

Society

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Louise Frenzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frenzel of Indianapolis, and Raymond Brownell Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Nicholson of this city, which will be solemnized Wednesday evening, Nov. 17, at the home of the bride's parents, 1338 North New Jersey street, Indianapolis.

A record audience numbering over 100 attended the meeting of the department of the Woman's Club Tuesday morning in the art gallery. The program, which promised to be interesting, surpassed any expectations. Mrs. Lewis King read a very interesting paper on the psychology of music in which she explained the effect it had on the mind.

The marriage of Miss Edna Von Pein, daughter of Mrs. Lena Von Pein and Windsor Harris, son of Benjamin F. Harris, will take place Wednesday morning at the Reid Memorial church. The ceremony will be witnessed by a few friends and relatives.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Bullerdick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bullerdick of this city and M. Everett Shinkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shinkle of New Paris, O., was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of the First English Lutheran church, the Rev. F. A. Dressel officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eaton were the only attendants. The bride wore a becoming suit of dark blue with accessories to correspond. Mr. and Mrs. Shinkle left on a wedding trip through the south. They will be at home to their friends after Dec. 1 in Eaton, O., where Mr. Shinkle is in business.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rohe were given a Hallowe'en surprise party at their home on South Fourth street Sunday evening, by a number of friends who came masked. Euchre was played, favors going to Jess Heet, Mrs. Harry Rohe, Frank Lahman and Mrs. Howard Elstro. Later a Hallowe'en basket lunch was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Balling, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lahman, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lahman, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Heet, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elstro, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rohe, Anthony Balling, Miss Helen Balling, Miss Loraine Heet, Miss Hazel Lahman, Herbert Lahman, Miss Catherine Rohe and Louis Rohe.

Jack-o'-lanterns, candles, pumpkins and other Hallowe'en decorations made an attractive setting Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McMillen entertained members of the Wida-Wee club at their home, 422 North Twenty-first street. Games and dancing were enjoyed by the guests. Prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lucas, Mrs. J. L. Blossom, Mrs. Floyd Bogan, Mrs. Ed Hobman, Mrs. Omer Wine and Mrs. Lawrence Sydenstricker. A Hallowe'en luncheon was served to the guests who included Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sigler and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Blossom and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hobman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Wysong and children, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lucas and son, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Wine, Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward, Mrs. Howard Lane and son, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bogan, Mrs. Lawrence Sydenstricker and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McMillen and children.

The Degree of Honor will give a dance Tuesday evening for members and their friends.

A masquerade dance will be given at Red Men's hall Wednesday evening, Nov. 3. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Louise Beckett will be hostess for the Foreign Missionary society of First M. E. church Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 at her residence, 526 Peal street.

Mrs. N. C. Heironimus, 533 National Road West, will entertain the Athenaeum society Wednesday afternoon.

The Ladies of the Second English Lutheran will have an all day meeting at the church Wednesday. The aid society meeting will be at the church in the afternoon.

The importance of the schools in the work of Americanization and America's duty to the immigrant were the main subjects discussed before the Current Events club Tuesday afternoon when it met with Mrs. Mamie Hippard, 618 Pearl street. Papers on the subjects were read by Mrs. Mae Evans and Mrs. Lenore Beach. A reading was given by Mrs. Lizzie Bescher and in response to roll call members gave amusing incidents of school life.

Junior Loyal Daughters of First Christian church will hold their monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the church.

The Greenwood Community club will meet with Mrs. James Tierman Wednesday afternoon at her home on the Boston Pike.

The business meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Third M. E. church announced for Wednesday has been postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Holly left Tuesday afternoon for Nebraska and other points west to visit relatives and friends for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thorman are the parents of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Doyle and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Addington of Williams street, have returned from a motor trip to Indianapolis, where they visited Miss Edith Doyle.

The Wi-Hub club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Harris north of Centerville, Saturday. Elaborate Hallowe'en decorations were in evidence in the barn where the party was held. After a program, lunch was served. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harris and family, Mrs. Pike and son, Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. G. Hanagan.

Mrs. C. C. Thomas was the dinner guest of Mrs. J. C. Genn Sunday.

