Zem Zem Planning to Surprise Richmond

The accompanying cut is an accurate picture of the entertainment committee of the local Zem Zem Shrine club at work on the program for Sept. 17, when the Nobility of the Mystic Shrine of North America comes to Richmond to entertain Richmond. They state very plainly that they don't want any provision for their entertainment made, but that they will produce their own.

COLUMBUS SHRINERS TO HELP TAKE CITY

That Sept. 17, Shrine Day in Richmond, is to be some day, is taken as an accepted fact by all members of the Zem Zem club. As the day approaches, from different cities over the country reports of caravans to Richmond come in at an alarming rate.

Word was received yesterday that a large delegation will report for the fun, from Columbus, Ohio. Cincinnati also will send a large crowd, while the accessibility of Dayton augurs well for a continuous auto train to the Oasis of Richmond on the gala day.

The program committee will be able to announce the completed program in a few days. Murat and Mizpah are to alternate on the program with both bands, both patrols and other features. The Great Lakes Naval band will be here in full uniform with 27 musicians.

A feature of the evening will be the music for the dance to follow the show. The Ben R. Crum orchestra, enlarged to a 14-piece organization, will provide music.

The decorations and arrangements committee of the club met at the Masonic club Tuesday evening to pass upon several propositions for the affair. A committee to secure decorations from Cincinnati to garb the city in Shrine colors, red, yellow and green, for the day, was appointed and propositions for entertaining the visitors at Exhibition park, following the big barbecue, were discussed.

Haas, president of the Public Utilities company, of this city, declared the company was losing money on the service at the present rate. Farm Federation

Establishment of a dairying department of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' associations was decided on at a meeting of the directors of the federation at the state headquarters Monday. The dairying department will be similar to that already established to look after the interest of live stock raisers. A committee will be appointed soon to investigate dairying conditions in the state and obtain information of value to dairy men.

The directors also decided to make the annual convention of the federation which will be held here in November extend through two days. Speakers of national reputation will address the convention, in addition to the regular business program.

The Farm and the Farmer

By William R. Sanborn

The manager of the elevator at Fountain City says that both soft coal and anthracite has been received lately, but that he "is no longer able to sell the latter at less than $16 per ton, which is mighty cheap, compared with soft coal at present prices." Mr. Bittner thinks that market hogs are pretty well cleared out now, as few are moving over his scales for weighing by buyers.

There are two cars of wheat in the bins at Fountain City, also a couple of cars of fine, clean oats, suitable for seed. Wheat was worth $2.38, old corn $1.30 and oats 53 cents per bushel on Tuesday. No silos are being filled in that section as yet.

Two Cars Soft Coal In.
Wade Kennedy, of Greensfork, reports two cars of West Virginia coal in on Tuesday, and confirmation of orders for two cars of anthracite in the mail but no bills for the latter, which means that the coal had not been shipped when letter was written. The new freight rates will probably boost anthracite to $16 on track at Greensfork, the last being sold to the farmers at $15.

The West Virginia coal is being hauled away at $13 per ton. They are paying $2.35 for wheat and 53 cents for oats at Greensfork. No silo filling is likely for several days, and the estimate is that ten days to two weeks will be needed to insure the bulk of the corn while some fields will require double that time.

Are Filling Silos.
John M. Elliott, living on the National road just west of the city, filled his silo on Monday. He says he had but a small patch of corn, which seemed safe to put away, and as he was afraid the silo men would not get back to him in time, he took a chance and cut it. Ed Wilson and crew did the work and then moved on to the Frank Taylor place. These are the first two silos to be filled along the National road west to date.

The World's Greatest Farm.
Cattle ranches may have an unnumbered acres but not so with a farm, so when we speak of a "farm" it indicates cultivated acreage. What is said to be the greatest real farm in the world is run by a former American. This farmer, Charles Noble, manages 18,187 acres for the corporation, and of this 9,000 were sown to wheat this spring. The farm is located at Nobleford, Alberta, Canada. They have just finished harvesting and the farm income this year is placed at about one million dollars.

Aid Society Luncheon Pay.
The attendance at farm sales has been in the main, been very large this season, as witness the fact that one Aid society last week cleared $75 at a farm sale; another group, from Pershing, took in $90 at a sale, while the ladies of the Clifton church took in a little more than $100 at the Bradbury and Colvin sale, south of Abington, on Monday.

Buying has also been on a liberal scale, very few complaints of too low prices being made by the sellers. More complaints of prices received for corn in the field has been noted, than for any other item put up at sales.

Ohio Has A Hessian Fly Outbreak in 1920, Too

Ohio has just experienced one of the worst Hessian fly outbreaks in its history, says Prof. T. H. Parks, Ohio State university. Entomologists at the Ohio experiment station, and other agricultural experiment stations in the state have inspected wheat fields in 44 counties and determined the intensity of the fly injury in all parts of the state, together with their increase since 1919.

Prof. Parks declares that the spring brood of the fly killed or damaged 44 per cent of all the wheat straw the surveyor examined. In the southern third of the state 22 per cent of all the straws were infested; in the central third he asserted 42 per cent was damaged, while in the northern part 57 per cent suffered. The fly damage in the northern part was most severe, he explained, because there the most of the wheat became infested last fall, even when sowed one week later than dates usually fly-free, while in the southern counties

NUXATED IRON

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, says

"It is my opinion that in practically every case of iron deficiency, the cause is due to deficiency of iron in the blood. I am convinced that there are thousands of people who, simply by taking Nuxated Iron, could readily build up their red-blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get themselves back to vibrant and vigorous health."
