

TECHNISCHE NOTHILFE AIDS GERMANY IN FIGHTING STRIKE EVIL

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The back-bone of the German government today is the Technische Nothilfe, a technical emergency aid association supported by the government. Dr. Alex Berwit, one of the leaders of that organization in Berlin told the correspondent of The Associated Press the other day. Dr. Berwit's statement was made as the "alarm" went out for the Technische Nothilfe to mobilize to take charge of the electric lighting plants here, left idle by a sudden strike. He considers his organization more potent than troops or police for the welfare of his country.

"Two or three hundred irresponsible radicals can terrorize 4,000,000 people," the doctor said. "Troops cannot prevent it; the electric lighting plants are dark, the streets are dark, the trams are still—and what can soldiers do? They cannot operate these plants, which require highly skilled labor. There is only one organization that can assume control and that is the Technische Nothilfe."

The Technische Nothilfe went in and began firing the furnaces and then the strikers voted to return to work. The Technische Nothilfe moved out.

Not Strike-Breakers.
"We are skilled workmen, not strike-breakers, nor labor union men," we really are the representatives of a public that in these days is more or less at the mercy of a few agitators," said Dr. Berwit. "We never interfere in a strike for wages; all we do is step in and operate public utilities, prevent sabotage, and furnish the people just the bare necessities of a daily existence. We step into the breach when chaos threatens."

In Berlin it is understood the Technische Nothilfe has 10,000 men enrolled for immediate service. They are carefully recruited from every business and listed so that there can be no confusion. Arrangements have been made whereby they can drop the work they are doing and answer the Technische Nothilfe's call. "All Germany is as carefully organized as Berlin," Dr. Berwit declared.

Kidnapping of Rich Jews Continues in Budapest

(By Associated Press)
BUDAPEST, Dec. 20.—Mysterious kidnapping of rich Jews continue here and the police seem unable to end it or to detect the criminals.

Recently three wine merchants who had gone to the country disappeared. The police followed their traces to the lake Balaton, where the water washed ashore a boat in which the hats of the merchants were found. All further trace was lost and their fate is still unknown, although there is every indication of murder.

The case of Jacob Reissman, a rich piano manufacturer, belongs to the same category. Reissman was carried away from his home in Budapest by three men who pretended to be detectives of the military police. Reissman vanished and with him the contents of his safe. It is considered certain that the unfortunate manufacturer was robbed and killed although neither the perpetrators nor the body of the victim were found.

AIR PASSENGERS.
(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Dec. 20.—British and French companies conducting the London-Paris air service carried from September 2, 1919 to October 30, 1920, 3,923 passengers, 199,885 pounds weight of goods and covered altogether a distance of 302,000 miles.

Sidenstricker, Greenville Traveling Salesman, Had Narrow Escape From Death

GREENVILLE, O., Dec. 20.—R. J. Sidenstricker, traveling man residing in this city had a narrow escape from death at the Vine street crossing of the Cincinnati Northern railroad. Sidenstricker was driving west on Vine street just at the time the Cincinnati Northern passenger train, due here at 8:30 from the North, was approaching the crossing. He applied the brakes of his Ford touring car, but on account of the slippery condition of the street, he saw that he could not stop in time to keep from being hit by the train. With presence of mind, he turned the car to the right and the rear end of the machine skidded around and side-swipped the drivers on the engine. When he stopped the machine it was within about five feet of going over the steep stone abutment into Mud Creek.
