Mauling the pins to the accompaniment of wild yelling and exciting conditions the Harvester Bowling League turned in some nifty scores at the Twigg alleys last night.

The Jumbos continued the slinging of a wicked ball and trampled the Kentucky squad for three straight wins, keeping their slate absolutely clean. Every member of the team was in fine fettle and the team turned in an average of 168.

White, of the Jumbos, gained the coveted honor of the evening with a high score of 221 and averaged 189 for the evening. Klinger, of the Empires, tossed the ball for high average of the night, rolling three games at 190, 195 and 192 for an average of 192.

The Empires took two out of three from the Light Drafts, and the East Bulls got two out of three from the Hoosiers.

The Theatres

MURRETTE

A 150 foot dive from the mast of a pitching schooner.

A thrilling battle between a young society girl and a gorilla-like man twenty feet below the surface of the sea.

An uneven battle between a young society man and a mutinous crew on a tramp schooner.

These are just a few of the tense moments in "What Women Love," Annette Kellerman's modern comedy drama at the Murrette theatre on Tuesday, as Sol Lesser's $500,000.00 production with the diving Venus in the starring role.

RICHMOND

All through the night weird noises sang over their heads. The trees snapped in the storm like matches and the beating of the tom-toms sounded like the faint echo of the thunder in the heavens. They never knew what minute that mad horror would turn with the frenzy of hell on their camp. The tense air was vibrant with death and destruction and the stars themselves seemed to reflect the murder that lay in the hearts of these beasts—if one could say they had hearts. The fitful glow of their fires made their faces leer like the grinning skull heads from which life had departed forever. See "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals" at the Richmond Theatre Oct. 13, and witness the greatest, thrilling adventure picture ever screened.

MURRAY VAUDEVILLE

One of the best laughing acts ever seen at The Murray is that of the Jack George Duo, who are headlining the bill at The Murray this first half. Jack George is without a doubt the greatest delineator of a colored parson ever seen locally, as was evidenced last night by the audience which was on the verge of hysteria.

