

COUNTRY GENTLEMAN LIFE FOR WILHELM IS COSTLY TO GERMANY

DOORN, Holland, Dec. 10.—Revelations in the Prussian state legislature at Berlin of the sums of money which the former German emperor has been permitted to draw from Germany during the past two years, together with the announcement that the Dutch government will tax him for an annual income of 1,300,000 guilders, have caused the burghers of Doorn to speculate as to what he will do with this money. (Nominally a guilder is worth 40 cents.)

From Germany, the former emperor is said to have drawn 1,000,000 guilders, equivalent at present rates of exchange to 11,338,000 German marks; also the proceeds of the sale of some of his property in the Wilhelmstrasse, said to be 40,000,000 marks. Besides all this income, the Prussian government has contributed additionally to the furnishing of his new home at Doorn.

Keeps 50 Servants.
For a long time William complained of being financially embarrassed. Now, however, according to the people of Doorn, he appears to be living in high style.

Not counting his marshal, General von Gontard and other members of his immediate suite, approximately 50 servants are now employed to keep up the house of Doorn. This does not include the workmen who are still engaged in various repairs about the house and grounds.

There are 24 charwomen, who are kept busy polishing the floors, brasswork and otherwise keeping the castle up to the standard of old German cleanliness demanded by the former empress, Augusta Victoria. They receive the equivalent of about a dollar a day.

Six Cooks Employed.
In all, William now employs six cooks, who include a chef and an assistant living at the castle and four women who come in to work by the day. There are also a number of gardeners and personal servants.

REVIVE SHIP SERVICE.
(By Associated Press)

RIGA, LATVIA, Dec. 10.—American shipping agents have recently visited Riga and say it is likely that regular sailings of American ships between America and the Baltic ports will be inaugurated providing passenger as well as freight service. Reval, Riga, Libau, Memel and Dantzic have become centers from which the large Jewish emigration from Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia is moving, or preparing to move toward America. Since the war only one American merchant ship, the Wheeling Mold, has visited the port of Riga. It carried chiefly Red Cross and relief supplies and called at most of the important Baltic ports.

A leading British shipbuilder, in commenting on the efficiency of women in industry, says: "If the war had lasted another two years I would have undertaken to build a dreadnaught with female labor."

COOKED BREAKFAST SWEEPED THE HOUSE FIRST TIME IN YEAR

Richmond Lady Shows Marked Improvement; Stomach Trouble Had Made Her an Invalid.

The New Root and Herb Medicine Decco, Causing Much Talk Since Its Introduction in Alabama.

"I prepared breakfast for the family yesterday, then cleaned up everything and swept the house, which is the first time I've been able to do such a thing in years," declared Mrs. Ord's Speed, living on Greenmont Ave., Richmond, Ind.

"I have suffered from a bad stomach trouble. No matter how careful I was about my food, it disagreed with me, and gas bloated me up; aching pains would strike me in my lower bowels, and I felt like there was a big lump in my throat which I could neither swallow or spit out. I was badly constipated and had to take some kind of medicine every night for the trouble. It wasn't long until my kidneys began to bother me and I had awful backaches. Although I have taken much medicine, none seemed to fit my particular case."

"Every day I read in the papers about what Decco was doing for people, suffering exactly like myself, so I got my husband to buy a bottle for me, and I believe the first dose helped me, for my stomach seemed to feel so much easier. I took it regularly by directions, and today I hardly recognize my own self, for I feel so much better. The constipation is entirely relieved, I never have a backache; my appetite is good and I eat anything I want, and never have the gas nor pains in my stomach. My nerves are quieted and I sleep fine, and am gaining back my weight every day. There is nothing too good for me to say about Decco."

Decco is now sold by all good druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Richmond by Clem Thistlethwaite's seven drug

WASHINGTON
Jack Pickford says he loves his part in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," his first Goldwyn Picture.

