PACIFIC BATTLESHIPS PERFORM MANEUVERS BEHIND SMOKE SCREEN

(By Associated Press)
ABOARD U. S. S. MISSISSIPPI, Pacific fleet drill grounds, Dec. 1.—All vessels participating in the maneuvers of the Pacific fleet here yesterday were sunk at least six times, but as the firing, consisting of harmless, special calibre one-pounder blanks arranged on the larger guns, Admiral Rodman will be enabled to bring the seven dreadnaughts, eighteen destroyers and cruiser Birmingham into port barring future unseen occurrences.

Captain William A. Moffit of the Mississippi explained that the maneuvers were technically known as torpedo defense, but to the "land lubber" correspondent, it seemed as if the destroyers were bent on seeing how close they could come to the dreadnaughts without colliding. Hidden behind smoke screens, darting in and out through the dreadnaughts' formation they crossed bows and shot across sterns, avoiding collisions seemingly by inches and after a momentary pause, wheeled and thundered back again so fast that the ocean seemed to be filled with rushing greyhounds.

Meanwhile the dreadnaughts' special 6.1 inch guns poured one pounder, amidst exultant shouts of the crew telling of the "sinking of another enemy." Muscles of evil looking bull dogs, fourteen inch guns swung back and forth in the turrets following the movements of these destroyers, but not firing. A dark grey, sultry sky and a heavy sea was the weather for the maneuvers. The battleship Mississippi rolled more than any time since its commissioning, in 1918, according to its officers.

will be elaborate in all details. Following this will be an hour of special entertainment from 8 to 9 p. m. The evening will be concluded with a dance beginning at 9 p. m. for all the Kiwanians.

According to the program committee the decorations, music and entertainment will be the best available in any manner and a royal good time is predicted. Samuel B. Garton is chairman of the committee in charge.

Earlham Club to Entertain

Thursday's meeting this week will have several attractive features. Probably the greatest among these will be the musical entertainment which will be given by the Madrigal club of Earlham college which is composed of 30 co-eds, who will sing several numbers. Reports from the captains of the teams which worked in the alley-cleaning campaign will be made, telling all about the progress made and submitting their reports which will be turned over to the city health board.

The candidates for officers in the club will be submitted at the meeting Thursday and the election take place two weeks later. The nominating committee which has been preparing the tickets have two men for each office. The officers now holding sway were only elected to fill out the present year, and will surrender the positions the first meeting in 1921.

Harding's Boat Encounters Rough Weather; On Return

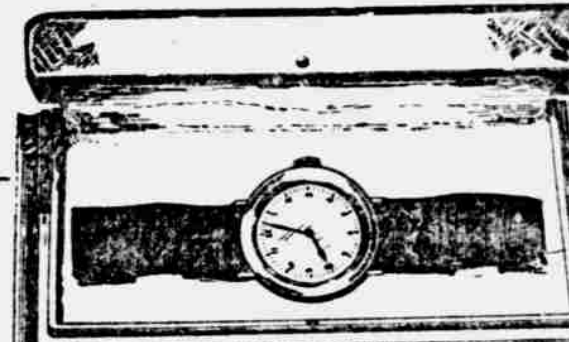

ON BOARD STEAMSHIP PASTOR (by wireless) Dec. 1.—More rough weather greeted Senator Harding and his vacation party today as the Pastors continued the homeward journey featured yesterday by a brief stop at Jamaica.

Soon after the steamer left Port Antonio harbor last night she ran into a storm, which, although not of dangerous intensity, made travel unpleasant for most of those on board. Mrs. Harding was again today one of those who remained in their state rooms, although she said she was feeling much better after the short stop ashore yesterday. Senator Harding proved himself the better sailor by keeping on deck most of the day yesterday. The Pastors rounded the eastern tip of Cuba this morning and headed due north for Norfolk.
