

BRILLIANT COLORS SEEN IN MILITARY REVIEWS IN MADRID

(By Associated Press)
MADRID, Nov. 19.—More color is to be seen in the palace yard of Madrid when King Alfonso is in residence than is to be found in any other part of Spain. The military spectacle alone is brilliant, with the striking uniforms of red and blue hussars, the dark blue of the artillery men and the red trousers and blue tunics of the infantry as the old and new guards face each other at 10 o'clock, with the flags unfurled in the center and the two regiments bands drawn up in circles playing martial airs. The customary brilliant sunshine makes the fixed bayonets and unsheathed swords flash in the air as the various units carry out the smart military exercises.

Thousands of civilians, mostly visitors to Madrid, gather around the precincts of the palace to watch the spectacle. Numbers of them are from the Spanish provinces and their bright shawls and scarves mixed with the more prosaic dress of the Madridanos forms a fit setting to the bright picture. Further details are added by the itinerant vendors of peanuts and hot butter rolls and other delicacies loved by the children, who under the eyes of their nursemaids in their picturesque costumes of varied hues run hither and thither.

Sometimes the king himself comes out onto the balcony to salute his guard and then all is hushed while he faces the regimental flags and after bowing his head raises his hand to his kepi.

The picture is on view for about an hour every morning.

gineers in this city December 7-10. Transportation experts, headed by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, will address the 2,500 members of the society who are expected to attend.

A statement issued by the society said that transportation is considered by the organization a the most pressing problem before the country. "The industry of the country is being seriously handicapped," said the statement. "From present indications, it will take several years for facilities to catch up with increased traffic and the normal development of the next few years."

In addition to purely railroad questions, the society members will consider waterway development and the greater use of motor vehicles for moving freight. A special report is expected on the St. Lawrence waterways project to make possible ocean traffic through the Great Lakes.

MADRID, Nov. 19.—A gigantic effort to settle the housing problem of thousands of country folk to the city is in progress in the northern section adjacent to the suburbs of Cuatro Caminos. A private concern has acquired an enormous tract of land and has begun building what for Madrid are skyscrapers of ten stories. Each of these buildings is to contain 400 flats and 40 stores.

The new model is to be in all respects modern. Engineers are now engaged in laying out a boulevard running through its center over half a mile long and 130 feet in width, with two carriage ways and a central promenade lined with trees.
