

COLOR SUBJECT OF SUNDAY LECTURE BY CINCINNATI ARTIST

The public art gallery will open Sunday afternoon from 2:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. At 2:30 p. m., John Earhart, a landscape painter from Cincinnati, will give a lecture on color. Show Tinker Portrait. Robert Grafton on his way to Chicago from New York, stopped here this week. He has with him the portrait of Edward L. Tinker. Mr. Tinker is the son of Henry Tinker, who is first president of the Liberty National Bank, of New York, of which Daniel G. Reid, is a director. This portrait of Edward Tinker has been placed in the art gallery and will be on exhibit Sunday and possibly for several days. Mr. Grafton is taking it to Chicago for a portrait exhibit he is having soon. It is an out-door portrait of Mr. Tinker with his famous dog, Whale, showing a back ground of the bay and point of Long Island on his country place near East Setauket, L. I.

Has Photo Collection. Edward L. Tinker is a cultivated gentleman of varied interests. Especially has he been interested in the little village of East Setauket, near which his ancestors have always lived. He has built a bank memorial to his father, of which he is president. He has also put in a beautiful park and tea house and freshened up the old spots of the town, making it a most attractive place. Perhaps he is best known for his fine photographs. In a recent magazine he had a very interesting article on New Orleans, illustrated by photographs he had taken. He is working on models for wooden toys and hopes that the making of them will furnish employment for the old ship carpenters who live in East Setauket.

George Hess and a specimen of "Mother-in-Law Cactus."

George Hess, director of the National Botanic Garden, Washington, has named his latest rare specimen of plant life the "Mother-in-Law Cactus." This is not particularly complimentary to one's mother-in-law, for when the tongue comes in contact with the spines of this plant it swells until the victim is unable to talk. The duration of this uncomfortable and enforced silence is given as nine days. The photograph shows Mr. Hess and a specimen of his new and dangerous "Mother-in-Law Cactus."

The first convention was held in Richmond in 1890 by the Indiana Union of Literary clubs, which was afterward merged in the present state organization. The first organization held its conventions in the spring and at the convention this year it is to be proposed that the time be changed from fall to spring, probably May.

Convention Opens Thursday. The convention will open Thursday noon with a conference luncheon at the Claypool hotel, given by the motion picture committee, at which a speaker from New York will give the chief address.

A council will be held after the luncheon, the most important subjects being "The Reorganization of the General Federation of Women's Clubs" and "Shall Indiana Have a Spring Convention?" EARLHAM PLAY OPENS MONDAY AFTERNOON

A few good seats for the two performances to be given at Earlham college Monday afternoon and evening by the Clifford Devereux Plays still are available at the Westcott pharmacy or at the college. The popularity of these plays is evidenced by the seat sale, which has been exceptionally good.

"Her Husband's Wife," by A. E. Thomas, modern American playwright, is one of the best comedies that ever has been written. The play revolves about Irene Stuart, to be played by Miss Zinta Graff, who believes herself near death's door and decides that it will be necessary to choose a wife for her poor husband, who will be left alone. In reality, Irene's only difficulty is idleness. It is a scream from beginning to end. There is no doubt that with the ability of Clifford Devereux and Miss Graff, the piece will be well done. The performance will begin at 4 p. m., an inducement to students and to the teachers of the city.

Is Unusual Attraction. Ibsen, the great Scandinavian dramatist and father of the modern school of dramatists, is always difficult to interpret in a manner that will easily reach the audience. His plays are seldom given by amateurs and not frequently by professionals.

The appearance of Mr. Devereux and Miss Graff in "Ghosts" will be an unusual attraction. Ibsen is read by a great many people and this play is well known and, like others of his, is seldom seen. The eagerness of the public to see this is manifested by the number of seats which have been sold for the evening performance, which begins at 8 o'clock.

Six Appear in Cast. With Mr. Devereux and five other persons, including Miss Graff, casts for both plays include six. The appearance of a Devereux company at the college two years ago in "Love and Geography," by Bjornson, has been a great incentive to interest the public in these performances. Seats will be on sale at the door for each performance.