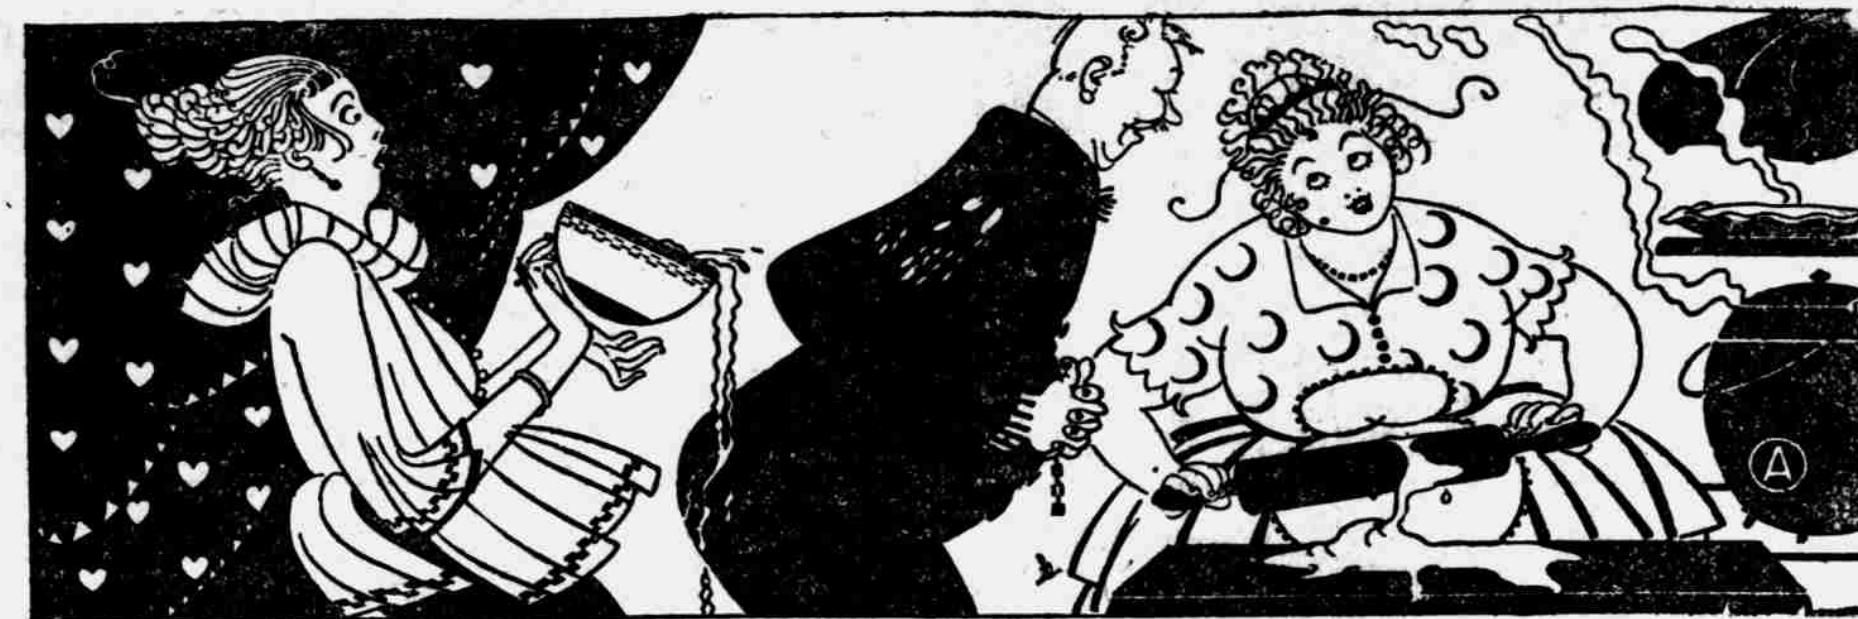

The Jolly Twelve club will entertain with a masquerade at the home of Mrs. Heath on North Twenty-first street Wednesday evening. Everyone is to come at 8:00 p. m.

The Paul Hunt Post, American Legion of Centerville, will give a dance Thursday evening, Nov. 4, at the town hall. Ingeman's orchestra will play.

The Daughters of America will meet Wednesday evening in Vaughn hall at 7:30. Initiation and degree staff are all asked to be present.

