

PROGRESS IN CHINA IS THEME OF ADDRESS DELIVERED BY WAUNG

Members of St. Paul's Episcopal church were taken, in spirit, through China Wednesday evening, when they heard a lecture by Aug Chung Waung, Chinese student, who recently arrived at Earlham from his home overseas. Waung has finished his education here and he spoke at the church at the invitation of the local vestry, following one of the regular meetings of the vestry and congregation.

Emphasizing the excellent feeling of the Chinese people toward America, he brought out the fact that most of the modern education in China is conducted under the leadership of American missions. In his address before the church members, he told of the work that is being done by the Episcopal church in China, of the establishment of a hospital and schools there by that denomination, and the resultant good feeling that has been engendered toward America.

Friendly to America.
The Chinese people feels that America is their friend, said Waung in an interview before his lecture. "They have a well defined national feeling and they are well enough acquainted with the various nations to know that in case of need they have America to help them."

Questioned as to whether or not the Shantung incident at the peace conference had affected the feeling of the people toward America he said:

"We know America is our friend but we know also that she labors under difficulties at times."

Religion Delays Progress.
That the Chinese people are bound hand and foot by the Buddhist religion was the statement made by the lecturer during the course of his talk. "Travel, building and many other activities are decided by lottery which is supposed to be under the jurisdiction of the gods. That is what has held China back for generations," he said. At the close of his talk, Waung exhibited a series of pictures of Chinese scenes, one of which showed a section of the Great Wall of China, while others depicted scenes taken from the daily life of the people.

Endorsement of the Action.
The formation of a bishop's cabinet was also reported by the rector. The new body, membership of which is appointed by the bishop, will become effective at once. Women are included in its make-up, and it will have direct charge of missions, education and social service, thus centralizing this work which has been widely diffused heretofore.

The rector also reported the formation of the House of Churchwomen, delegates to which will be elected at the annual parish meeting. It is believed that this new body will serve to represent women more adequately than in the past.

Cattle, hogs, grain, farm machinery and household goods were sold also, at prices that made them well worth the money.

May Change Law.
The defeat in the house yesterday of the anti-nepotism section of the present appropriation law recalled that the law was enacted four years ago to "get" Bert Hendren. Bert Hendren's father Gilbert Hendren, of Bloomfield, was then chief examiner of the state board of accounts and Bert Hendren held a position as examiner under his father.

It is recalled that four years ago there was a lobby to get increased pay for the board of accounts examiners and it was said at the time that Bert Hendren was active in this movement. In fact, that he helped after the connection of the money to pay the expenses of the lobbying. The anti-nepotism section was put into the law to bring "grief" to the Hendren family. Both of the Hendrens were Democrats. If the appropriation bill goes through as passed by the senate yesterday there will be no prohibition on the employment of relatives in state offices, departments or institutions. Those who favor the elimination of this section of the law say the standard for employment should be efficiency and not relationship.

Suggest Liquor Changes.
Some amendments to the Dunn bill to make the Indiana liquor law the same in its provisions as the federal law were suggested yesterday to the senate committee on public morals by R. C. Minton, attorney for the Indiana anti-saloon league. Mr. Minton suggested the elimination of section one of the bill which in referring to what may not be sold uses the words "liquors capable of being used as a beverage." The present law uses the words "likely to be used as a beverage."

Urge Enforcement.
Among legislators there is considerable discussion as to the advisability of taking up any liquor question at this session of the legislature. It is known that some of the most conservative members of both houses believe that if any legislation at all along this line is undertaken it should be for the purpose of bringing about better enforcement of the present laws rather than making the present laws more strict.

years and have voted dry," said Senator McConaha, of Richmond, "but I have my serious doubts about agitating the liquor law question at this session. A proper enforcement of the laws we now have is the thing that is most needed." Several other senators and representatives voiced similar sentiments.

City Business Organization.
The city has ceased to be primarily a political unit, instead it is primarily a business organization. It is in this particular that the city manager form of government has its distinct advantage. It approaches the handling of city affairs from a business view point.

"In the old days when cities were small and their business needs were few, it was very well to have the city's executive a pompous individual who looked well in a plug hat, presided with dignity over the common council, and with the right hand of oratory thrust into the frock coat of statesmanship, profusely welcomed all visiting delegations; but now the city's needs demand a man who makes the management of a city his life work, just as much as does a plant manager for a factory."

Need Capable Man.
"There are men now being trained for this work, and they command salaries commensurate with their ability to deliver results to the cities who seek their services. Each city in Indiana should have the right to negotiate for the services of these experienced city managers. Under the bill as proposed, they will have this opportunity if the voters elect to use it, and on the other hand there is nothing to forbid the employment of home talent if there happens to be such a person fitted for the job."

May Remedy Defects.
"A strong point in favor of the city manager is the fact that he makes the management of the city his principal duty, not a side line. And in any city of considerable size in Indiana, particularly where that city owns one or more public utilities, there is much to absorb the time and the intelligence of a capable city manager."

Wholesome Effect.
"The mere fact that a change in city government is being made of this progressive form, I believe will have a wholesome effect, will stimulate interest in city affairs, and will tend to take city government out of partisan politics, a condition most desired."

"I am in full sympathy with the bill you are sponsoring, and I am writing you because of my inability to attend the public hearing on the subject. You may use my letter if you desire in any way that you think it may be of service."

Will R. Reller,
City Attorney.
