

PLAN CENTENNIAL FRIENDS CELEBRATION FOR YEARLY MEETING

Preliminary plans for a centennial celebration of Indiana yearly meeting at its next session in August, 1921, were made by a general committee in charge at the Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon.

It was decided that throughout the week devoted to the yearly meeting, a historical display, showing the progress of the Friends in the local yearly meeting, from the time they first settled here until the present time, on exhibition.

Present Quaker History
On the Monday following the close of Indiana yearly meeting, an indoor session will be held, in which a program of historical and reminiscence scenes will be given. In the afternoon and out-of-doors meeting will be conducted, and interesting episodes of the history of Quakerism in Indiana yearly meeting will be presented.

A committee composed of Prof. Harlow Lindley, chairman; Timothy Nicholson, Benjamin Johnson and Mrs. M. M. White of Cincinnati, Ohio, were appointed to begin work at once in collecting material regarding Indiana yearly meeting from its inception, in 1821, until the meeting held in 1921. It is hardly expected that the book to be edited will be completed by 1921, but as much as can be collected will be presented at that time.

Prof. Harlow Lindley, chairman of this special committee, will prepare an outline and questionnaire which is to be sent to every local and quarterly meeting in the yearly meeting. When these questions are answered, it is hoped that a complete history of each individual meeting will be on hand.

Members of Indiana yearly meeting centennial committee who attended the meeting Friday, from out of town, include Ancil Ratliff, Fairmount, Ind.; Elizabeth Williams, Spiceland, Ind., and Owen Henley, Carthage, Ind.

Short News of City

To Join Husband—Mrs. Clell Shields with her two children, left Friday to join her husband, who is now stationed at Fort Proctor, R. I.

Parents Meet Teachers—Sixty parents and teachers were present at the meeting of the Joseph Moore school "Parent-Teachers" association, Friday afternoon. A very interesting program was given. On Oct. 23 the association will hold an informal political meeting at the school. Sample ballots will be distributed and a speaker will be present.

Visit Seriously Ill—John N. Weist, 207 South B street, a local paper dealer, who underwent an operation at the Sater hospital, Cincinnati, Friday, is reported to be in a serious condition.

Revival Services Announced—Services for the first day of the revival at the Third M. E. church Sunday, will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. A probation class will be taken into full membership at the morning service. Daily services will be held during the coming three weeks of the revival.

Schoolmasters Enjoy Banquet—At the schoolmasters' banquet Friday evening at the high school, a lively discussion on the League of Nations was opened by W. G. Bate, affirmative, and J. W. Thompson, negative. Almost everyone had something to say on the subject and the majority were decidedly in favor of it. The social committee appointed to take charge of the next gathering is composed of Mr. Stoeber, E. E. Rice, and Harold Targart.

Revival Opens Sunday—Revival services in charge of the Reverend John Hatfield, of Greenfield, Ind., will open for a term of three weeks at the Third M. E. church, Sunday. Services until Thursday of next week will be conducted by various pastors, but the Reverend Hatfield will be present for the remainder of the revival, beginning Thursday.

Enlist in Navy—Herbert Stinson, Jacobs, of Cambridge City, and Frank Lester Dalbey, of East Germantown, Ind., enlisted in the navy at the local recruiting station.

Home on Furlough—Willard Roller, 419 North 15th street, and Clifford Turner, 282 West M street, are home on five days furlough from Great Lakes Naval Training Station. They enlisted at the local navy recruiting office several weeks ago.

SOCIAL LEGISLATION IS THEME OF COX

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 15.—A national women's congress to frame a program of social legislation for president and congress was advocated here today by Governor Cox. Democratic presidential candidate, in addressing an audience of women.

The candidate's address preceded his political speech here, and followed a morning of campaigning in which he spoke at a meeting at which he was urged to support the League of Nations, and to remain here over Sunday and tour northern New York on Monday.

Urges Women to Work
Urging larger participation of women in national affairs and citing social legislation enacted during his gubernatorial administration, the governor told his women auditors at a non-partisan meeting at a local hotel, that there was "much to be done for human welfare and social progress." He also championed the league of nations, as a measure to protect women and children from the horrors of war.

