A wedding of much interest was celebrated Saturday, when Miss Mary Mather, daughter of Mrs. Henry Mather, Pelham apartments, became the bride of Fred Girty. The wedding took place at 3:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mather, Reveston. Yellow, green and white were the predominant colors in the boughs of autumn leaves, bitter sweet, palms and ferns that were arranged in profusion about the rooms. Tall, stately cathedral candles burned on either side of the fern and palm-banked altar where the service was performed. Before the ceremony a program of bridal airs was played by Miss Mildred Schalk, Miss Mary Jones and Miss Catherine Gates. The singing service was used, the Rev. J. J. Rae of the First Presbyterian church officiating. The only attendants were Miss Viola Jay of Rushville, and little Miss Nancy Jay, who held the bride's flowers during the service. The bride wore a simple gown of dark lace on voile and satin. Her flowers were Aaron Ward roses. Mr. and Mrs. Girty left after the wedding on a short motor trip. They will reside for the present in the Pelham apartments. About 75 friends and relatives attended the wedding. Those from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thurston and Mrs. George Stanley, of Galveston; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, of Indianapolis; Mrs. Elmer Hess of Cincinnati, William Jay and Miss Viola Jay of Rushville, Miss Emily and Miss Virginia Kersey of Muncie, Miss Louise Sudburg of Muncie, and Earl Cook of Chicago.

Twentieth-Century Proverbs by Claire Lane

Before marriage a man will eat raw cabbage out of thy hand and grineth at its savor.

ON PILOTING THE MATRIMONIAL BARK

1. Verily, verily, I say unto thee, my Daughter, unto the vicissitudes wrought by marriage on the He-husband, I have given deep-felt deliberation; and no learning, no knowledge, no sagacity offereeth security, against the errors committed in the name of Matrimony. For all the rules, regulations and formulas, mapped out by those who have gone over the course, none showeth the rocks and shale-banks, that springeth up in the night, like a mushroom and are gone by morning; these perils are not charted on the maps, but they have made of marriage, everything except a political issue.

2. Therefore, heed my words, my Daughter, and be thou not shocked to see thy Lover lay off his coat at the Altar and be transformed into a He-husband, who is a separate and distinct individual, with different manners, habits and methods of love making; for it hath been proven that marriage changeth a man more than a wig makes him to lose his demeanor and ear-marks of identity; and thou mayest be made to suffer that feeling of remorse that one hath, when the thing didn't work and everybody knew it.

3. But be wise, my Daughter, and prepared to adapt thyself to the new transformation and be kind and giveth the man a showing for his money; but also take heed, that unless he can do a quarter in 29 flat, back him into a siding and take the reins into thine own hands; for the problem of personally conducting a He-husband, cannot be worked out by Geometry; and it is far better to slip an ace off the bottom of the deck, than to have thy connubial bark steered into a temporal and spiritual Hell, from which hope is barred and rescue impossible.

4. Moreover, I say, my Daughter, before marriage a man will eat raw cabbage out of thy hand and grineth at its savor, but after, he requirith a gastronomical expert, to meet the ever changing cravings of his stomach; and unless thou hath cooking propensities and efficiency plus, thou wilt find the genial current of thy life suddenly turned into turbulent seas, by an under-done biscuit or an over-done steak; and a dinner 5 minutes late will make him more irritating than a piece of celery between thy incisors, at a Peace banquet.

5. Behold these words, my Daughter, and know ye, that a good aviator knoweth when and where to fly; and a good machinist knoweth when and what nut to tighten up, and a wise woman knoweth how to manage a He-husband; she knoweth when and what he needs to be fed, how he best be amused and at what age the affinity microbe is in his head and nowhere else; therefore, my Daughter, exercise thy wisely devotion to his pleasure; and driveth him not to attending funerals to get cheerful company; and keep thou enough tender moods ahead to make the going attractive.

6. Therefore, I say, Verily my Daughter, that any woman who hath a good working knowledge of the present day husband, canst make him to feel like a white chip in a Jack-pot and she canst keep him properly subdued enough to be virtuous, if she but worketh her weapons at hand and is kind; for he it known, that many a man is systematically bound, gagged and robbed by the wife of his bosom and doesn't feel it a bit, in fact he is an accessory to the act and doesn't know that he is getting anything but a home flavor.

Jennings Ends Career
As Detroit Team Manager
(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 16.—Hughes Jennings Friday tendered his resignation as manager of the Detroit Baseball club to take effect immediately. The letter of resignation was received by Frank J. Navin, president of the club, this afternoon. In it Jennings declared that he had studied the baseball situation and felt that a change would be beneficial both to the club and to himself.

Jennings became manager of the Detroit Americans in 1907 piloting the team to a pennant in that year and the two succeeding seasons.

President Navin said today that while he had anticipated the resignation, he had no announcement to make at present regarding Jennings' successor.

GOOD FOR HIM AND HIS WIFE
Daisy L. Watkins, 2308 Little St., Louisville, Ky., writes: "I found Foley's Kidney Pills just what I wanted for my wife's and my colds." This famous kidney medicine is just as good for children as for adults. It checks coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, coughs, and stops that "tickling" throat that keeps one coughing at night. It contains no opiates, nor habit-forming drugs. Prompt and sure in action.—A. G. Laken & Co., 630 Main St.—Advertisement.
