

GREAT BRITAIN ASKS RUSSIA FOR RELEASE OF IMPRISONED MEN

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 8.—Great Britain has threatened to take "certain action" against Soviet Russia if steps are not taken by Oct. 10 for the release of British prisoners held by the Bolsheviks, says the Herald, organ of Labor, which this morning prints what purports to be the text of notes exchanged by the British and Soviet governments.

Leonid Krassien head of the Russian Bolshevik trade mission here has replied on behalf of the Bolshevik regime that it will promise to fulfill the conditions required by Great Britain when the latter carries out her part of the bargain made last July for the mutual release of all prisoners, and cessation of all hostile action.

Charges Violations.
The note sent to Moscow by Earl Curzon of Kedleston, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, was dated Oct. 1, according to the Herald. It charged the Russians with "flagrantly violating" the conditions which the Soviet accepted in July regarding prisoners and propaganda.

M. Krassien replied on Oct. 6, with a charge that Great Britain had not only failed to fulfill her part of the conditions but had helped enemies of the Soviet government.

The number of prisoners in British hands in Egypt, Persia, Constantinople and Batum, it is declared by M. Krassien, has not been reduced to the Soviet government which desires their return to Russia.

Regarding Russian prisoners under British control foreign minister Curzon said in his note: "A very limited number of Russian subjects are in hands, and Great Britain desires to get rid of them. They are being retained solely as a means of inducing the Bolsheviks to fulfill their undertaking."

Go to Church Habit, Object Of Second Presbyterian

A campaign to create the habit of church going has been started by the Second Presbyterian church, according to an announcement made by the Rev. Harry J. Sarkis, pastor.

"It is the plan of the church," said the Rev. Sarkis, "to make our church an 'every member' church; to have every member attending church and Sunday-school services; and to have each member at work at some of the church activities and contribute regularly to the financial support of the institution."

The church has been carefully organized into committees in an effort to insure the success of the campaign.

Following are the subjects of sermons to be delivered by the Rev. Sarkis, beginning with Sunday, Oct. 10:—Morning service, theme, "Using Our Talents"—1 Cor. 12: 4-11; evening service, theme, "The Listening Ear"—1 Sam. 15: 22.

Oct. 17.—Morning service, theme, "The Shepherd On the Watch"—Matt. 18: 1-12; evening service, theme, "Responsibility of the Parents"—Eph. 6: 4.

Oct. 24.—Morning service, theme, "The Great Assize"—Rom. 14: 10; evening service, theme, "Freely Ye Have Received, Freely Give"—Matt. 10: 8.

Oct. 31.—Morning service, theme, "Spiritual Blindness"—1 Cor. 4: 2-4; evening service, theme, "What Shall I Do to Be Saved"—Acts 16: 30.

Nov. 7.—Morning service, theme, "Heaven"—John 14: 2; evening service, theme, "Pangs of Hell"—Peter 2: 4.

Nov. 14.—This is the Children's Day, when the whole Sunday school will come to church. This day we will have visitors from R. "Y" of Columbus. They will speak to the children. Evening service will also be in charge of visitors. There will be five or six, and surely they will have a message for us.

Nov. 21.—Morning service. We shall call the Honor Roll that morning, after which the pastor will preach on "The Victory of Faith"—1 John 5: 4, 5.

The parties notified the court that they had agreed to ask for a temporary decree fixing the boundary.

The Growing Child

[A series of articles prepared especially for The Fallout and Sun-Telegram, by the United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.]

WHOOPIING COUGH.

Many mothers regard whooping cough as one of the necessary evils of childhood, and look upon it not with concern, but only with annoyance. It is a very disagreeable and uncomfortable thing for their little ones to have, and they are thankful when the children have had it, and are "over with it." Because they regard it so lightly, they are heedless of the danger of exposing other children to the disease. Many children with whooping cough are carried on street cars, railroad trains, to moving picture shows and like places.