"From my experience in Ohio," said the governor, "you may know what to expect when I am elected president. There is much to be done for human welfare and social progress. We must stamp out disease, oppression, and ignorance and ultimate neglect. With women only at the threshold of political work in America, I cannot call you into congressional action, but we can work in common purpose with common counsel and it would seem to me perfectly proper and fitting that a national meeting be called of representatives of every woman's organization in America to formulate a program for congress and the executive for social legislation and administration."

FIRST WOMAN TO VOTE IN 1920 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Dowling of 35 Corwin street, Dayton, Ohio, is the first woman to cast her vote in the 1920 presidential election. Mr. and Mrs. Dowling are shown taking their ballots from Eh Lutz, clerk of the board of elections in Dayton, which they secured under the "absentee voters" law, which permits persons to vote not more than thirty days in advance of election, if they can show proof that they will be out of their voting precinct on election day.

ART GALLERY OPEN SUNDAY AFTERNOON; INTERESTING EXHIBITS

The public art gallery will be open Sunday afternoon from 2:00 until 5:00. Francis Brown will talk informally on the pictures at 3:00 p. m. The unusual exhibit at the gallery this month has drawn many people. Not only is it attended by the public but is an educational factor for the school children, who are brought there and the pictures explained to them. Later when school is out many of them return alone and in groups to see the pictures again.

Mrs. M. F. Johnston has been giving much of her time to explaining and talking about the pictures to the children. This week she has given two lectures to Garfield students in Miss Mawhood's art classes on the portrait exhibit. For the benefit of high school students studying Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" Mrs. Johnston gave an illustrated lecture on "English Cathedral" and she delivered another very interesting lecture with slides to Miss Bond's classes on "Early Forms of Spinning and Weaving."

The art department of the Woman's club also met in the gallery this week. Next week the Dayton Museum of Art opens its first exhibit of the year. Mrs. Johnston has been asked to speak on the pictures at the opening of the exhibit Wednesday evening.

FARMERS WILL SEEK CANDIDATE'S VIEWS

The Indiana Federation of Farmers' associations will question the congressional candidate on both the Democratic and Republican tickets as to their stand on certain agricultural measures pending before the congress, according to Lewis Taylor, secretary of the federation.

Mr. Taylor was busy Friday preparing letters to be sent to the Democratic candidates asking them to stand on the Capper-Volstead bill, the French truth-in-fabric bill and the Nolan bill. He will send similar letters to the Republican candidates.

Purpose of Bills.
The Capper-Volstead bill, mentioned in these letters, is a measure proposing to legalize the co-operative marketing of farm products. The French truth-in-fabric bill would require all woolen cloth to be stamped or marked as to the percentage of wool and the percentage of shoddy used in each piece of woolen cloth. Mr. Taylor's letter says that certain "all-wool" fabrics are composed of from 30 to 70 per cent of shoddy, which is a cheap material.

The letter explains that the use of shoddy has not brought a corresponding reduction in prices, and that there is enough wool in the country to make the use of shoddy in this manner unnecessary.

This third question concerns the Nolan tax bill which proposes a tax of 1 per cent on all land values in excess of $10,000.

Already on Record.
With the exception of Senator Harry S. New and O. H. Luning, of Evansville, said Mr. Taylor, all the Republican members of the Indiana delegation in congress have gone on record as opposed to the Nolan bill in a manner satisfactory to the farmers.

Senator New and Congressman Luning, he said, had not taken a stand in favor of the bill, yet their statements had not been entirely satisfactory. Mr. Taylor corresponded with the Indiana congressmen regarding the Nolan bill when it was before the congress last spring.

Select Seed Corn in Field For Next Crop

Too many people consider seed corn good simply because it will grow. To be first-class, seed corn must be (1) well adapted to the climatic and soil conditions where it is to be planted; (2) of a high yielding variety and from the high yielding stalks of the variety; (3) well matured and preserved from ripening time until planting time, in a manner that will retain its full productivity; (4) free from disease and insect injuries. Such freedom may indicate resistance to infection, according to R. S. Thomas of the soils and crops extension staff of Purdue university.

