

REACTIONARY COURT IS IDEA OF HARDING SAYS GOVERNOR COX

(By Associated Press)

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 8.—Effect of the presidential contest upon prospective United States supreme court vacancies was declared by Governor Cox, of Ohio, in an address here today, to be "the real danger of a reactionary victory, next to the scrapping of the league of nations." The Democratic presidential candidate stated that at least four vacancies on the high court were in prospect and referring to the senate's control over confirmations, and to Senator Harding as the "reactionary candidate, he added:

"Besides, it would naturally follow that a reactionary president would appoint four reactionary members of the supreme court." The governor declared this was one of the reasons why "the senatorial oligarchy" should be defeated.

Scores Oligarchy.

"There are several reasons why the senate oligarchy should not be permitted to win this election," he said. "Throughout the years, the senate has trespassed on the authority of the house of representatives. The constitution provides that all legislation providing for the raising of revenues shall be initiated in the house. Yet there probably has not been a tariff measure in the last 50 years which was not changed in its every line after the enacting clause once it reached the senate. By the nomination of one of its own members as the reactionary candidacy for the presidency, it now has the opportunity of annexing the executive department.

"If the senatorial ring should win the election it would in addition to controlling the president, also possess the constitutional right of confirmation to the supreme court of members appointed by the president. Four members of the court being now eligible for retirement, there will beyond doubt be at least four vacancies in this court within the next four years."

Playing Big Stakes.

"It will be seen at a glance that the senatorial crowd is playing for big stakes, which are no more nor less than absolute control of the three constitutional branches of our government. No president of the United States will appoint anyone that he deems unworthy of a place on the highest court in the land, but we must be reminded that the senatorial nominee for the presidency has confirmed his faith many times in the theory of plural government, which means that he will not only confer with the group around him, but that this same group has the constitutional right to apply its check if the President should show any signs of independence. Besides, it would naturally follow that a reactionary President would appoint four reactionary members of the supreme court. This would bind the country to reaction for the better part of a generation. It is a simple matter for the people to make a change in the executive and legislative branches of the government, but not in the judicial. As I see it, this is the real danger of the reactionary victory, next to the scrapping of the league of nations."

Governor Cox spoke here upon arriving from Nashville, Tenn., where he addressed a large tabernacle crowd last night. His Kentucky campaign was to end after a dozen rear platform speeches from his special train tonight at Louisville.

LLOYD GEORGE FLAYS
AMERICAN POLITICS

(By Associated Press)

LLAUD L' LLANUDNO, Wales, Oct. 8.—Premier Lloyd George, in a political address here this afternoon, declared that "the conflict of parties in America led to the result that they have not yet signed a treaty of peace with Germany."

He asserted that if there had been a conflict like that in Great Britain the latter would have had no peace and there would have been no treaty.

"There are some who criticize the treaty of Versailles, the premier declared. "Better than that than a state of war should be going on for years and nothing done."

Mr. Lloyd George added that there were some people who imagined that to ignore disagreeable facts was proof of exalted principles.

WEST AND SOUTH GAIN IN POLITICAL WAY
FROM POPULATION RETURNS OF CENSUS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Examination of the final census figures of the country which place the total population of the continental United States at 105,633,108 indicates that the west and the south proportionately will gain more in a political way than the east or middle west through increased membership in the house of representatives, more votes in the electoral college and in larger delegations to the national political conventions.

This result will obtain whatever basis of apportionment is adopted by congress next winter, fixing the size of the next house which in turn is reflected in the electoral college and the conventions of the big political parties.

50 New Seats.—As a result of the increase of 13,710,842 in population during the past ten years, fifty new seats must be added to the house to prevent any state from losing any part of its present representation. Should the present membership of 435 be left unchanged by increasing the basis of apportionment there will have to be a transfer of thirteen seats, now held by twelve states, to nine other states.

For the past half a century the precedent has been to increase the size of the house so as to prevent loss of existing representation by any state. As a result, the house has grown from 243 to 435 members, with only three states, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, losing one member each in the last fifty years.

If the precedent is followed this year five additional representatives seats must be given to California, four each for New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan; 3 to Illinois and Texas, 2 to Massachusetts, New Jersey and North Carolina, and 1 each to Alabama, Arizona, Connecticut, Georgia, Maryland, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Virginia, Arkansas and Minnesota.

Can Make Change

While the present basis of apportionment is 211,877 inhabitants or its major fraction to the congressional district, congress can increase the

SOVIET WANTS RICH
COAL AND OIL LANDS,
SO CONCLUDES PEACE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Russian soviet executive council has determined upon an early peace with Poland in order to concentrate its army against General Wrangel in South Russia in an effort to retain control of the rich coal and oil lands in that section, according to an official dispatch received today by the American government. The dispatch described a meeting of the executive committee held Sept. 14.

"Tchitcherin (soviet foreign minister) told his associates," the cablegram said, "that if they wished to retain power they could not afford to be conducting several wars at the same time. At present they must be willing to concede important points to the Poles in order to concentrate on Wrangel. Tchitcherin told his colleagues,"

Leaders Support Policy

The policy was said to be supported by two-thirds of the Red leaders. All of them agreed with Minister of War Trotzky, the cablegram said, that by such a move it would be possible through their plan for spreading propaganda in the Orient.

The cablegram added that Trotzky and Lenin had further divided their authority. Trotzky now "poses as the representative of the militarists group while Lenin 'caters' to the industrial element."

Internal conditions forced the suspension of free telephone service Oct. 1, according to the dispatch.
