

MANNIX IS BARRED FROM ENGLAND FOR PRO-IRISH SPEECHES

LONDON, July 27.—Seriousness of the Irish situation was increased Monday when Premier David Lloyd George announced in the House of Commons that Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix, of Melbourne, Australia, would not be permitted to land in England because of his utterances regarding conditions in Ireland.

Premier W. M. Hughes, of Australia, denounced the archbishop in a speech in Bendigo that has caused a profound stir throughout the British Empire.

In part, Premier Hughes said: "Today the British Empire is surrounded by enemies. It is being attacked by Bolshevism, Sinn Feinism and Germanism."

"The British Empire is a League of Nations, bound by its ties of blood and race."

"If you break Britain, you break Australia."

"When you see in our midst, therefore, men who would break up the Empire and plunge a dagger into its heart, what are we to think of such men except that they are traitors?"

"I care not what you think of England as England, but I am concerned about what effect that will have on Australia."

"It means death for us, and because of that I shall smite them hip and thigh."

"When Archbishop Mannix said that the sentiments he uttered were supported by the bulk of the inhabitants of Australia, he said that which was not true."

"He has only one objective and that is the destruction of the Empire, or, at any rate, the founding of a republic of Ireland."

Irish Republic Opposed.

"I am not going to say that Ireland has no grievance, but I am opposed irrevocably to a republic of Ireland and will fight it tooth and nail by every means in my power, because it means the dismemberment of the Empire and the destruction of Australia."

"Monsieur Mannix says his one hope is that England and America will be enemies and that Ireland will fight England, and that America will fight England."

"If that hope is realized we will see a war the like of which the world never has seen."

"Hope for the peace of the world lies not in a league of nations, but in that firm alliance of understanding and co-operation which has existed for more than a hundred years between America and Britain and between the British Empire and America."

Brandenburg Criminal.

"If it was necessary to choose between the kaiser and that man as to which was the greater criminal, I know which one I would choose. The kaiser was pushed into this, but Monsiegnur Mannix went on his own free will."

"The Australian public repudiates him. It wishes America to understand that Australia is part and parcel of the British empire and intends to remain there."

"Australia holds out the hand of friendship to peaceful nations, particularly America. We realize that America's destiny and our own coincide in the Pacific and we desire America's aid there."

The Theatres

WASHINGTON.

The "Hispaniola," the vessel in which the stout hearted treasure-seekers in Stevenson's "Treasure Island" sailed the Main and fought pirates and nutmeats, lives in Maurice Tourneur's film version of the classic of adventure, which will be shown at Washington Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. For many weeks before the making of the picture, Mr. Tourneur sought for a replica of the treasure-ship. Finally a barkentine called the "Fremont," long since abandoned as unseaworthy, was located and arrangements made with the owner to make repairs and use it.

The "Fremont" fits Stevenson's description of the "Hispaniola" in every detail. It was built originally to transport slaves from Africa and made two such voyages. Later it became a pirate ship and as such was seized by the government, which for many years used it as a patrol boat. Mr. Tourneur equipped it with all the gear of the pirate days, filled its decks with swarthy turbaned buccaners, and christened it "Hispaniola" for its

"Treasure Island" has been given a truly remarkable production as a photoplay. Shirley Mason is seen as Jim Hawkins, Lon Chaney is Pew and Merry, and Charles Ogle gives an excellent performance as Long John Silver. It is a Paramount Artcraft picture.

MURRETTE.

Wallace McDonald, who is playing opposite Marguerite Clark in her new photoplay, "A Girl Named Mary," at the Murrette theatre this week, secured his first motion picture engagement as the result of a "handsome man contest" conducted by a prominent screen publication. The result of the voting was something of a surprise, as McDonald was at that time an unknown, and outstripped several popular film favorites in the contest. This brought him to the attention of a film producer and he became a leading man, making good from the start.

His role in "A Girl Named Mary," is that of a foreman printer, a loyal, good hearted chap in love with the pretty stenographer-heroine, played by Miss Clark. The picture is from the story by Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, which first appeared serially in a popular magazine. It is a Paramount-

MURRAY.

Is it human nature to always believe the worst? If someone, in a fit of anger over an injustice done them by another, said, "I could kill him!" and you found him dead, would you believe the worst of the angry person?

Such a situation is one of the big, pulsing moments in "Dollar for Dollar," Frank Keenan's new Pathe release showing for the first time at the Murray theatre the first half of the week.

Frank Keenan enacts the role of a financier who is blackmailed by a charming woman—a woman who stands high in the same social set as his own. He calls her action a crime and believes the worst of her. She calls his methods of bribe and extortion a crime, and believes the worst of him.

Dollar for dollar, this woman demands of Gard and Victor Mordant, for they are responsible for the failure that resulted in her husband's death. A romantic theme is cleverly woven between the fair blackmailer and one of her victims, and her daughter and the son of her other victim.

SIX WEEKS UNTIL FROST.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., July 27.—A government thermometer at the De Pauw university observatory, operating by Dr. W. V. Brown, Monday morning, showed a minimum temperature of 51 degrees. It was believed that a still lower temperature prevailed in the lowlands. Frost has been reported at 44 degrees. It may not be six weeks until frost.

COAL PRODUCTION GREATER.

PRICES CONTINUE TO SOAR. A series of limited embargoes is understood to be the method the coal operators and railroad officials will try in an effort to find a solution of the coal shortage situation, according to the last issue of Coal Age. The publication says: "For the last two weeks interest has centered in the efforts of the coal operators and the railroad officials to find a solution of the coal shortage situation. It is now too early to know the sentiment of the trade regarding the plan to control distribution by a series of limited embargoes, which is understood to be the method proposed."