Gay Hallowe'en decorations marked the party given by Miss Mildred Kenmer at her home Sunday evening. The guests came masked and included Miss Ruth Keller, Miss Neva Showalter, Miss Elizabeth Grace, Miss Beatrice Keller, Miss Agatha Phelps, Miss Mildred Kenmer, Harry Frazier, Earl Hat-

Twentieth-Century Proverbs by Claire Lane

If thy cook outdoeth thee, his affections goeth the way of his stomach

MATRIMONIAL SIDE-LIGHTS OF MALE QUALITIES, ATTRIBUTES AND CHARACTER

1. Verily, I say unto you, my Daughter, unto the risks of Matrimony I have given much deep deliberation, and be it known, that in the Nature of He-Husbands, there lurketh much deception and thou canst never judge of what is under the sugar coating of a pill; therefore be not hasty, but choose with deliberation, lest thou findeth thyself like unto a Lily in the hands of Mephisto.

2. And believe my words, my Daughter, for thine own happiness and peace of mind, verily, I say, from a man with many Bachelor friends, flee, as from a disease, for their influence is diverting and they maketh a husband to believe that Love is like unto an old shoe, to be cast aside when impaired by time and hard usage; and he giveth her 57 reasons why he findeth no more pleasure and recreation in her fellowship, and he taketh himself out of her presence and leaveth her not even a jitney wherewith to go to the Movies.

3. Beware ye also, my Daughter, of a man who wouldst marry thee only for thy money; he is like unto one who wouldst defend thy estate from thine enemy in order to appropriate it unto himself, and he is more to be despised than whiskers.

4. Behold these words, my Daughter, as a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman who is wife unto a He-husband who loveth naught by himself and considereth nothing except his own pleasure; he is like unto a Hog that getteth lengthwise of the trough, knowing full well that Moses put a ban on pork fourteen hundred years before Christ.

5. And behold, my Daughter, what giveth a woman such real pain as to ask a He-husband for bread and he give her a stone and asketh her what she did with the bread he gave her last week? Ye who can bear it? Better far is a cheese sandwich in an "arm chair" restaurant where Love is, than a feast of ox-tail soup, with a man who groaneth aloud at the price and pineth in secret for the company of some other woman.

6. Beware ye also, my Daughter, of him who seeth naught of thy womanly charms, except thy stunning gown, for Fashions change in the twinkling of an eye and great follies are perpetrated in their name; likewise, my Daughter, beware of him who findeth charm only in the culinary art, for if thy cook outdoeth thee, his affections goeth the way of his stomach and thou art left with neither cook, husband nor alimony.

7. But go to, my daughter, when a man offereth thee a Love that is real, and in thy companionship forgetteth all his Bachelor and Woman friends, and considereth thee not a white man's burden, but divideth with thee, even to the half of his kingdom, rejoice in thy heart and receive him with thanksgiving, for his path is righteous ness and few there be who walk therein; then it shall come to pass that unto ye both shall come all the joys and blessings of that perfect Love, for which all ages hath made the World go round.

AH-MAN OH-WOMAN.

8. Beware ye also, my Daughter, of him who seeth naught of thy womanly charms, except thy stunning gown, for Fashions change in the twinkling of an eye and great follies are perpetrated in their name; likewise, my Daughter, beware of him who findeth charm only in the culinary art, for if thy cook outdoeth thee, his affections goeth the way of his stomach and thou art left with neither cook, husband nor alimony.

9. Beware ye also, my Daughter, when a man offereth thee a Love that is real, and in thy companionship forgetteth all his Bachelor and Woman friends, and considereth thee not a white man's burden, but divideth with thee, even to the half of his kingdom, rejoice in thy heart and receive him with thanksgiving, for his path is righteous ness and few there be who walk therein; then it shall come to pass that unto ye both shall come all the joys and blessings of that perfect Love, for which all ages hath made the World go round.

AH-MAN OH-WOMAN.

field, Colbern Ingerman, Orville Clark and Will McMahen.

An old time basket supper will be given at St. Paul's Episcopal church Wednesday preceding the vestry meeting. All members are urged to come and bring their families. Coffee will be served by the committee in charge.

Her paper was supplemented by a program of vocal and instrumental selections, and dancing which had been arranged by Mrs. F. W. Krueger and Miss Elizabeth Hasmeler. The program was divided into five parts, babyhood, childhood, youth, inspiration, and religion.