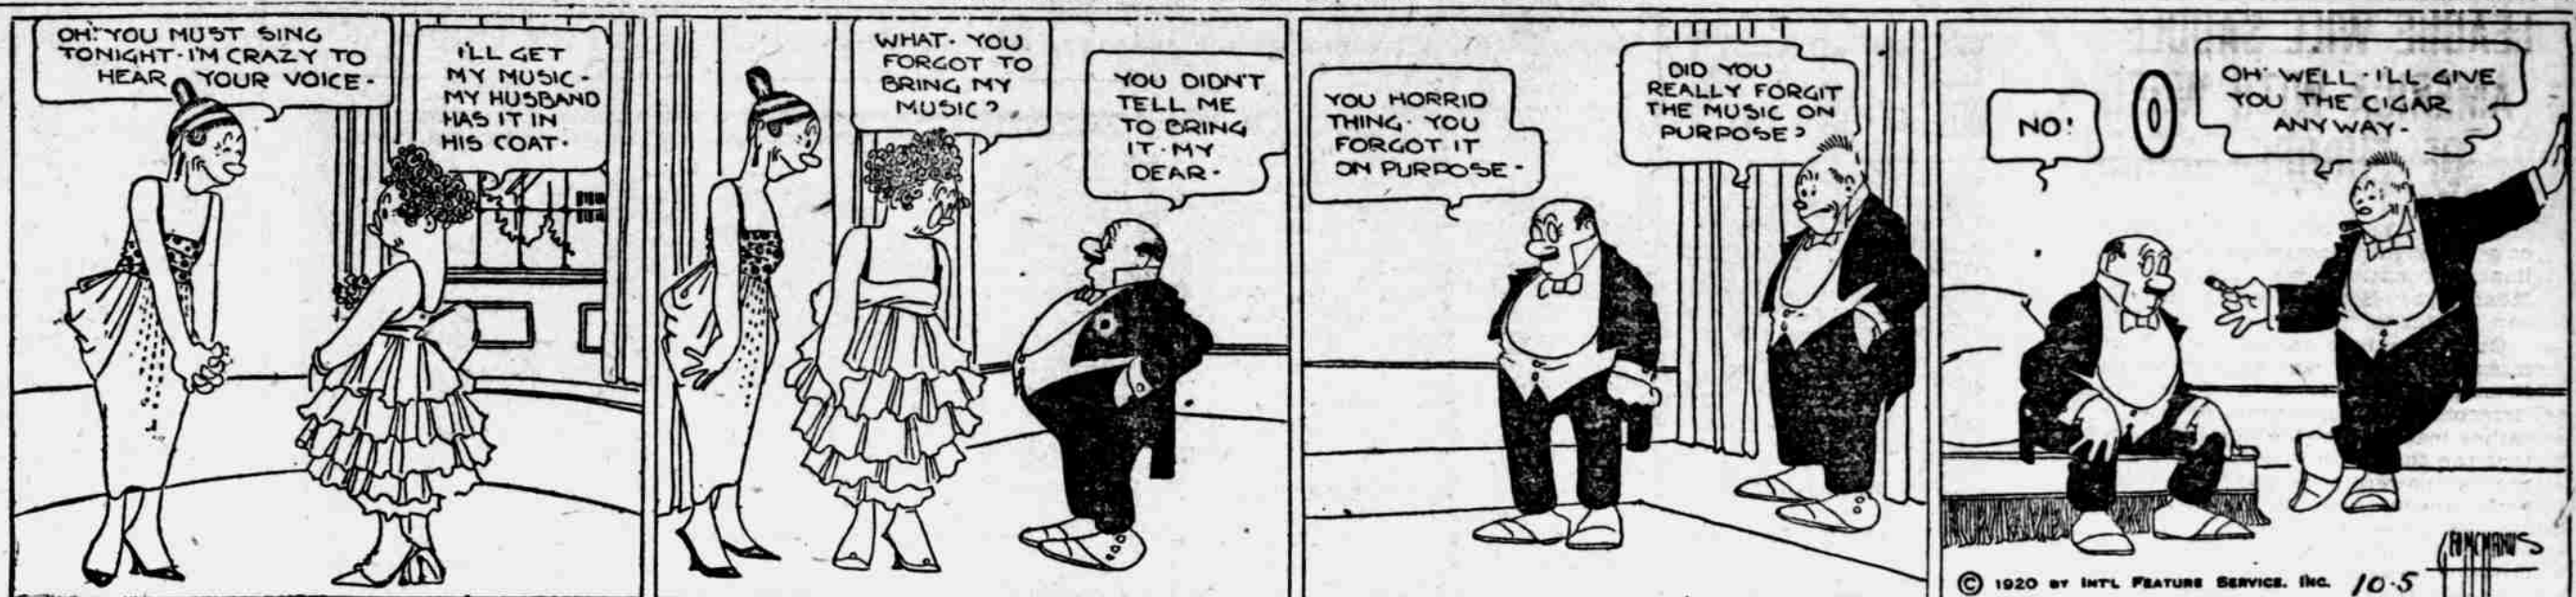

Keno, Keyes and Melrose are another big laughing act offering a series of comedy acrobatics interspersed with songs and dances which keep their auditors highly amused. Joe and Sadie D'Lier are a vivacious pair who sing, dance and entertain generally, their strongest feature being the man's rendition of popular numbers upon the piano accordion.

Harry Carey in "Blue Streak McCoy" is the screen attraction completing one of the best comedy bills of the new season.

EATON SHUTS OUT GRATIS.
EATON, O., Oct. 5.—Eaton scored a shut-out over Gracis at baseball here Sunday afternoon, the score being 1 to 0. The game was a battle royal throughout and easily the most exciting staged at the local lot this season.