While it is true that with older children whooping cough may be regarded as one of the milder infections, it is one of the most fatal in infancy. Babies under two years of age are particularly susceptible to the disease and of those having whooping cough under one year it is probable (though it is difficult to state the exact mortality), that almost one-fourth of them die. This is due to the fact that so many of the cases have serious complications. A little baby with whooping cough can easily go into convulsions. In winter there is only a step between whooping cough and bronchopneumonia, while in summer diphtheria is equally close and threatening.

Hence, it behooves every mother to most carefully protect her young baby from whooping cough. The only way in which she can do this is by a scrupulous avoidance of every one who has anything like a "cold." For it is unfortunately true that in the early stage of the disease it is impossible to distinguish whooping cough from an ordinary cold.

Remove the Child.

When your child is playing on the street, or the little one at school, comes in and begins coughing, immediately remove the baby to another room. In the presence of an epidemic or when you know the child has been exposed to the disease within 14 days, its period of incubation, you would naturally suspect whooping cough at once; but when this is not the case only eternal vigilance will protect your baby. If you wait until you hear the affected child "whoop" (on an average of about 10 days after the beginning of the cough) it probably will be too late, since it is in this early catarrhal stage that the disease is most contagious.

It is neither practicable nor desirable to confine a child with whooping cough to a single room. Hence, it would be well to send away, if possible, all those to whom the disease would be dangerous before they are exposed.

Whooping cough is communicated by contact with the patient or with articles freshly soiled with the discharges from his nose and throat. Cats and dogs are susceptible to the disease, and may become infected and transmit the infection to the child who plays with them.

Quarantine should be maintained until the spasmodic stage is over, usually about six weeks.

During an attack of whooping cough, the child's strength, which is sometimes sorely tried, should be maintained by nourishing food, plenty of sleep and rest, and other hygienic measures. An abundance of fresh air is particularly desirable.

Questions relating to Child Health and to related problems will be answered by experts of the United States Public Health Service. Address: Child Health Editor, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C. (Please mention this newspaper.)

MURRAY MANAGERS SIGN KEITH CONTRACT

Signing of a contract with the B. F. Keith Booking Exchange of Chicago, Thursday evening will bring to the Murray Theatre eight Keith acts each week. Manager Frank Holland announced Friday.

The change in policy is due to the increasing patronage of the theatre and the desire of the management to provide Richmond theatre-goers with the very best quality of vaudeville, Manager Holland stated.

Heretofore the Murray, with its old booking system, has been able to get only one Keith act each week.

The change of program will begin Nov. 1, and all the acts that appear in Richmond after that date will be booked by the Chicago office of the B. F. Keith company.

Owing to the increase in the number of acts and the extra cost of bringing exclusive Keith acts, the management has announced a small advance in price.

After Nov. 1, the entire local floor will be sold at 50 cents a seat, the first balcony 35 cents, the second balcony 25 cents. The usual 25 cent price will be continued at matinees.

Three shows will be given daily and the running time of the shows will remain the same. The standard of feature films will not be lowered, Manager Holland added.

Sleeps Any Old Way Now

"I am 50 years old and never was sick until 8 years ago when I got stomach trouble. I have spent a fortune for medicine which did not cure. I kept on suffering and getting worse. A fellow worker told me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. After taking three doses I felt like a different man; before taking it I could not lie on my back nor right side. Now I can sleep any old way." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Reparation Proposals Are Same As at Spa

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Oct. 8.—Recent proposals relative to reparations made to France by Germany are about the same as those presented at the Spa conference, according to a statement made by Georges Leygues, premier, to the Petit Parisien.

The newspaper remarks: Germany is trying to bring us back to the project of Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate, which consisted of an effort to colonize northern France with a real army of German workers under a pretext of reconstructing the devastated regions. The plan contemplated the ruin of French industry by a great invasion of the produce of German factories.

"The motor truck is the connecting link between the producer and the consumer. As such it should stand high in the industrial life of the nation."

Representatives of local manufacturing concerns were present at the meeting last evening which was held in the I. O. O. F. hall. Short talks were made by a number of local stock holders, and suggestions for the improvement.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Weyeths Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.