Several piano selections and a vocal number were given by charming little girls. Their performances delighted the audience. Miss Mary Louise Benwell, of Hagerstown, in a beautiful ballet costume, carrying a basket of chrysanthemums, won much applause from the audience with her solo dance. The vocal and instrumental numbers were all most pleasing and several were encored.

Miss Vera Sherman and Miss Martha Eggemeyer entertained Friday evening with a Hallowe'en Masque party at the home of Miss Sherman, 115 South Fourth street. Guests upon their arrival were taken through a Chamber of Horrors which afforded much excitement. Dancing and contests were enjoyed later, and a Hallowe'en luncheon served to the following guests: Miss Louise Spaulding, Miss Marguerite Cox, Miss Lona Weiss, Miss Mary Jones, Miss Esther Covle, Miss Maud Reber, Miss Martha Holcomb, Miss Wilma Sudhoff, Miss Lois Oesting, Miss Janice Meredith, Miss Gladys Huffman, Miss Florence Kittle, 103 North Twentieth street.

A card party will be given by the Senior Division of the Immaculate Conception society, in the K. of C. hall, Monday evening, Nov. 8. Dancing at 10 p. m.

BEAUTY CHATS
by EDNA KENT FORBES

FOR DELICATE NAILS.

There are some women whose finger nails are so sensitive that even a small amount of housework will make the cuticle dark and ragged and the nail dry and full of ridges. Some women have nails so sensitive that a frequent manicure does more harm than good. These people are particularly unfortunate because the nails are going to grow old long before they themselves show any other signs of age.

The best advice that can be given to such people would be to tell them to avoid a manicure as far as possible. Now the way to avoid a manicure is not to neglect having one, but to prevent the necessity for one, which means extra good care of the nails.

When you have taken your daily bath go over the edges of the nail with an orange wood stick as soon as you have dried your hands. The skin will be soft from its long immersion in your bath water and it will be easy to keep the edges of the nail looking neat.

Some people will tell you that if this is done every day you will never have to have the cuticle clipped, but this is not so unless your skin is different from any other.

If your nails have the least tendency to be dry rub them with olive oil three or four times every week. This will nourish the new nail as it grows in and will keep it smooth and young. When a bleach is necessary do not use an acid, but instead something very mild, such as lemon juice.

Most of your manicuring should be done with an emery board to file the nails, an orangewood stick to keep them neat, olive oil or cold cream to nourish them, and lemon juice to bleach them. Use the butter as often as you wish, for it stimulates the circulation, but do not use polishing powders or pastes, as these are drying.

Mrs. Anxious—Do not nag him or you will make him worse. The best course is to show him how this smoking is injuring him. Probably you have already done that and failed. If I were you I would find out just why excessive cigarette smoking undermines the health, then wait for the opportune time to bring your information out. Never quarrel over it, nor hold up some other man as a pattern. Appeal to his pride in himself. I would never admit, not even to myself, this his habit has gotten the best of him. Believe, with all your heart, that he is not the one up since they stand in his way of success. If you do this, your attitude toward it will be happy and he will get into rhythm with your feelings and surprise you by telling you he does not intend to allow this smoking to stand in his way any longer. It is a form of mental treatment, so simple that many people will not accept it.

The best advice that can be given to such people would be to tell them to avoid a manicure as far as possible. Now the way to avoid a manicure is not to neglect having one, but to prevent the necessity for one, which means extra good care of the nails.

When you have taken your daily bath go over the edges of the nail with an orange wood stick as soon as you have dried your hands. The skin will be soft from its long immersion in your bath water and it will be easy to keep the edges of the nail looking neat.

Some people will tell you that if this is done every day you will never have to have the cuticle clipped, but this is not so unless your skin is different from any other.

If your nails have the least tendency to be dry rub them with olive oil three or four times every week. This will nourish the new nail as it grows in and will keep it smooth and young. When a bleach is necessary do not use an acid, but instead something very mild, such as lemon juice.

Most of your manicuring should be done with an emery board to file the nails, an orangewood stick to keep them neat, olive oil or cold cream to nourish them, and lemon juice to bleach them. Use the butter as often as you wish, for it stimulates the circulation, but do not use polishing powders or pastes, as these are drying.

