First in the Field Again!

ONCE more Enterprise Flour has demonstrated its superior baking qualities. It was a consistent prize winner at the Indiana and Illinois State Fairs this year just as it was last year and in 1916.

In 1917 and '18 Enterprise was not on the market. Rather than lower its quality to meet war-time milling regulations we stopped making it altogether. The quality of Enterprise always has been and always will be nothing but the highest.

This year it was very hard to maintain the standard of Enterprise quality. The hard winter wheat crop which looked so fine in the fields turned out to be sadly lacking in strength. Only four per cent of it was good enough to mill into Enterprise Flour.

Every bushel of the wheat we needed, because of its scarcity, commanded the highest premium we have ever paid. But we had to have such grain and we got it. Enterprise Flour, at least, will continue to produce the same fine baking this year that it always has in the past.

Enterprise costs more than ordinary flour, but it's worth it. You won't waste any in needless failures and a sack will go noticeably further. The wisdom of paying for quality in flour will be more apparent this year than it ever has been before.
