American Food Their Only Hope

This Polish mother, waiting at one of the kitchens of the American Relief Administration European Children's Fund in Warsaw, is typical in her suffering and needs. She has nothing but black bread made from bark and straw to give her babies. Her boys of fourteen and sixteen followed their father to fight the Bolsheviks. In Eastern Poland there are families worse off than hers, living in dugouts, sometimes ten families in one. Not a shack of any kind has been left standing in many areas invaded by hordes of Bolsheviks.

The Americans keep child-feeding stations going here. A million Polish boys and girls depend on them for existence. Austria, Czechoslovakia, and the Baltic States contribute another million and a half who must be fed if this generation is to have a chance. The European Children's Fund, under the chairmanship of Herbert Hoover, has undertaken that obligation and will continue it if the American people take it on financially. Twenty-three million American dollars will save two and a half million European children from starving to death.

meetings. At these meetings varied programs in French, Spanish, Italian, and Polish were presented. Membership in the Spanish Club has gradually risen until it now consists of about fifty members. The club will give a social Saturday night at the college. The work of the club is under the supervision of Miss Thomas, instructor in Spanish.