Select Healthy Stalks.
The above mentioned fundamental facts can only be carried through by careful selection of the seed corn in the fall along with drying out and storage of the seed ears. The corn should be selected in the field from healthy, upright stalks, showing good maturity. The stalk should have a good strong root system with very strong brace roots. The ear should be medium in height on the stalk, well proportioned and representative of the variety. The shank of the ear should not be broken, neither should the ear be held too close to the stalk, but should slightly droop that it might have natural protection from severe weather conditions. The corn should be well matured before selection.

Selection Worthwhile.
A great many farmers claim that during the fall of the year they do not have the time and labor to select seed corn. However, it has proven to be economical to give one's entire attention and select several times the amount of seed which he expects to plant, and have a second selection from this seed in the spring before planting.

After the ears are selected from the field, they should immediately be placed on some practical drying rack or where each ear can have a free circulation of air at a moderate temperature. After the corn is free from an excessive amount of moisture, the low temperatures do not affect the germination so much, but an effort should be made throughout the winter to keep the seed corn at a comparatively moderate temperature.

MAIL AIRPLANES MAY ADOPT MOVIE STUNTS IN NON-STOP FLIGHTS

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The reckless aerial acrobatics with which Omer Locklear started the world until they resulted in his death recently in California have not been vain, according to air mail service officials here, for they report Locklear's "stunts" have opened the way for important developments in commercial aviation.

Locklear's stunt of changing from one plane to another several thousand feet above the earth will be copied in the air mail service and by commercial aviation companies in changing sacks of mail, packages or pilots from one ship to another, thus enabling aerial liners to make long journeys without landing, officials say. Some believe that within a short time airplanes may even take gasoline and supplies in the air.

When one of the mammoth airships which aviators believe soon will be common flies over the control station, a smaller plane will come up to meet it, the officials explain, and by means of a rope, mail sacks or other packages will be lowered from the large to the small plane. By means of a long hook the large ship will take on baggage from the smaller ship and speed on to its destination.

Eventually it is expected that this plan will be perfected so that fuel supply can be transferred from one plane to another, making a non-stop coast-to-coast trip possible.

Pilots will change planes in mid-air by means of a rope in a manner similar to the one used by the smaller Locklear did, it is explained.

The government has been conducting tests along this line for some time, officials say, and one commercial aviation company is reported to be planning to put the scheme into effect within a few months in transferring mail.

"BLACK HOUSES" ARE FOUND IN THE HEBRIDES ISLANDS

(Detroit News)
On the Hebrides Islands are thousands of so-called "black houses" having neither chimney nor window, a single door serving for ingress and egress, to admit light and air and to get rid of smoke.

A peat fire is kept burning day and night, and is, in spite of the smoke, the savior of the household. The straw roof does not keep out the wind, and almost necessitates "box beds," according to Dr. W. Leslie Mackenzie, who investigated them and who says the "black houses" are the outgrowth of needs closely related to the weakness of the primitive communities in which they are found.

The stones are from the moor; timber is from the sea; lime mortar is expensive; the roof must be mounded every year, and therefore the walls must be low, since gales also are high. At every point the house is adapted to its fundamental purpose, and while the visitor may dismiss it as unworthy of savages, it turns out to be a product of long labor and sacrifice, a fundamental part of the only system of agriculture formerly found possible in this island of gneiss rock, clay and peat moss. It is a part of the price that a people of immense ability and high character must pay for their civilization.

Building construction in the United States is about double in May what it is in January. The world isn't all joy and sunshine but if you act like it is you may fool others into thinking so.

HE FEELS TEN YEARS YOUNGER
Any man or woman suffering from lame back, headache, stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatic pains or any other symptom of kidney or bladder trouble will be interested in this letter from H. Byrde, 925 Garden St., Hoboken, N. J. for could not bend his back for years, as I can now. My wife had many a time to put on or off my shoes, and I obtained relief from Foley's Kidney Pills. PART TIME SCHOOL GRANTED CHILDREN OF WAYNE COUNTY

Wayne township is to have a part time school as the result of a petition made by Township Trustee, J. O. Edgerton, and granted by the local school.

