

INDEPENDENT NATION THEME OF COOLIDGE IN KENTUCKY TALKS

SOMERSET, Ky., Oct. 19.—Since Jefferson sent American ships of war to the Mediterranean to suppress the Barbary pirates, to the day when her sons fought on the fields of France to suppress the German menace, "America has always done its full part in world service and it always will," declared Governor Calvin Coolidge, Republican nominee for the vice presidency, in an address here Monday. Governor Coolidge said he had come to Kentucky to support Governor Morrow "in his appeal to the nation to return to a government under the constitution, to end the waste and extravagance of the administration, to discharge our duty to the world under independent union but, first of all, to discharge our duty to America."

Eulogizing Washington, "a son of Virginia," and Lincoln, "a son of Kentucky," saying that "wherever men name the glory of America and the glory of civilization, these names stand first," Henry Clay he described as "the matchless old Kentuckian" who had contributed much to the progress and prosperity of the young republic.

"Clay knew," he said, in referring to his championing protection for home industries and to his going abroad to assist in negotiating terms of peace after the war of 1812, "that America was not isolated. He knew that America was a part of the great world brotherhood, working out along its own independent lines the welfare of mankind; and from the signing of that treaty of peace in December 1814, which he helped to negotiate, the world knew that here had grown up upon the American continent a power that could not be ignored. And the world knew, too, that here was a country to which they could turn for sympathy in distress, for aid in trouble and for justice when wrongly assailed."

Pleading for Harding, "Principles like theirs, policies like theirs," he said, "cannot die and be forgotten in a state that cherishes their memories, in a republic that keeps the faith. Across your border line, in the state of Ohio, is the chosen torchbearer of the creed of Clay and the creed of Lincoln. Born, as they were, one of the common people, he has been nurtured in the faith of the fathers and is an American through and through. Like them an upholder of the constitution, he stands for government of and for and by the people through the harmonious cooperation of the coordinate branches of the government. Like them he is a defender of the rights and liberties of the people. Like them he believes that America should be united, should be free, should be independent."

SALINA, Kas., Oct. 19.—A war romance that had its beginning in France culminated here in a domestic tragedy that left a French bride and her month-old baby facing the world alone in a land of strangers. Deserted by her husband, Mrs. Chester Cooper is being cared for by members of the local post of the American Legion and the Salina chapter of the Red Cross.

The Coopers made their home at Sharon Springs after their return from overseas but shortly after arriving there Cooper disappeared and is now being sought to face a charge of desertion. Mrs. Cooper, who is unable to speak a word of English, is suing for divorce through a lawyer, who, as a member of the Legion, offered his services free of charge. She plans to return to her aged mother in France.

Salina Post of the Legion has offered a reward of $50 for the apprehension of Cooper.

To Explain Proposed Laws At State Game Conference

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 18.—The Indiana Fish, Game and Forest League will meet in ninth annual session in the palm room at the Claypool hotel, Thursday, Oct. 28, according to an announcement by Walter Shirts, of

APPOINTED CHIEF ENGINEER OF U. S. FOREST SERVICE

T. W. Norcross.

T. W. Norcross has been appointed chief engineer of the forest service, succeeding O. C. Merrill. Norcross has been assistant chief under Merrill since 1916. Merrill resigned to become secretary of the federal power commission.

Noblesville, president of the league. The morning session will convene at 10 o'clock and at 6 o'clock the Marion County Fish and Game Protective Association will entertain visiting delegates at a dinner.

During the business hours of the convention, delegates from 108 county associations which make up the state organization, will exchange ideas and map out a program to be presented to the next general assembly regarding changes in some of the fish and game laws of the state and the creation of additional laws tending to conserve and increase the fish and game in Indiana.

State Director to Speak. Richard Lieber, director, William A. Guthrie, chairman of the state conservation commission, and George N. Mannfield, superintendent of the division of fish and game of the conservation department, will speak at the meeting and explain the work of the department. They also will present a program of proposed legislation—thirty-one changes which were recently promulgated. The state department of conservation recognizes the Indiana Fish, Game and Forest League as the official state organization of men interested in the conservation of the wild life of Indiana, and by laying its legislative program before this convention is enabled to relate accomplishments of the department during its 18 months existence and to cooperate with the league for further sustained progress.

Show Need of Laws. Speakers from the department will point out that Indiana is without a law regulating the catching of fish during spawning season—a period when natural propagation should not be interfered with. The department recognizes the value of fish hatcheries for restocking streams, but says that daily the number of anglers is increasing while the fish are decreasing. Unless the state has legislation to regulate fishing in spawning time the supply in lakes and streams will never be augmented as it should. Stream pollution is another serious menace which the department will seek cooperation of the league for legislation to prevent.

HARTFORD CITY—Seventeen months old Charles W. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark, south of this city, was accidentally drowned when he fell into an old churn partly filled with swill. Discovery of the child was made after a ten-minute search by the mother.

VINCENNES—A revolver duel between Commodore Marcum, a coal miner, and William Woods, a local policeman, resulted in the death of Marcum. The officer had gone to arrest the man at the request of Marcum's wife, who charged her husband had robbed her. Marcum fired upon Woods as soon as he entered a soft drink house conducted by Marcum's wife. One shot from the policeman's revolver pierced the heart of the miner.

LAFAYETTE—Two quarts of well-aged whisky were stolen from a hollow cement porch column recently purchased by John A. Hays, a Monon railroad detective, of this city. The whisky had been placed in the column by the contractor and the man who built the house, with the understanding that the one that lived the longest would get the liquor. When Hays moved to the house he had just bought, he found that the roof of the house had been jacked up, and the two empty cartons in which the whisky had been kept.

EVANSVILLE—The tax rate for this city has been reduced from $2.38 1/2 to $2.26, by the county board of review. The first rate, fixed by the city council, was deemed excessive by many of the leading taxpayers of the city, including Samuel L. May, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

TWO TOMATOES COST $1.70
BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 19.—Evidence in regard to prices charged for food by local hotels and restaurants is accumulating at the Federal district attorney's office—$1.70 for two tomatoes with skin removed, 20 cents for a cup of coffee, 20 cents for a boiled egg and a similar sum for bread, and a fifth of a pie, are some of the items which

13 Eggs A Day From 17 Young Pullets

Mrs. Niles Starts 6-months Old Pullets Laying. Tells How.

"Early in November, I bought a package of Don Sung and started giving it to 17 May pullets. In the first 30 days they laid 134 eggs, all through December I got 11 to 13 eggs a day."—Mrs. E. S. Niles, R. F. D. 2, Louisville, Ind.

Mrs. Niles found how to start young pullets laying and keep them laying all winter. The same method helps hens through the month and starts them laying. You can test this at our risk. Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and invigorant, given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail prepaid, Burrell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.
