DEMOCRATIC

When Mr. Elliott was introduced he was given an enthusiastic greeting and he was again heartily applauded when he concluded his address.

Criticizes Administration.

At all of the meetings he addressed in Wayne county Friday, Mr. Elliott criticized the present national Democratic administration for "extravagant and wasteful expenditures of public funds" during the world war and since the signing of the armistice. He declared that the high living costs and high taxes of the past three years were mainly due to the mismanagement of the affairs of the federal government. He made a first-hand report on facts he had secured as a member of congress and he declared that it was absolutely necessary for the American people to drive the Democratic party out of power.

Explains Cost Plus.

The crowds Mr. Elliott addressed were particularly interested in his statements concerning the methods pursued by federal authorities during the war. He explained the so-called "cost-plus" system employed in the letting of bids for government work. He explained that under this system the contractor received a ten percent profit for his work based on the cost of the same. He pointed out that the greater the cost the larger the profit the contractor secured.

"This cost-plus system placed a premium on extravagance, waste, graft and thievery, and hundreds of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money were absolutely thrown away. You people will be paying taxes on this waste as long as the breath of life remains in you, and the your children will have to carry the burden," Mr. Elliott asserted.

Cites Extravagances.

Mr. Elliott cited numerous instances of extravagance on the part of the federal authorities during the war. He also declared that he was opposed to the League of Nations as advocated by President Wilson. He said that if the United States entered the league, its duties would be those of bill collector and policeman. "The league as it now stands is not a guarantee against war. The league is an organization which will provoke wars," Mr. Elliott declared.

At the Hazerstown meeting it was announced that a Jefferson township Harding and Coolidge Club had been organized with 250 members.

The Growing Child

[A series of articles prepared especially for The Palladium and Sun-Telegram, Washington, D. C.]

ADENOIDS.

Nature intends that we should breathe through the nose and has so arranged matters that the air is strained, warmed, and moistened, as it passes through the nose. This is very important.

Unfortunately, 10 per cent or more of all children have adenoids, which interfere with free breathing through the nose. So many serious results follow this condition that parents should learn something about adenoids and their treatment.

What Adenoids Do

One of the first results of the growth of adenoids is mouth breathing. When this condition develops, the air breathed in reaches the throat and lungs in an unpurified condition. Moreover, it is not sufficiently warmed or moistened.

In a short time, therefore, such children begin to suffer from repeated colds, and show the signs of a beginning of nasal catarrh. Unless proper treatment is now undertaken the condition soon gets worse, and the child's nasal breathing becomes more and more obstructed.

Children who suffer from adenoids are usually pale, often narrow-chested, and altogether are not as strong and robust as are normal children.

But this is by no means all of the harm done by adenoids. They affect the voice, disfigure the facial expression, interfere with hearing, give rise to night terrors, open the way for serious infections by disease germs, and through the development of chronic nasal catarrh, may lead to the loss of the sense of smell.

The alteration of the facial expression is often so great that the child looks stupid and sometimes half-idiotic. Quite frequently a child with adenoids is intermittently deaf, a condition responsible for a number of street accidents to children.

One of the chief disfigurements caused by adenoids is that of the jaws and teeth.

It will be noticed that the teeth of the upper jaw stick out and are not covered by the lip as they should be in these cases the roof of the mouth, that is the palate, is narrow and highly arched, and the two jaws do not come together as they do in normal position. This condition is called "prognathism." Usually, too, the teeth of the upper jaw are irregular and crowded.

The malformation of the teeth thus produced by adenoids may lead in turn to other serious conditions, among them the chronic disease known as pyorrhea, various forms of rot infection, and chronic indigestion.

How to Recognize the Condition.

The presence of adenoids should be suspected if the child habitually snores with mouth open, makes a great deal, or has frequent straining, coughing spells. Sleeping with the mouth open is one of the first signs, and therefore should lead at once to a careful examination by a physician. Sometimes difficulty in hearing is one of the symptoms. Therefore, in all cases of ear trouble an examination should be made for adenoids.

What To Do.

Whenever adenoids are large enough to give rise to any of the symptoms already described, they should be removed. This is especially the case in children under 10 years of age, for it is probable that the condition will grow worse. The operation is a simple one and not dangerous. It should be performed under anesthesia. Relief is immediate and the health and strength of the child usually improves rapidly afterwards. It is wrong to delay having the operation done, for the presence of adenoids not only endangers the health, but a few months' delay may cause considerable malformation of the jaws, palate, nose and face.

Earlham

At a banquet and general get-together meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening, Day Dodge men of Earlham completed an organization which they expect to eclipse all other organizations of a similar nature at the college. The banquet was given by the old day students for the new ones.

A speech of welcome by Cornell Hewson was responded to by Claude Miller of the new comers. Short talks were made by other old members of the organization explaining its purpose. After some discussion it was decided not to adopt the conventional form of organization used by most clubs, but to appoint a commission to act as an executive body. Logan Keeler, Nash Higgins, Robert Swain and Cornell Hewson were elected to serve on this commission.

Plans were discussed for the Day Dodge camp supper to be held Friday evening, Oct. 8. Every man present pledged himself to attend. It was also decided to purchase Day Dodge pins. Pins were formerly worn by the day students, but during the last three or four years the practice had been discontinued.

Heart Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—Could you tell me if the bill passed to give the soldiers that were in the world war a bonus and if so, how much.

Thank You.

Every soldier received a bonus when he was discharged from the army. Some states have passed laws giving a bonus to service men but Indiana has passed no such law.

Dr. J. M. Bulla is the Wayne County Health officer. Communicate with him and he can probably give you the assistance or information you desire.

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I have been married six years and have two little boys. My husband is a good worker but he doesn't care for his family. He often wishes he didn't have any children. I don't care so much for him but he ought to run around and have as much money to spend as the single men that he works with have. He is dissatisfied and comes home from work cross and never makes over the children. I don't like him better if he would be kind and act like he loved us. Don't you think a man should like to take his wife and children with him once in a while. He says a wife's place is at home. I think he is selfish and he says he is not. Do you think I should leave him. I could take care of one child and myself.

WORRIED.

Both you and your husband expect too much of each other. If you would make an effort to make your home atmosphere more cheerful you would find that your husband would enjoy it more. He is not happy at home so he seeks pleasure alone. He must care for his family or he would not work so hard for it. He probably realizes that you do not care very much for him and is discouraged. Then to have you tell him he is selfish and should not expect as much spending money!

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, but it Brings a Message of Importance to every Woman.

Woodford, Vt.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before my child was born and it did wonderful work for me. My baby weighed 12 pounds and one-half pounds when born and I did not suffer many pains. You can publish this letter if you wish for I would not be without your medicine before child birth."

—Mrs. JOHN LINN

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and
