GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO, July 31.—Wheat slump again carried corn and oats down. In addition the southwest received some rain and Illinois may receive thunder showers over the week end. Wheat bids 15 cents lower. Absence of buying power and good rallies in remarkable. Looks as if the grain trade believes the real price reconstruction is here. We believe December wheat may sell at $2.00, but such a level looks low enough for a time. So far central west corn dry is not radically serious. Our reports from points in one-half of Illinois belt suggests corn dry not serious as yet.