Heretofore working permits for children living outside the boundaries of the city have been issued by the trustee, the result being that such children were not required to attend part time school, as there had been established for them, while students living in the city received their permits from the vocational bureau, which is equipped with a part time school, which permit holders are required to attend.

Under the new arrangement boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 16 years living outside of Richmond, who come here to work, must attend part time school as well as those who live in the city.

Under this new order boys and girls holding permits issued from the township trustee's office automatically become members of part time school and will be required to attend under the state child labor laws. The township part time school is organized under the same authority as the local school.

Emory Filbey, of the federal junior employment service, was here from Washington, D. C. Friday. He commented on the excellent legislation in Indiana caring for child labor. According to Vocational Director N. F. Fultz, of the local bureau, Indiana has labor laws which are practically perfect in theory but which have not as yet taken full effect.

Earlham

At a meeting of the senior class, called by the president, Herbert Edgerton, the election of officers of the class was completed. They are as follows: Vice-president, Everett Pennington; secretary, Ruth Blossom; treasurer, Fred Chambers; chairman of social committee, Louise Willis; member of student affairs board, Leslie Nicholson.

As there were two vacancies on the staff of the Senior Annual, caused by the absence of Helen Rust, assistant circulation manager, and the resignation of John Green, art editor, the class gave the staff authority to fill the vacancies. The members of the senior annual staff as it stands now are:

Editor-in-Chief—Theron E. Coffin.

Business Manager—John Y. Kennedy.

Advertising Manager—Raymond Jenkins.

Assistant Advertising Manager—Julius Tietz.

Circulation Manager—Paul W. Gordon.

Assistant Circulation Manager—Harriet Rawls.

Associate Editors—Joyce Stanley, Louise Willis, William E. Jones, Warren Fauquier.

Art Editor—Josephine Threewits.

Assistant Art Editor—Electa Foster.

Calendar Editors—Cecilia Chandler, Morris Tomlinson.

Athletic Editors—Isadore Rush, Herbert Carey.

Public Speaking—Donald Snyder.

A class commission, composed of Elsie Chappell, Cecilia Chandler, Donald Snyder and the class president, was elected to have the general supervision over the arrangement of senior activities during the first semester. This committee conferred with a representative from an engraving firm yesterday and selected the style and type of engraving of the 1921 commencement invitations.

Members of the Earlham Service Club met last Tuesday in a short meeting to start the plans for the celebrating of Armistice Day, November 11, and concerning a service men's camp supper not far in the future. A committee, with William E. Jones as chairman, was appointed to have full sway in the preparations. The other members of the committee are Thomas Barr, Leslie Pennington, Clifton Williams, and Lonzo Lawler.

Playing an exceptionally consistent and steady brand of tennis, Nellie Donovan won the girls' tennis tournament last Thursday on the Earlham courts. After an exception class of tennis throughout the tourney, the winner defeated Frances Sutton in the semi-finals, and with untiring efforts, won the way to her victory over Thomasina Fisher in two straight exciting sets, 12-10 and 6-2.

By virtue of this win she is now entitled to play Mildred Clark, present woman champion of the college, for the championship honors. This contest will be staged next Tuesday afternoon.

Madrigal club, with a total of 33 members, boasts one of the finest clubs in several years. The annual oporetta is as yet uncertain on account of the May Day exercises. However, several week-end trips are a possibility.

The new members are Amelia Rorick, Ruth Foulke, Violet Greenwood, Isabel Henley, Lucile Drysdale, Louise Hatt, Elizabeth Williams, Genevieve Miller, Mary Carroll, Mildred Hill, Mildred DeLong, Edna Copeland, Kathleen Cornell, Jane McEwen, Edith Blackburn, Mary Coffin, Ruth Kirk and Eleanor Rly.
