WINCHESTER, Ind., Dec. 9.—The schools of Union City were closed Friday afternoon, by order of Dr. Hurt, of the Indiana State Board of Health. On account of smallpox, Dr. Fred Ruby, secretary of the Union City Board of Health, ordered a general vaccination of the pupils of the city schools and St. Mary's Catholic school. St. Mary's Catholic school complied with the request, as did all, except 74 pupils of the public schools and these were permitted to continue in their attendance by the City Board of Education. Dr. Ruby communicated with Dr. Hurt and was told he at once ordered the schools closed. The schoolhouse burned two years ago, and since that time they have had school in the city library basement and the different churches.

The Theatres

MURRETTE

Diplomat, war hero and actor perhaps the most distinguished member of Wanda Hawley's supporting company in her latest release is F. Temple Powell. Mr. Powell plays the important role of Martinot in "Her beloved Villain," the hilarious French farce in which Miss Hawley is playing at the Murrette theatre today.

When the war broke out Mr. Powell was already a famous actor on the English stage. Besides his stage affiliations he was a member of the London Film company, the first strictly British producing concern.

Having seen previous service with the British army in the South African wars, Mr. Powell received his commission on Kitchener's first call.

After being wounded in action on three occasions his condition became such that retirement was necessary.

About that time President Wilson suggested that a British mission of fifty British officers to help in America, spread allied propaganda, suppress strikes, etc. Mr. Powell was appointed by his government as a member of that group. After months of excellent service he returned to England after the armistice and again joined the London Film company. America's fascination lingered, however, and it was not long before he returned to the United States with the idea of permanently attaching himself to Hollywood's motion picture colony.

MURRAY

One of the greatest questions which still baffle the thinking men and women of this age is asked in "The Inner Voice," the photoplay starring E. K. Lincoln, which is to be the banner attraction at the Murray theatre for four days, beginning Thursday.

The story of this remarkable photoplay which is considered by critics to be among the greatest film productions ever made, bases this main premise upon the much discussed question whether a man or woman can experience the full measure of human happiness unless their lives have been consecrated to the service of some loved one.

In the answering of this question, the photo-playwright responsible for "The Inner Voice" has constructed a powerful dramatic spectacle, the background of which extends from the wild and rugged mining regions of the northwest to the capital of America finance in Wall street.
