

"CLEAN-UP" OF MUNCIE EXPECTED TO REVEAL ALL KINDS OF VICE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 14.—Charles P. Tighe, special agent in charge of the Indianapolis headquarters of the United States Department of Justice, declared Monday that with the convening of the federal grand jury this morning, the final "clean-up" of Muncie will begin. Forty witnesses from Muncie have been summoned to appear before the grand jury today and it is understood that the investigation of alleged federal violations in Muncie will occupy the remainder of the week. Mr. Tighe said that the cases are not restricted to a view of the Volstead act, but include violations of the Mann act and election frauds.

Press dispatches from Muncie indicate that officials of a number of business houses are implicated in the investigation. It is said that the reported violations include the supervision of the sale of some Muncie concerns. According to the press dispatch, 134 subpoenas were served there last week by federal officials. It is known that J. P. Gavin and C. E. Whicker, deputy United States marshals, served more than 100 subpoenas recently.

"Fifth Men" at Muncie
"I expect never to have to return to Muncie after this session of the grand jury," said Mr. Tighe in discussing the situation there. "If one-half of the reports we have heard are true, and we can obtain a sufficient number of witnesses to corroborate them, the investigation certainly will reveal a filthy mess."

"Probably the greater part of my investigations in Muncie have dealt with violations of the prohibition law, despite the fact that there has been created a special department to supervise the enforcement of the Volstead act. The Department of Justice should not be called upon to deal with violators of prohibition and the headquarters at Washington is not willing to continue the work of another department."

"By special permission from Washington we were assigned to investigate alleged liquor law violations at Muncie and Logansport, but I do not feel that such investigations should be forced upon our shoulders."

Probe Kokomo Party
Federal agents yesterday left Indianapolis for Kokomo, Ind., where they will investigate the alleged liquor violations at a banquet given at the Kokomo Country club. It is said that the investigation would include alleged failure of local authorities of Howard county and Elie Stansbury, attorney-general for Indiana, to prosecute the persons guilty of violation of the prohibition law.

Officers of the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana were criticised by District Attorney VanNuis for having taken no steps toward the prosecution. The Rev. E. S. Shumaker is superintendent of the league. S. P. McNaught, law enforcement attorney for the Anti-Saloon League, last Wednesday presented evidence to Mr. VanNuis, which was said to contain sufficient information to aid federal authorities in prosecution.

CHICAGO MAY LOSE ART STUDIO DISTRICT

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Chicago may lose its art colony as the result of the recent sale of the Lambert Tree Studio building to Medina Temple, which plans to build the largest Masonic temple in the world on the site. The Tree studio building was erected by the late Lambert Tree as a home for artists, and about it has grown up an extensive art colony. Many of the painters and sculptors in the studio building have lived there for from fifteen to 25 years. They are planning to remove to New York, unless another suitable home can be found here for the colony.

Chicago's art center occupies a favored district on the near north side, just above the loop district. At one end it rubs elbows with the warehouse district bordering the Chicago river, and 10 blocks north reaches the opposite extreme, mingling with the brownstone mansions and tall apartment houses of the "Gold Coast." On the east is Lake Michigan, with a bathing beach conveniently located, and on the west is Clark street, the highway of pawn shops, theatrical hotels, and in the near past, cabarets.

Within this district live several hundred artists, musicians, writers and students. The commercialized bohemia of New York's Greenwich village is missing, for most of the members of the colony are earnest workers, and few posers are to be found.

Toledo, O., has a union depot for motor trucks.

School Buildings Are Old

Half of the 11 public school buildings of Richmond were built 35 years ago. Considering their constant use, these buildings are in fairly good condition, but because of the great advance that has been made in school house construction and the increasing demands made on schools by the widening range of activities the buildings are, with the exception of the new part of the Senior High school and Joseph Moore school, behind the times.

DEVOTION TO KING BRINGS RECOGNITION TO ALEXANDER'S WIFE

(By Associated Press)
ATHENS, Dec. 14.—The devotion shown by Mme. Aspasia Manos, wife of the late King Alexander of Greece, to him during his fatal illness resulting from the bite of a monkey, has created so profound an impression upon the Greeks that even those who heretofore had spared no effort to separate her from the king, have today nothing but good to say about her.

For four weeks during which the king fought for life against blood poison, his wife obtained no rest except when exhaustion compelled her to take a little sleep. The ordeal she underwent was all the more trying because of her own state of health, since she is to become a mother. Heretofore King Alexander's marriage had not been considered in some governmental quarters to be valid because it had been solemnized secretly and without fulfillment of certain formalities. Since the death of the king, the government has been so moved by the devotion of his widow that it has discovered a law by virtue of which Mme. Manos is recognized as having been the king's legal wife.

May Receive Pension
This was regarded here as excluding the possibility of raising difficulties in connection with her inheritance of the late king's personal estate. It is also understood that the government will lay a bill before the next Parliament for the payment of a pension to Mme. Manos.

Aspasia Manos belonged to the Greek Phamariote aristocracy but was not of royal blood. She was a beautiful girl and the young prince fell in love with her. When King Constantine abdicated and Alexander was called to the throne, he laid down as a condition of acceptance that he should be allowed to marry the girl to whom he had pledged his word.

Respect Prince's Wish
The government appeared to respect the prince's sentiments but has been charged with having endeavored by every means to bring about a rupture between the two and even went to the extent of expelling her from Greece after the king had secretly married her.

King Alexander, however, not only brought his bride back to Greece but insisted and obtained permission for her to live in the royal palace. An anomalous situation ensued but the king was quite happy and little did he worry about what the people thought or said about his wife.
Since the death of King Alexander the Greek courts have declared valid his marriage to Mme. Manos, dismissed the opposition of the former King Constantine and ruled that she shall inherit Alexander's personal property, which had been claimed by Constantine. The high courts also decided that her expected child will become the heir to Alexander's estate.

IRIGOGAN DIRECTED GOVERNMENT POLICY

(By Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 14.—President Irigoyen personally directed the course of the Argentine delegation at Geneva which resulted in its withdrawal from the assembly of the league of nations, says La Epoca, the government organ, in an editorial praising the attitude of Argentina relative to the league. "Documents relating to the withdrawal of the Argentine delegation," says the newspaper, "show something that has not been an entire mystery—that the Argentine foreign policy especially since the war has been personally directed by the nation's chief magistrate. Understanding its immense importance for the country, he has delegated to no one the direction of the nation's foreign affairs. Only President Irigoyen could have had the strength to say 'no' when forty-three nations said 'yes' knowing that 'no' like the ark of Noah in the flood, made safe the ideals of humanity."