"Previously," says the youthful star, "I have most often played the part of a very young society chap. I have had to go through the actions of a greenhorn boy, having his first social fling, and I am always getting into uncomfortable situations and scraps which will make the audience laugh at me as well as with me."

In this John Fox book "The Shepherd of Kingdom Come" I think the entire audience will be in sympathy with the lovable character of the mountain boy, Chad. He is a modest, sensitive, yet valiant little figure and his struggles in adapting himself to the smart folk he meets at the home of Major Buford (James Neill) bring out his very heart. I think the dual love interest, too, brings a suitable romance to this character, for it is natural that he should be attracted to the little mountain wail, Melissa (Pauline Starke) as well as to the beautiful and well bred Margaret Dean Clara Horton).

As a particularly fond of outdoor life and I feel very natural in the part of Chad because he was typically an outdoor sort of youth."

MURRAY
To a woman, Elaine Sterne, goes the honor of having written the most notable photoplay of the year.

In "The Inner Voice," which has as its star, E. K. Lincoln, Miss Sterne has presented to the picture loving public of America, a dramatic study of a man who was crushed to destruction by his enemies, only to rise up again and vindicate himself before the eyes of the world.

Miss Sterne, in writing of "The Inner Voice," which by the way will be presented for the first time at the Murray Theatre, evidently received her inspiration for the writing of this remarkable photoplay from careful observation of life. The technique which she employed in building up the dramatic situations of her story is almost flawless.

Before taking up the work of photoplay writing, she prepared herself for her life's work by making a careful and thorough study of the technical methods of the greatest dramatists since the days of Euripides, the ancient Greek playwright, whose works even though written over 3,000 years ago, are still performed, because in

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so that you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. MURRAY VAUDEVILLE

Poor vaudeville seems to be leaving the Richmond vaudeville stage as surely as the peaceful and normal days prior to 1914 have gone never to return. Vaudeville enthusiasts have Manager Frank Holland, of the Murray, to thank for this truism. All of his old bookings are gradually running out, and a newer, better age of vaudeville is dawning in Richmond.

A revue matching any that has been seen locally was offered by the headliner, "Patches." The act was presented by two pretty girls and two clever young men. Everyone, men and women alike, were visibly surprised and pleased with the elaborate costumes. And the songs, a few more such things come in for a full round of commendation. Nothing so greatly helps any act. Good musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental, assured the success of the act. This offering from Will Harris was even better than the "Rainbow Cocktail," given last week at the theatre. A few more such splendid revues and the local public will become thoroughly educated to high class acts.

Marcus and Booth, "two real comedians" they are advertised, and two real comedians they are. "She's the Only Girl That Made Me Cry" was the title of their singing numbers. Exceptionally good dancing was also presented by one of the two. Their comedy was good.

Renie and Florence, two clever girls who are easily distinguished from each other by the avoirdupois of one, and the lack of the same quantity on the other, gave the audience a real treat. They could not sing exceptionally well, nor the dancer perform very artistically, but somehow—they make you enjoy their act just the same. It proved they were versatile. An imitation of Ted Lewis, the jazz king, given as an encore, was above reasonable expectations.

Adonis and company, the first act of the bill, proved a good one of its kind. Adonis did the work, but the "Company," a very versatile "pup," held the focus of attention by his ability to light on his rear "props" with a dignity highly esteemed and amusing. A feature photoplay, "The Inner Voice," starring E. K. Lincoln, completed the bill.

Quit Meat When Kidneys Bother

Take a glass of Salts if your Back Hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

There were two unwritten laws of the great early west that men broke only at their peril.

One was to swing a cold deck into a game of cards, the other to hold up the Sacramento stage. "On The Level" Leigh was the Squeezed Gambler in the California of '49, but when he found himself tricked and his stake gone, at a woman's hand and a little sister crying for help—he put the black mask over his eyes and took the desperate chance, well knowing that Justice hung at the end of a rope.
