MAY FISH, BUT NOT HUNT ON SUNDAY, SAYS MANNFELD

George N. Mannfeld, chief of the division of fish and game of the state conservation department, sounds a warning about hunting on Sunday and says the state warden service will watch for such violations. The penalty for Sunday hunting, upon conviction, is a fine of not less than $1 and not to exceed $50.

"There is no fish law in Indiana that makes it an offense to fish on Sunday and therefore wardens will not arrest persons for Sunday fishing," Mr. Mannfeld says. It is known that many people fish on the first day of the week, commonly known as Sunday, because they have not the time to fish at any other period of the week. He points out that there is a "blue law" in this state against fishing and some communities insist it be enforced.

Members of the Penny Club will observe lunch day Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louis Carrington, 729 West Main street.