New Theory Advanced by Police for Drewes Murder

(By Associated Press) PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—The police today continued their search for William P. Brines, the university freshman for whom a warrant has been issued charging him with the murder of Elmer C. Drewes, 26-month senior, who was found slain last Saturday morning in the outskirts of the city.

Brines is said to have been in the city as late as Thursday and the officials said today his apprehension was momentarily expected. It was on Wednesday that his motor car, bloodstained and with an automatic pistol in one of the pockets, was found abandoned about a mile from where Drewes' body was discovered. Yesterday a woman whose name was not revealed, reported to the police that she had seen Brines on Tuesday scraping what appeared to be blood from his car.

Investigation according to the authorities indicates that jealousy over a girl's affections may have been the motive for the killing of Drewes.

FRIEND COMMISSIONS ARE NAMED SATURDAY

Six commissions, each to deal with some topic of common interest to the three boards represented in the recently organized Allied Council of Friends Mission Boards, were appointed at the meeting of the council Saturday.

Name of each commission and chairman follow: Arrangements commission—Mrs. Belle C. Bailey, of Newcastle, Ind., chairman. This commission will have charge of arranging for the next council meeting, which probably will be some time next year.

Missionary candidates commission—Wallace E. Gill, Los Angeles, Calif., chairman.

Mission work financing commission, Benjamin S. Coppock, Pasadena, Calif., chairman.

Commission on opportunities for international mission service—William B. Harvey, Philadelphia, Pa., chairman.

Commission on development of missionary spirit—Julian Cope Collins, Haverford, Pa., chairman.

Organization commission—Ross A. Hadley, of this city, chairman.

Expect More Appointments

Ross A. Hadley, secretary of the newly formed council, said Saturday that it is expected that each of the cooperating boards of the council will appoint an additional member to each of the six commissions. It is planned that the commission on arrangements decide upon two or three main topics for discussion at the next meeting, and that the commission to which these topics are appropriate will report upon each. These topics will then form the basis for discussion at the next meeting.

Emphasis was placed upon the fact that the council is not an administrative or executive one, but that its functions will lie mostly in its power to advise and recommend certain moves on the part of the co-operating mission boards.

Boards affiliated include the American Friends Board of Foreign Missions, mission board of California yearly meeting and mission board of Philadelphia yearly meeting. The council was to adjourn at 4 p. m. Saturday.

TO LAY PLANS FOR CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

City officials are backing the "Clean-up Campaign" that is to be started by the Kiwanis club next Monday, it was stated at the city hall Saturday morning. "The educational feature is very much worth while," stated Dell Davis, city engineer. "Civic pride is the direct outgrowth of such community work, and the interest taken in a city by such clubs as the Kiwanis and similar organizations is sure to be reflected on the citizens at large", an official said.

The exact methods to be pursued in putting across the details of the campaign will be worked out at the meeting of the public works committee in Kresge's store Monday evening.

The decision of the club to make no material awards to individuals other than honorable mention in the newspapers is said to be a good one by various people outside the club. This seems to take the whole city into the plans on an equal basis and make every one a part of the campaign. No one being benefited in particular, but the individuals will have the satisfaction of knowing that he has done something for community betterment.

Does Saturday Evening Advertising Pay?

The answer to this question is given in the following letter to The Palladium from Mr. Roland Nusbaum of the Lee B. Nusbaum Co.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 18, 1920

Mr. Geo. Brenizer, Adv. Mgr., Palladium, City.

Dear George:—

Thought perhaps you might be interested in knowing that by 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening we had sold the entire lot of 100 waists I had advertised in the Pall Saturday night as a "Saturday Night Special" and was obliged to add more waists to the lot so that by 9 o'clock, closing time, we had sold a total of 168 waists. The table, from which the waists were sold, was on the second floor and we did not use any window space.

Truly yours,
Roland Nusbaum
