

PILGRIM EMBARKMENT TO BE CELEBRATED BY EIGHT DAY FESTIVALS

(By Associated Press)
PLYMOUTH, Eng., Aug. 18.—A civic reception and concert in guildhall here will begin the eight days' round of festivities with which Plymouth will celebrate the Tercentenary of the sailing of the Pilgrim Fathers from this port. The reception will be held the evening of Sept. 3.

On Saturday, Sept. 4, there will be a literary and historical conference under the auspices of the Mayflower council. During the afternoon there will be a historical procession while 250 guests of the Lord Mayor will be taken on a steamer trip through the harbor. There will be a united religious celebration at the guildhall in the evening.

One of the most impressive features of the week's program will be a service to be held Sunday, September 5, at the "Mayflower Stone" on the Barbican—the spot whence the Pilgrim Fathers embarked and where the crew of the American seaplane NC-4 alighted after its aerial repayment of the history-making voyage of 1620.

Societies Open Doors.
On Monday the British and Foreign Sailors' society will open the Salter's Hotel, the English Speaking union will give a luncheon to the Mayor, corporation officials and about 600 delegates and the foundation stone of the Mayflower Hall being erected by the Salvation Army will be laid. There will be civic celebrations on the "Flow," the high ridge a mile long from the most beautiful part of Plymouth Bay. The mayor will give a banquet to 250 guests in the evening.

Tuesday's program includes a motor trip for 200 guests of the mayor to Princeton, Ashburton, Newton Abbot, Totnes and Torquay—neighboring places of historic interest and noted for their scenic beauties. At Torquay the mayor and the corporation will give a luncheon to the visitors and entertain them at luncheon in the town hall. A garden party at Torre Abbey will follow. In the evening there will be a public meeting, with American speakers.

Garden Parties.
Lady Astor will give a garden party Wednesday at Saltram park, the home of Lord Morley. It is expected 600 will attend. Another function has been arranged by the mayor of Plymouth to be held at the corporation museum during the evening.

A luncheon and garden party will be given Thursday by the women's section of the Free Church council. A visit to the government naval establishments, with tea at Edgcombe park, the home of the Earl and Countess of Edgcombe, and a theatrical gala will complete this day's program.

A charabanc excursion for 400 guests to Burraton, the artificial lake which supplies Plymouth with water, and tea at Duckland Abbey, where Lady Seaton will be hostess, have been arranged for Friday.

Saturday's schedule for the visitors includes a regatta and swimming exhibition off the Hoe. Each day of the celebrations there will be a performance of the tercentenary pageant which has been arranged by the Mayflower council.

Each householder in Plymouth has been requested by the mayor to display the American flag from his home during the festival week.

Old Glory Waves Over Boat on the Elbe

Can you imagine any great American city today providing an excursion picnic for a group of German subjects? But the accompanying pictures, taken on June 13, illustrate the gratitude of a German city to the participants in the American Child Relief mission.

The river is not the Mississippi nor the Hudson, but the Elbe. Perhaps the name of the boat "Germania, Hamburg" is not legible, but the stars and stripes can easily be recognized. It is not "force to the utmost" but rather the motives of neighborliness and good will that have elicited from Germany this courtesy and respect to the American flag.

The small group of Americans who have given themselves so selflessly to the work of feeding some 27,000 of the most undernourished children of Hamburg have won the respect of all the local authorities and so they enjoyed the long day's ride up the river to Lauenburg, the walk across country and the luncheon in the country inn.

Besides the four American Quakers, Herr Voller, who is manager of the German staff for the feeding in Hamburg, and the leaders of the kitchens shared in the picnic. The Friends headquarters here has received the picture.

WORK TO INTERPRET JOHNSON TAX LAW

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 18.—State officials, today began an investigation of the Johnson home rule tax bill passed at the special session of the general assembly to determine its effect on the levy for state highway funds.

In an opinion given the Hoosier Motor club by a local law firm, the Johnson bill takes from the state board of tax commissioners its authority over the tax levy.

The act of the legislature establishing the highway commission fixed a levy of 10 cents on each $100 of taxable property for the use of the commission, but the state board, acting under a new tax law, fixed the highway levy last year at 3.9 cents.

Tax officials estimate that the highway commission would receive $2,000,000 in revenue if it is decided that the Johnson act takes from the state tax commission its authority over the highway levy, and restores the 10 cent levy.

Many Subscribers Not Reached in Salvation Army Drive—Mrs. Roach

"While the quota of the Salvation Army drive has not been reached," said Mrs. A. W. Roach, county chairman of the campaign in Wayne county, "it must be remembered that a large number of subscribers who gave from $2 to $100 last year, in several parts of the county have not been solicited." Three hundred and fifty letters are to be sent out immediately to persons not yet seen, asking them to seriously consider the call, and fill out the enclosed pledge card. Lack of personal workers has made it necessary to do most of the soliciting by mail.

Through the courtesy of the Reed Furniture company their large window fronting on Main street, has been secured for campaign headquarters and work was progressing there Wednesday. Some one will be at headquarters each day until the close of the drive on Saturday.

W. J. Shirley, state representative of the Salvation army, was at headquarters Wednesday working to put everything in condition for a successful finish to the campaign.

SOCRATES LEFT NO WRITINGS: WERE PRESERVED BY PLATO

(Kansas City Star)

Socrates began life as a sculptor, but soon abandoned and devoted himself to studying—having what he thought was a divine commission, pointed out by oracles and dreams, to devote himself to the intellectual improvement of his fellow citizens. He served in the army as all Greek citizens were compelled to do, up to the age of 60. He was conspicuous for bravery and endurance during war, and he was conspicuous in politics during peace. He became so great and so popular that the powers then in control condemned him to death.

All modern philosophy goes back to his teachings. He left no writings behind him, but his doctrines were written out in the form of Socratic dialogues by his pupil, Plato. His wife, Xantippe, was a shrewish woman and made him exceedingly unhappy and was quite incapable of appreciating him. His two sons did not show a trace of their father's marvelous genius.

LONDONERS BRAVE RAIN TO SEE LINCOLN STATUE UNVEILED

The Duke of Connaught unveiling St. Gaudens statue of Lincoln in London.

A big crowd of Londoners recently turned out in the rain to witness the unveiling of the St. Gaudens statue of Lincoln, presented by the American people to Great Britain. The Lincoln statue has as fine a site as could be found in all England. It is in the Canning enclosure, just facing Westminster Abbey. The photo was taken in the midst of the unveiling ceremony.

WRANGLER, OPERATING IN SOUTH RUSSIA, HAS FRONT THREE HUNDRED MILES LONG

The forces of Gen. Baron Wrangel, anti-Bolshevik commander in the Crimea and South Russia, occupy a front approximately 300 miles long. His left flank rests on Kherson, a city on the Black sea near the mouth of the Dnieper river, about 100 miles from Odessa. His front follows the lower stretches of the Dnieper to a point within ten miles of Alesandrovsk, and then swings in a circle back to Mariupol on the Sea of Azov.

Immediately in front of the area held by Wrangel is a considerable territory controlled by Machno, a free land, who also is distinctly anti-Bolshevik, and acts as a link between Wrangel and the Kuban Cossacks, whose territory is about 100 miles north and east. The Kuban Cossacks are in contact with the Don Cossacks, also on friendly terms with Wrangel.

The next important objective of General Wrangel is Ekaterinoslav on the Dnieper.
