

GIANT'S CLIMB IS FEATURE OF WEEK; CLEVELAND COMING

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The games in the National League during the past week brought the teams more closely bunched, the standing tonight showing the first and last teams separated by only 162 points.

Brooklyn continues to set the pace, but the Robins lead was cut down in the series with Cincinnati, the latter winning three of four games.

A victory by Cincinnati over New York in the first of the series Saturday put the Reds on even terms with Brooklyn, but yesterday Brooklyn defeated St. Louis and again took the lead as the Giants beat the Reds in a sensational ninth-inning rally.

McGrawmen Coming Fast.
McGraw's team made the most impressive record in the league during the week, having an unbroken string of victories until the world's champions were encountered.

The Giants are in third place and with a little better pitching may catch up with the two leaders.

Pittsburgh is giving the Giants a battle for third place, while Chicago is not far behind the pair. St. Louis did not win a game last week. Boston and Philadelphia bring up the rear of the second division.

Cleveland followers were encouraged by the way the Spokemen performed last week, not that it was unusual for Speaker's men to win a majority of their games, but because of the improved pitching.

There was only one game in which it was necessary to send in relief pitchers and that was the only contest Cleveland lost.

Caldwell Wins Second.
Caldwell started that game, but two days later went the full route to a victory. Cleveland and Morton each pitched two wins and Bagby one.

There was no change in the relative positions of the leaders as a result of yesterday's games. Cleveland bowing to Washington, while New York lost to Chicago.

The results of the latter game, however, puts Chicago within a few points of the Yankees. Huggins' men got a bad start on the road, dropping the series to St. Louis.

The club continues to have weak and unsteady pitching and consequently the good stick work of the players is wasted in many games. Chicago continued its steady work during the week while Washington and St. Louis are fighting for fourth place.

The Boston Red Sox fell behind during the week and Detroit and Philadelphia continued at their usual gait.

Tough One!

New Madison Sets Head Of Boston Swimming, 22-9

New Madison triumphed over the crippled Boston team, Sunday, in a clash for cellar honors, with a score of 22 to nine. Four regular players were out of the Boston lineup. Olvey, Sliton, first baseman; Pyle, second baseman, and Bottinger, center-field, were the missing players.

Carrio hurled the first inning for Boston and struck out one man. Brittain pitched the remainder of the game and struck out five.

Tal Kages occupied the mound for New Madison and struck out one batter. Haas was on the receiving end of the New Madison battery.

Boston came through with a total of 22 hits and the victors drew 21. The score by innings was as follows:
New Madison..... 6 22 01 414—22
Boston..... 112 013 001—9

Centerville, 5; Whitewater, 2; Two Homers Knocked

Centerville took the measure of Whitewater, 5 to 2 Sunday in one of the most important games on the suburban schedule. Centerville drew two home runs, one in the second inning and one in the fifth. Both teams played an air tight game and the largest crowd of the season was out for the fray.

Batteries were as follows: Centerville, Bowman and Knott; Whitewater, Bresse and Fine.

The score by innings:
Centerville..... 030 010 001—5

"Y" BOWLING ALLEYS ARE TO BE PUT IN SHAPE SOON

Bowling alleys at the "Y" will be placed in shape for the fall and winter games, according to an announcement by Tim Sprouse, custodian of the "Y." The alleys will be scraped and rubbed and will be given a new coat of shellac.

Plans for organized bowling and leagues have not been announced. It is expected that several leagues will be formed, however, and indications are that the alleys will be even better patronized than they were last year.

MURRETTE

"There appears to be a popular misconception of vampires, or rather a very decided conception on the part of the public that does not begin to cover nor classify the various species," said Miss Constance Talmadge in a recent interview.

The topic under discussion was Constance's latest First National attraction, "The Perfect Woman," which began at the Murrette theatre Sunday.

Miss Talmadge believes that the art of vampirism is by no means confined to the ladies, but that men, as a rule, are far more adept in the gentle practice, than the fair sex. Miss Talmadge said smilingly: "In writing the story of 'The Perfect Woman,' John Emerson and Anita Loos hit upon a big psychological truth. The story is built around a young girl who is madly in love with a woman hater. The girl practically throws herself at him, without as much as a how-do-you-do by way of recognition.

Now the law of skilled vampires is "indifference"—an inviting personality, with just the slightest touch of frigidity. That is where popular conception takes a mighty tumble. Opinion based on hearsay has it that vampires have a certain invigilating system—I believe that is all wrong.

The girl who builds a glacial wall around herself is going to be friendless, while, on the other hand, if she but displays the least sign of invigilating motives she is going to find herself as friendly as Miss Eskimo.

MURRAY

Corinne Griffith has a splendid supporting company for "Bab's Candidate," which will be shown at the Murray theatre on Monday. George Fawcett, a star on the legitimate stage, and who directed Miss Griffith in "Deadline at Eleven," has returned to the screen to assume the role of Senator Marvin, one of the leading characters.

Another important role is played by Charles Abbe, also well-known on the stage, but somewhat of a newcomer to the screen, and still another character is played by Harry A. Fisher, for more than 30 years associated with Harrigan and Hart. Webster Campbell plays opposite Miss Griffith. Others in the cast include William Holden, Ray Applegate, Blanche Davenport and Walter Morton. In addition there are a score or more quaint country characters, only bits, but which add greatly to the charm of the picture.

"Bab's Candidate" was written by Forrest Crissey and was one of the prize winners in an "O. Henry Contest," conducted by the Society of Arts and Sciences, with the object of encouraging young authors to follow the style of the famous writer of short stories. It has the whimsical O. Henry touch and was a great success when published in Harper's Magazine. Lucien Hubbard made the scenario. It is a Vitaphone production.