GIANTS PLAY ELDORADO
SUNDAY WITH SAME LINEUP.
The Richmond Giants will play the Eldorado team at Eldorado, at 3 p. m. Sunday, with the same lineup as that used by the locals against the Eagles two weeks ago.

4 SHIVERING FANS BRAVE RAINSTORM TO SEE BIG GAME

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Clear, cool weather with slight breeze greeted anxious baseball fans today for the first game of the world's series between Brooklyn and Cleveland. The diamond at Ebbets field, Brooklyn was reported to be in fair condition after last night's brief rainstorm.

Manager Tris Speaker and the Cleveland team, due to arrive here early today, planned to go to their quarters at Ebbets field as soon as possible in order to get acquainted with the layout of the diamond.

The Indians felt that they would be at some disadvantage because of their unfamiliarity with the playing field, but hoped to overcome this to some extent between their arrival and game time.

The American League champions will have to opportunity for actual practice on the field until they begin their warming-up practice for the game, as the diamond has been put in first class shape and it was planned to keep it so until play actually starts.

Fans Disappointed.
There were a great many disappointed fans in Brooklyn today, due to the fact that they were unable to get tickets that would enable them to see one or more of the games. The unreserved seats in the field stands and bleachers were put on sale yesterday and when the box office opened there was a large crowd on hand that kept the sellers busy all day. There were a few tickets left when the club officials decided that those in charge of the sale had done a day's work.

It was announced that these would be placed on sale at 8 o'clock this morning together with the few reserved seats that had not been called for by the applicants. It was apparent from the number waiting when the box office closed last night that the unsold tickets would be insufficient to supply the demand.

Only Four Remain.
Some of the fans expressed their determination to wait all night in order to be at the head of the line today, but the cold, drizzling rain, shortly before midnight had a chilling effect and by two o'clock this morning only four "bitter-enders" were left in line for bleacher seats.

Headed by Frank Brogan, a youth who came from Philadelphia to witness the games, the faithful quartette curled up in their overcoats on the cold, damp, cement sidewalk and hoped for the morning sun to warm them to the occasion. Brogan, who said he lived near the Phillies' ball park, had all the players names at his tongue's end, and announced he was rooting for Cleveland. The other three rooters were less talkative and seemed interested only in getting some sleep.

While Cleveland ruled a slight favorite in what little betting was announced, the fact did not shake the confidence of manager Robinson and the Brooklyn players. They were prepared to go through the series fighting from start to finish and felt that the apparatus batting advantage possessed by Cleveland according to unofficial records of the season's work, would be offset by the superior pitching of the Brooklyn twirlers. Manager Robinson and his players, as well as their supporters, argued that the Indians were not called upon during the American league season to face such a staff of uniformly good pitchers as that of the Brooklyn club.

Hunters May Shoot Ducks
From Sept. 16 to Dec. 31

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—When a duck hunter may shoot ducks in conformity with both state and federal laws is puzzling Indiana hunters. The state department of conservation is receiving many inquiries from hunters who are anxious to shoot within the law.

There is a conflict between the federal and state laws. Federal laws describe the shooting period during the open season, which is from Sept. 16 to Dec. 31, inclusive, as from one-half hour before sunrise, State laws read from sunrise to sunset. In this case the state law prevails.

Hunters are also puzzled about cloudy days. Department officials after discussion of the subject with federal authorities, determined that a hunter to be safe from molestation from state wardens should consult the weather bureau reading as to the exact time of sunrise and sunset on the particular days he intends to hunt.

This information is easily obtained, they explained, as the majority of newspapers carry a chart on the subject. Possessed of the exact time of sunrise and sunset the day he hunts the hunter should also have an accurate timepiece. Then on days when the sun is not discernable and he is accosted by a warden his knowledge of the sunrise backed with proof thereof and the argument of correct time should be sufficient evidence materially to establish his rights if he meets a warden suspicious that the laws are not being obeyed.

