA WOMEN WILL BE ALLOWED TO VOTE FOR TICKET LEADERS

Republican women in Indiana are getting the preliminaries of the coming campaign under way and are making preparations to co-operate to the fullest extent with the men's organizations, down to the precinct committee.

The women are sure of at least partial suffrage in the fall elections and will likely get the full vote, as it is regarded probable that the 26th state will ratify the federal suffrage amendment before Nov. 2.

As the law in Indiana now stands, women are entitled to vote for president and vice president regardless of whether the federal suffrage amendment is ratified or not.

Indiana Law.

An act passed by the state legislature and approved Feb. 6, 1919, gives "all women citizens of the United States of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who shall have resided in the state 6 months and in the township 60 days, and in the ward or precinct 30 days immediately preceding any presidential election," the right to vote for the presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Separate ballot boxes and ballots will be provided for the women who vote under the authority of the 1919 act.

The women must comply with the same suffrage regulations as the men and everyone who expects to vote will be required to register. There will be two registration days—the first Saturday in September and the first Monday in October. The hours will be from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., and voters will register in the precinct in which they are entitled to vote. Both men and women who will be 21 years old on or before election day must register in order to be qualified to cast their vote.

"Everything my little 12-year-old girl at distressed her; even a glass of water would cause her to belch gas and she was unable to go to school for nearly a year. Ratification is hoped for the November election is before for.

$50 Reward for Arrest Of Draft Eviders

A nation-wide round-up of more than 100,000 draft deserters is to be started soon by the war department.

For months the war department has been preparing a mammoth list of names of men who can be classed as actual and not theoretical deserters. This list will be completed soon and it is expected it will contain the names of at least 100,000 "slackers."

Newspapers throughout the country are to be asked to publish the names of the men on the list who are on the record of the war department as living their locality.

Fifty dollars reward will be offered anyone delivering one of the deserters to the nearest military station. The men on the list now nearing completion are those shown by war department records to have disregarded the draft calls after they had registered.

MURRAY.
Thrills aplenty were experienced by those who witnessed the opening last night of "The Iron Heart," the William Fox production starring Madeline Travers, at the Murray theatre.

Denison Clift, author and director has made "The Iron Heart" a gripping industrial story of the big steel mills—but a story in which tender sentiment abounds. As a woman with an iron heart and dauntless courage, who assumes the management of a great business bequeathed her by her father, who spent a lifetime in building it up, Miss Travers proves herself to be an accomplished actress who can handle big scenes of the roughest type.

"The Iron Heart" is a swiftly moving drama filled with big situations. In spite of her courage and steady nerve which overcome many amazing difficulties, the woman's heart is melted in the glowing fires of love, and the picture fades out with the heroine in the arms of the man who has dared much and sacrificed much for her sake.

George McDaniel plays the lead, Edwin Booth Tilton is seen as the father and Melbourne McDowell and Ben Deely are cast as "heavies."

goes and takes Coyote Jones and Jimmy O'Malley with him. At sea he encounters the girl he has defended in the cabaret, but she ignores his efforts to be friendly. However, before leaving the ship Dick gets a note in which he is thanked anonymously for his interest.

Soon after he arrives at his destination he finds that the girl of his adventure is the Princess Alexia, ruler of the principality in which the cattle ranch is located; he learns also that certain titled officials are conspiring to wreck the princess's reign. Dick fixes the conspirators in George Walsh fashion and when the princess's enemies are beaten he induces the princess to sail for America as his bride.

MURRAY VAUDEVILLE.
Contrary to the usual custom, a review of the vaudeville bill at the Murray theatre the last half of the week must start with a discussion of the opening act. Ambler Brothers open the bill with a ladder balancing act which is one of the best "strong man" acts ever shown on the local stage. The two brothers who do the bulk of the work in the act, are of small stature and give the impression of being only of average strength. Their act, however, dispels any impression of that sort and they perform some of the most difficult feats known to equilibrists.

Williams and Culver follow the acrobats with "Comic Songs and Foolish Talk." The man exceeds the woman in cleverness, although his comedy manner needs acquaintance for enjoyment. As the act goes on his jokes begins to meet with more favor with the audience and he leaves the impression of a pleasant act.

The Chanard Leonard Trio closes the bill with a revue of musical offerings. The act consists of two men and a girl. The girls is especially good, particularly in her interpretation of Scottish dances. She closes the act with a jazz interpretation of classic toe-dancing.

WASHINGTON.
A man who lived not wisely but too well is the artist hero of "Blind Youth," a Feldick National Theatre release which will be shown for the first time at the Washington theatre today and tomorrow.

He was cast off by two women, his mother and his model, only to be rescued for fame and fortune by a third, who marries him. A few nights later she finds him alone in his studio with another woman in the small hours of the morning, and she has it on the word of his brother that things are as black as they appear.

Then comes a queer quirk of psychology, which saves the situation and many mistakes, resulting in an under-