Mrs. Anxious—Do not nag him or you will make him worse. The best course is to show him how this smoking is injuring him. Probably you have already done that and failed. If I were you I would find out just why excessive cigarette smoking undermines the health, then wait for the opportune time to bring your information out. Never quarrel over it, nor hold up some other man as a pattern. Appeal to his pride in himself. I would never admit, not even to myself, this his habit has gotten the best of him. Believe, with all your heart, that he is not the one up since they stand in his way of success. If you do this, your attitude toward it will be happy and he will get into rhythm with your feelings and surprise you by telling you he does not intend to allow this smoking to stand in his way any longer. It is a form of mental treatment, so simple that many people will not accept it.

The best advice that can be given to such people would be to tell them to avoid a manicure as far as possible. Now the way to avoid a manicure is not to neglect having one, but to prevent the necessity for one, which means extra good care of the nails.

When you have taken your daily bath go over the edges of the nail with an orange wood stick as soon as you have dried your hands. The skin will be soft from its long immersion in your bath water and it will be easy to keep the edges of the nail looking neat.

Some people will tell you that if this is done every day you will never have to have the cuticle clipped, but this is not so unless your skin is different from any other.

If your nails have the least tendency to be dry rub them with olive oil three or four times every week. This will nourish the new nail as it grows in and will keep it smooth and young. When a bleach is necessary do not use an acid, but instead something very mild, such as lemon juice.

Most of your manicuring should be done with an emery board to file the nails, an orangewood stick to keep them neat, olive oil or cold cream to nourish them, and lemon juice to bleach them. Use the butter as often as you wish, for it stimulates the circulation, but do not use polishing powders or pastes, as these are drying.

Mrs. Anxious—Do not nag him or you will make him worse. The best course is to show him how this smoking is injuring him. Probably you have already done that and failed. If I were you I would find out just why excessive cigarette smoking undermines the health, then wait for the opportune time to bring your information out. Never quarrel over it, nor hold up some other man as a pattern. Appeal to his pride in himself. I would never admit, not even to myself, this his habit has gotten the best of him. Believe, with all your heart, that he is not the one up since they stand in his way of success. If you do this, your attitude toward it will be happy and he will get into rhythm with your feelings and surprise you by telling you he does not intend to allow this smoking to stand in his way any longer. It is a form of mental treatment, so simple that many people will not accept it.

The best advice that can be given to such people would be to tell them to avoid a manicure as far as possible. Now the way to avoid a manicure is not to neglect having one, but to prevent the necessity for one, which means extra good care of the nails.

When you have taken your daily bath go over the edges of the nail with an orange wood stick as soon as you have dried your hands. The skin will be soft from its long immersion in your bath water and it will be easy to keep the edges of the nail looking neat.

Some people will tell you that if this is done every day you will never have to have the cuticle clipped, but this is not so unless your skin is different from any other.

If your nails have the least tendency to be dry rub them with olive oil three or four times every week. This will nourish the new nail as it grows in and will keep it smooth and young. When a bleach is necessary do not use an acid, but instead something very mild, such as lemon juice.

Most of your manicuring should be done with an emery board to file the nails, an orangewood stick to keep them neat, olive oil or cold cream to nourish them, and lemon juice to bleach them. Use the butter as often as you wish, for it stimulates the circulation, but do not use polishing powders or pastes, as these are drying.

Mrs. Anxious—Do not nag him or you will make him worse. The best course is to show him how this smoking is injuring him. Probably you have already done that and failed. If I were you I would find out just why excessive cigarette smoking undermines the health, then wait for the opportune time to bring your information out. Never quarrel over it, nor hold up some other man as a pattern. Appeal to his pride in himself. I would never admit, not even to myself, this his habit has gotten the best of him. Believe, with all your heart, that he is not the one up since they stand in his way of success. If you do this, your attitude toward it will be happy and he will get into rhythm with your feelings and surprise you by telling you he does not intend to allow this smoking to stand in his way any longer. It is a form of mental treatment, so simple that many people will not accept it.

The best advice that can be given to such people would be to tell them to avoid a manicure as far as possible. Now the way to avoid a manicure is not to neglect having one, but to prevent the necessity for one, which means extra good care of the nails.

When you have taken your daily bath go over the edges of the nail with an orange wood stick as soon as you have dried your hands. The skin