ANCONA, Italy, Oct. 4.—Sixty persons arrested during anarchist riots here last June have started a hunger strike as a protest against delay in being brought to trial. Workmen here, including printers, have proclaimed a general strike in support of the prisoners' claims.

QUAKER VETS TRY TO LOSE SORENESS

Coach Mowle let his squad off with a light workout Monday evening after their game of Saturday. No scrimmage was held by the first squad and they spent their time running through signals together with calisthenics to get a little of the soreness out of them which Hanover inflicted Saturday.

Gordon, right tackle, will be out of the game for two or three weeks because of a wrenched knee received on the third down Saturday. This is considerable loss to the Quaker line, as the big tackle was considered one of the best offensive players on the team.

After Wilmington.

The Maroon and White is now pointing its nose toward the game at Wilmington next Saturday afternoon. This is not considered a difficult game this year for the local squad. Last year Wilmington suffered a 27 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Richmond team. This year the Buckeye squad has a green team and should prove more easy than last season for the heavy squad of Coach Mowle.

Serlimage likely will be held this evening for a short time. The Quaker workouts are all behind closed gates except to students and loyal fans who can pass the examination of the guards around the gates.

LAST YEAR'S SERIES SET NEW HIGH MARK

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The world's series last year between Cincinnati, of the National League, and Chicago, of the American League, was the first five out of nine series under which the National Commission's jurisdiction. Only eight games, however, were necessary to decide the championship, this being the second time that eight games were played. The other occasion was in 1912, when the Boston and Americans were obliged to play an extra game because one in the regular series resulted in a tie.

While the Boston-New York series of 1912 still holds the record for total attendance at 251,901, the series between Cincinnati and Chicago last year established a new high mark for receipts when the 236,925 persons who saw the games paid a total of $722,928.

The attendance of the series last year was 236,928; receipts, $722,111.

HIGH SCHOOL BACKS EXPECTED TO SHINE

Much time at the high school football practice Monday evening was spent in working out several new plays which the local youngsters will try out against the fast Shortridge high school team on Reid field, next Sunday afternoon.

Coach Null presented the plays the first part of the evening and the first string squad had them well in hand when they went up against the second squad in a scrimmage during the latter part of the day.

The work last night was one of the hardest the Red and White have gone through this season and several of the first string men showed the effects of the grueling after the close.

This probably will be the hardest workout given the team this week as they will begin tapering off for the first contest of the season.

Shortridge and the locals should be very evenly matched. In the game played last Saturday by the Indianapolis team they showed that they had a fast backfield but a mediocre line.

This seems to be the case with the local school. The Richmond backfield is a ripping bunch of boys and they will do their part, as will the line. The experience that the local high school has had in having played one year of football should count for a little, but along with this comes the fact that many of the Indianapolis players have played on small teams around that city.

"Deac" Reagan, former Earlham coach, has been secured to referee the game. He worked at some of the high school games last year and is one of the best officials in the state. He probably will be assisted by Cyril Pitts as head linesman.

AUTO DEALERS ENJOY HAGERSTOWN BANQUET

Cambridge City, Hagerstown and Richmond auto dealers enjoyed a dinner served by the Ladies' Aid society of Hagerstown Monday evening.

It was a snappy "get together" affair with just the right amount of business to keep everyone interested.

The organization was invited to meet in Hagerstown by the Leslie Lemon company, and members from all parts of the country assembled in the salesrooms of the company at 7:30 p. m., going from there to the Odd Fellows hall, where the banquet was served.

Trade Matters Discussed.
Fred Bethard, president of the association, presided at the business session held at the close of the meal.

Matters relating to the wholesale trade in automobile accessories were discussed, after which a discussion of the value of trucks and good roads to the farmer, was conducted.

Claude Kitterman, a Cambridge City banker, and W. O. Jones, county highway superintendent, gave short addresses.

The next meeting of the Wayne County Automobile association will
