

NEXT WEEK AT THE THEATERS

MURRAY. The way in which perfectly sane and normal people are railroaded to private sanitariums by people who want to put them "out of the way" is nowhere more clearly shown than in Dorothy Gish's latest photo-drama "Turning the Tables" which comes to the Murray Theatre Monday.

A plotting aunt who seeks to steal the fortune of her minor ward, and an unscrupulous physician who was promised a large fee are the engineers of the scheme. Dorothy is brought before another doctor and given the sharp trial of proving herself sane, which can rarely be done under any circumstances. In the end the aunt receives her just deserts, and Dorothy is restored to the estate she rightfully inherited.

MURRETTE.

An experiment, which will no doubt be adopted by all producers within a short time, was successfully tried out in the technical department of the Charles Ray studio during the filming of "Peaceful Valley," which will be the attraction at the Murrette Theatre commencing Sunday. This was the blending of the art and technical departments so that the directors of these two departments will work in tandem. Clarence De Witt and Robert Bennett, art and technical directors, were appointed technical supervisors, and the new plan eliminated much lost motion and resulted in more harmonious production.

MURRAY.

Eileen Percy, in "The Husband Hunter," the William Fox production at the Murray theatre, ends its successful run Sunday. This rollicking comedy, with its innumerable funny situations, keeps one laughing from the time Myra Hastings, the husband hunter, starts out to capture the young man she has never seen, until she accidentally discovers she has been the innocent victim of a practical joke played by her fiance and his friend, and turns the tables on them. Miss Percy's work as the charming and vivacious Myra leaves nothing to be desired, and she is supported by a strong cast with Emory Johnson as leading man. Howard M. Mitchell directed the picture.

GERMAN PAPER SEES WAR OVER SILESIA

(By Associated Press)

WARSAW, Nov. 13.—The declaration of war between Germany and Poland would be inevitable if the plebiscite to be held in Upper Silesia gives that region to Germany, is made in the Gazette Poranna in discussing the plebiscite. The newspaper is the organization of the National Democrats, whose leader is John Domski, under-secretary for foreign affairs.

The Gazette Poranna predicts that another world war would result, with France and Belgium joining Poland, and Great Britain siding with Germany. It adds: "If England should enter this war, it would mean perhaps the end of British world power."

The newspaper contends that Great Britain has shown certain leanings toward Germany in Silesian affairs, and warns Britain to keep her hands off.

Plebiscite Postponed

The date of the plebiscite in Silesia has again been postponed indefinitely. Meanwhile unrest in the region continues. The Polish miners, factory workers and rural laborers are dissatisfied with the German landlords and capitalists, and constant friction is reported. A dispatch from Beuthen today says that the allied authorities seized a carload of German artillery, mine throwers, machine guns and ammunition.

The Polish mark today reached its lowest figure, at 455 to the dollar, and some of the newspapers attribute its drop to German influences seeking to injure Polish credit because of its effect on the Silesian vote. The newspapers charge that groups in Danzig and Berlin, backed by the German government, are trying to lower the Polish mark and also are dealing in clothing and cloth taken during the German occupation of France and Belgium.

Teacher Praises Lenin,Swiss Children Strike

(By Associated Press)

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 13.—The school children of the little Swiss town of Bourg went on strike recently because the head-mistress of the Municipal school, who recently is said to have become a Bolshevik, delivered a lecture praising Nikolai Lenin, the Russian premier.

The children are supported in the strike by their parents, who have demanded the dismissal of the head-mistress. In the meantime the youngsters are greatly enjoying their holiday and are hoping that the question will not be settled too quickly.

New Paper Suit, Washable, Wearable, Costs Only $2.50

A new suit of clothes—coat, vest and trousers—for $2.50! Doesn't seem possible, does it? Nevertheless a good, wearable, honest-to-goodness suit was shown in Richmond Saturday by Chris. Bailey, representative of a Ft. Wayne paper company, that cost exactly $2.50.

What was it made of? Just paper! Anyone who has formed an impression that a paper suit must be a very impractical sort of affair had better revise his impression. Except for a certain shiny look, it would be pretty certain to pass unnoticed as a replica of the garb of an ordinary business man.

The suit owned by Mr. Bailey was sent from Austria and cost $2.50 in American money, though it would cost much more in that country because of the low exchange of the Australian krona.

The paper suit will withstand the onslaughts of rain and wintry weather and seems to afford the same amount of warmth furnished by an ordinary suit. A high-grade paper is used in the manufacture of the suit. The paper-cloth is composed of closely woven fibers which are twisted into strands in much the same manner in which a rope is made. The fibers or strands are woven into a cloth that is flexible and durable. The suit owned by Mr. Bailey is a grey and black striped pattern.

Paper clothes may be washed without injury to the fabric. According to Mr. Bailey, the suits will last at least a year with hard usage.

The Cebu coal mines and those in Mindanao are to be developed by Philippine capital, the indicated output being enough to care for the entire coal trade in the islands.
