

EXPERTS TO OVERSEE FEDERAL ROAD WORK; AGENCIES COOPERATE

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Co-ordination of all agencies interested in highway construction to avoid overlapping of efforts and provide a centralized body for research has been undertaken by the Engineering Foundation with headquarters in this city. Bureaus of the federal government, various technical organizations and universities are expected to join the movement, it was announced here today.

An advisory board of highway research has been organized under the chairmanship of Prof. Anson Marston of the Engineering school of the Iowa State college which will work through the National Research Council. The various co-operating organizations and institutions will name members to this board. The result of the various activities will be made available to highway builders throughout the country.

Work of the board, it is expected, will begin at an early date. Effort will be made to obtain from congress a definite assignment of part of the unexpended balance of federal-aid road money to some agency which will administer the fund under direction of the board.

Guide Expenditure.
A statement issued by a Foundation said that nearly $1,000,000 annually is to be expended for highways throughout the nation and that this money could be spent to better advantage following careful research by experts.

Organizations, governmental agencies, and institutions which have promised co-operation follow: American Association of State Highway Officials; American Society of Testing Materials; Society of Automotive Engineers; Bureau of Public Roads; National Automobile Chamber of Commerce; American Society of Civil Engineers; American Institute of Consulting Engineers; American Society of Mechanical Engineers; Association of State Geologists; Western Society of Engineers; American Concrete Institute; American Automobile Association and the engineering departments of Harvard, Yale and Columbia universities; University of Maryland; University of Illinois and Iowa State college.

Old Pacing Champion Is Dead at Nashville

(By Associated Press.)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 14.—John R. Gentry, 2,000, once pacing champion of the world, is dead of old age. Had the horse lived until Jan. 1, he would have been 32 years old.

John R. Gentry, for many years known as "the little red horse," was owned by the E. H. Harriman estate and had spent his last years in luxurious quarters at the Tennessee state fair grounds. He was sired by Ashland Wilkes and his dam was by Wedgewood. He set his record at Portland, Me., Sept. 4, 1896.

PERK ASKS REDUCTION IN GAS PLANT VALUE

The fact that the Richmond Light, Heat and Power company has submitted to a taxable valuation of approximately $800,000 for the coming year was brought out at the final argument in the rate hearing on a petition by the company for an increase in rates before the Indiana Public Service commission in Indianapolis Monday.

Increased prices and numerous improvements were outlined by the company's attorneys and accountants to show that the value of the equipment and real estate had been greatly enlarged, it was stated. The company is petitioning for a revaluation of the plant to allow an increase in rates to insure a larger return on their investment in the next year.

Benjamin Perk, city accountant, contended that certain deductions should be made from the company's reports which would bring their valuation to $555,000. The income from last year would show, according to this, about a seven percent return on the investment. The company held that their return was about four percent.

The decision of the commission is expected before the end of this month. If an increase should be made it probably would go into effect the first of the year.

MINOR PLAYS CARDS; WALTER ENGLE FINED

Walter Engle, owner of a cigar store at 828 Main street, appeared before Mayor Zimmerman in city court Tuesday, charged with allowing a minor to play cards and loaf in his store. Jonathon Shurley, 14 years old, appearing as witness, testified that he was in the store and played cards Saturday evening.

Mr. Engle said he had always made it a point to prevent minors from playing in his establishment and that his clerks had been ordered to ask all minors to leave. He said, that owing to the crowd which is in the store on Saturday nights, it was probable that the boy was there, although he knew nothing of it until Monday evening. He was fined $5 and costs and the court warned the boy to stay away from card rooms until he is 21 years old.
