

EDUCATE CITY FOLK, FARM SPEAKER URGES AT PURDUE MEETING

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 6.—Improvement of the rural home and of agriculture through community cooperation and development of a neighborly spirit between town and country were emphasized at the annual conference of agricultural extension workers which closed today at Purdue university. The speakers invariably brought out ideas which dealt with community development and development of a better spirit between consumers and producers.

The morning program was given over to addresses by Clarence Henry, assistant county agent leader for Purdue, now a farmer at Richmond, O., and a prominent speaker for the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, and Walter W. Bonner, Greensburg, banker, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Indiana Bankers association.

"The whole problem of rural welfare is one of education—education of rural fathers and mothers as well as the younger folk," said Mr. Henry. "City folk should be educated, too. They should be made to realize how and at what cost their food and clothing are produced, and that the cost of distribution of the farmer's products is twice that which the farmer gets originally."

Food Shortage Seen. "They must see that the time is rapidly approaching when we will be short of food if our industrial growth continues at the expense of agriculture. Our farm bureau—county, state and national—the agricultural colleges, county agents, are all trying to solve this great problem which is vital to all of us whether we live in the city or country."

Mr. Bonner discussed relationship between business men and farmers, and pointed out their mutual interests. Mr. Bonner urged support of these movements.

At a business session of the county agents, which closed the conference, O. E. Ackerson of Crawfordville was named president of the Indiana County Agents Association; Calvin Purdue, Frankfort, vice president, and Russell C. East, Shelbyville, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The annual farmers' short course will be held at Purdue university Jan. 10 to 14, 1921, it has been announced at Purdue university by Dean J. H. Skinner of the college of agriculture. This is the biggest event of the year for Indiana farmers, from 1,500 to 2,500 gathering at the university for the entire week to get the latest information on agricultural topics, learned in experimental and extension work. Announcement was made sometime ago that the annual meeting of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association would be held at the university at the same time as the short course. Beef and dairy cattle breed associations and other organizations are expected to hold their annual meetings during the short course, and the event will bring a round-up for all the agricultural interests of the state.

Some of the best known agricultural men in the country will be brought to Purdue for the event, including leading farm bureau workers and agricultural college men, and it is hoped to have the short course this year attract all by the officers and directors of the county farm associations in Indiana.

Humanitarian Services

For Released Prisoners

Is Considered by Envoys

(By Associated Press)

MONTEVIDEO, Nov. 6.—Robert E. Jeffery, the American minister here, is negotiating with the Uruguayan foreign office for a reciprocal convention for humanitarian services to be given to persons leaving jail in both countries after completing their terms of imprisonment, in accordance with a project formulated by the National Prisons committee of New York.

Under this convention, the Uruguayan authorities would communicate to the United States immigration department the egress from Uruguayan prisons of all American citizens and the prison committee of New York would procure their repatriation and obtain work for them so they can be reformed.

When an Uruguayan citizen left a United States prison, a similar notice would be addressed to the "Patronato de Delinquentes del Uruguay," so that that institution might take measures for his repatriation and procure him an honest way of making his living.

23,000 Families in Vienna

Homeless, to Erect Shacks

(By Associated Press)

VIENNA, Nov. 6.—A survey of housing just completed shows that 23,000 families, comprising about 70,000 persons are virtually homeless in Vienna, so great is the shortage of living premises, in spite of the requisitioning process that has been going on for a year.

These people are herded into passageways, where often 15 to 20 persons sleep in places used for other purposes in the daytime, or in pleasant weather they sleep in parks. It is now proposed to permit them to erect shacks on the available land throughout the city.

COMMANDER HUNT.

CHANGE IN GERMAN VIEW OF OFFICIALS

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The change which has taken place in the attitude of Germans toward official personages was illustrated recently at Tempelhof field, where the German emperor for merely twice a year reviewed the troops of the Berlin garrison. President Ebert visited the field a few days ago to watch the filming of a motion picture, but instead of the adulation which used to be accorded to the emperor, the crowd of 4,000 costumed performers failed to recognize the president, jostled him about and gave him scant show at the sandwich counter.

The German president wandered about unaccompanied and stood for a while beside the camera man while a scene was being photographed. Later he made his way against the edge of a crowd witnessing a "riot scene." When the crowd was ordered out of camera range, Herr Ebert received no consideration from the jostling spectators.

One of the crowd who recognized him called attention to his presence, but few gave him any notice.

AN ENEMY TO GOOD HEALTH

Good health has no greater enemy than constipation. You cannot "keep fit" for work or play if the bowels are irregular or clogged with a decomposed mass of undigested food from which the blood picks up disease-causing impurities and carries them throughout the entire system.
