

WOULD CHANGE LINE OF LEVEE TO AVOID DESTROYING OLD TREE

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 29.—Sentiment such as expressed in the poem of George Pope Morris, entitled "Woodman, Spare That Tree," may save a giant sycamore which towers over the Wabash river bottoms near the junction of the Patoka and Wabash rivers in Gibson county, Indiana. The tree is close to the line of survey for a new $2,000,000 levee, and it must be removed or the line of survey must be changed at considerable expense.

Efforts are being made by the state department of conservation and citizens of Gibson county, as well as the citizens of Mt. Carmel, Ill., to prevent the destruction of the tree. Unless public sentiment is sufficiently strong to cause the commissioners of Gibson county to slightly change the survey, or a public subscription can be raised to pay for actual change, it appears this monarch and sole survivor of the days when that portion of Indiana was thickly wooded is doomed. That sentiment is strong in Gibson county, as well as at Mt. Carmel, Ill., just across the river, toward saving the big sycamore, is evidenced in numerous letters reaching the state department asking that no efforts be spared in behalf of the old monarch.

Robert Ridgeway, a noted ornithologist, connected with the United States Biological Survey, whose home is at Olney, Ill., has written the department registering a plea in behalf of the tree. He says that in 1875 this tree was one of twelve of the same species growing on an area not exceeding half a mile square, which averaged 23½ feet in circumference and 127 feet in spread of top, by actual measurement, and about 150 feet in height. The lone sycamore remains of all its former sturdy brothers.

This tree stands near the site of the new levee that will be constructed along the Wabash river, and according to Dr. Ridgeway it is not so close to the line of contemplated work that its removal is really necessary, although persons in charge of the survey have expressed their intentions of cutting it down.

AIR MAIL FROM CHICAGO TO TWIN CITIES PLANNED
CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Local air mail service officials today received word from Washington that regular service between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul would be started Monday. All planes will stop at LaCrosse, Wis., but it is not planned to take on or discharge mail there for the present.

SATISFIED WITH RULING
ANDERSON, Ind., Nov. 29.—Anderson manufacturers are satisfied with the ruling of the Indiana public service commission yesterday which cuts the minimum charges on their electric light bills in half. Instead of $1 per horsepower minimum charge, the new rate will be 50 cents for the first ten horsepower and 25 cents for additional horsepower. The ruling will save thousands of dollars for manufacturers.

Out of each 1,000 children born annually, an average of 124 die before they attain the age of one year, according to the United States Public Health Service. In Dayton last year only 83 out of each 1,000 children born were claimed by death. In 1919 Dayton had

New Elixir, Called Aspirinal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter if Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful with four teaspoonsful of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—Advertisement the lowest general death rate in the history of the city. There has been only one death from typhoid fever there in nearly three years, and only four cases.

Aid Derelicts.
Dayton acknowledges its efforts to restore human derelicts. A model correction farm, and dormitory without locks or bars, had displaced an inhumane and insanitary workhouse.

and out in the open air the men and women not only work, but are aided in gaining physical and mental strength, so necessary to again make them productive and stable units of society.

It has developed wholesome and health-giving occupation for little children in vacant lot, backyard and community gardens, and last year these plots yielded a return value at $142,758. These lots are plowed by the city, the seed is furnished by the youngsters at one cent per package, the work supervised by a competent corps of instructors and inspectors, and at the end of the season the boys and girls are given prizes for their work. Not only are they taught constructive effort, but they get health, all the vegetables they raise and are inspired to best effort by being compensated for their work.

Through Dayton's free legal aid bureau many persons are given counsel and advice, and problems adjudicated. This bureau has dissipated the many contentions between landlord and tenant. In addition, loan sharks have been put completely out of business and installment houses have adopted the wise policy of dealing fairly with customers.

Dayton in 1913 had one acre of park space for each 5,886 people. Today, through purchase and gift, it has one acre of recreational territory for each 75 people. The city has 17 supervised playgrounds and the cost of maintenance is just two cents per child per play day. Dayton shows, in human terms, rather than in financial statistics, what good government means.

What Dayton has enjoyed, and still enjoys, may be the proportionate lot of this city, if the people definitely express the wish. This may be ultimately realized through the enactment of the law which will permit of the naming of a commission, which will appoint a competent manager, and thus abandon the laissez faire policy and assume responsibility for trying to make this a nice place in which to live.
