

AGNES HANSEL-HARTER IN FIRST APPEARANCE HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Of unusual musical interest is the concert which will be given at 8:00 o'clock next Thursday evening at the First Presbyterian church by Mrs. Agnes Hansel-Harter, contralto, and the Richmond trio.

Although Mrs. Harter has been living here some time, this will be her first appearance in public concert here. Her singing has been for the most part limited to private recitals and appearances in choruses since she has lived in this city.

While contralto soloist of the First Congregational church in Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Harter was ranked as one of the four greatest church contraltos of Chicago. She was constantly in demand for concert, oratorio, recital, and musical work, and was a member of the famous Dolly Varden quartette which gained wide popularity in its appearances.

In her numbers next Thursday evening her accompaniments will be played by her daughter, Geraldine Harter, an accomplished pianist.

The Richmond Trio, an instrumental organization, includes in its personnel, three well known musicians, Mildred Schalk, Mary Jones and Katherine Gates.

Tickets may be secured from Hart's Electric store or J. F. Hornaday's Hardware store. The program will be as follows:

Russian Group—Aria—Farewell Ye Hills (Maid of Orleans) (Tchaikovsky); A Song of India (from the Legend "Sadko") (Rimsky-Korsakov); "O Thou Billowy Harvest Field" (A. Tolstol) (Rachmaninoff).
Trio—Suite, Op. 35 (Parker); Minute Romance.

MAC KAYE WILL READ TO EARLHAM STUDENTS

Percy MacKaye, who is to appear at Earlham, Wednesday evening, Feb. 9, will read from his play "George Washington," according to word received from him this week. This is one of his more recent works and is said to be more than equal his other dramas.
Mr. MacKaye, with a doubt one of the most widely known poets and playwrights of modern times. The New York Sun has the following to say about him: "It cannot be too plainly or too positively said that in his own field Mr. MacKaye deserves a place among the leaders of his art in England and France." Other critics are just as generous in his praise and some are even more so.
In his poetry he is known as a "poet of American life, emotion and expression." Perhaps his best known volume of poems is "The Present Hour," which was published in 1914 and which contains many poems having as their subject scenes in the great war. He has also written many masques and some essays.
It is the plan of the MacKaye and Mantle to hold a reception for Mr. MacKaye in the high school art gallery Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, which the public is invited to attend. The reading in the evening will be held at 8 o'clock in Lindley hall.

MYSTERIOUS PROBLEM SOLVED BY WARDEN OF COLUMBUS PRISON

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5.—Calling to mind the village gossip, and how quickly news travels in a small town solved a worrisome, and apparently mysterious problem, affecting some 2,000 convicts, for Warden Preston E. Thomas, of the Ohio penitentiary here.

Secret and, to all appearances, mysterious means of communication between prisoners in penitentiaries and big corrections institutions cease to be puzzling when human nature is considered, in the opinion of Warden Thomas.

Noted Criminals Held.
When Thomas took charge of the big grey stone prison here, known for many criminal characters it has housed, including Morgan of Morgan's Raiders of Civil war times; Cassie Chadwick of more recent times, and lately "Red Shirt" Morgan and "Billy" Goldman, he was worried and puzzled at the apparently inexplicable way news of a confidential or quasi-secret nature quickly became known to the prisoners shut up in their cells.

"Prisoners are gossips, worse than any small town talker. They have nothing else to do. Their minds are working all the time. They like to talk, and whisper knowingly behind their closed hands. That's the answer," said Thomas.

Before he arrived at that conclusion, the warden continued, he had diligently and painstakingly probed theories of secret sign languages, unknown channels of communication, systems of tapping on cell doors, and even telephonic means.

"I was up against it, until I sheared the problem of all its mysteriousness, and stopped to think that there is only one way news travels in any large gathering by word of mouth," Thomas continued.

Guards and Officials Talk.
"Of course prisoners had to get the word some way. I investigated, and that found dishonest guards and even some officials to blame. They would drop a word here and there to prisoners, whom they wanted to impress upon that they were 'in the know' about life inside the prison walls. Suspicious, develops their minds to a remarkable degree. It makes inveterate gossips of them. They 'buzz, buzz,' worse than any old woman. Their minds are constantly tuned up to catch the slightest word affecting them. A word here, another there, and their minds, with nothing else to do, piece together a complete story. Sometimes they conjure right from scraps of conversation.

"Often times, I've told a guard, or official I suspected, a lie, concerning the prisoners. In every instance it would be known to practically every man in the penitentiary in a short time."

"The homily that walls have ears is true of a penitentiary. There's only one way to prevent prisoners from at least knowing a part of anything you might want to keep a secret. That is not to tell it to a soul."

ANTI-RED PROPAGANDA TAUGHT IN WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY COURSE

(By Associated Press)
RACINE, Wis., Feb. 5.—Believing that the only method of effectively combating Socialism, Bolshevism, I. W. W.-ism and the other revolutionary groups is by meeting them on their own grounds with "soap-box versus soap-box" and "soap-boxer versus soap-boxer," the Constitutional Defense League of Racine has established here the world's first Soap Box University. Students are being trained to meet the revolutionary agitator with all of his own weapons, and it is planned to turn out an alumnae of propagandists who will be able to counter every move of Socialist agitation by their knowledge of the Socialist "bag of tricks."

The university is the outgrowth of the experience of a group of ex-service men who formed the Constitutional Defense League more than a year ago in order to vigorously fight Socialism in Wisconsin. They say they realized at the beginning that much of the propaganda that has been waged in the past against Socialism has been wasted. For one thing, it hasn't reached the audience it was intended to reach; it hasn't been founded upon a knowledge of the psychology of the radicals.

Follow Socialists' Methods.
The Constitutional Defense League, under the leadership of Jack O'Brien, of this city, decided to try a new theory. They would imitate the Socialist methods. They would go out on the streets as soap-boxers, and give Americanism to the crowds instead of revolution. They would challenge the Socialists to debates on all occasions and hoist them before the public on their own fallacies.

Mr. O'Brien and his staff carried out the program. In Racine, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Manitowish, Wausau and other Wisconsin cities, he soon began to capture Socialist audiences.

But there was one difficulty which was increasingly evident to the league. And that was the lack of anti-revolutionary propagandists. The lack of men who understood the Socialist philosophy well enough to combat it on the soap-box.

To strengthen the university, Harold Lord Varney, magazine writer and lecturer, who was for many years a national leader in the I. W. W. and Socialist movement, has been engaged to have charge of the Correspondence School. The course is divided into twelve lessons and covers such subjects as the study of the American form of government and the Marxian economics and its loopholes.

LEGISLATORS PREPARE FOR INTENSIVE WORK

(By Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 5.—State legislators were having today what they expected to be their last week end vacation and most of them have quit the capitol for a visit home. With the session half gone both senate and house leaders expect to start to have charge of the Correspondence School. The course is divided into twelve lessons and covers such subjects as the study of the American form of government and the Marxian economics and its loopholes.

While all the important bills, including the administration measures, remain to be acted upon finally by one house or the other, indications today were that only one of these would be ready for consideration.

The American Legion bill permitting boxing contests in the state was scheduled for house action, but the senate had its calendar clean, with committee chairmen planning to have some bills today ready for consideration, to start next week's work.

ARGENTINE PAPERS CRITICIZE IGNORING OF GRAIN QUOTATIONS

(By Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 5.—Action by the Chicago Board of Trade in discontinuing the posting of Argentine grain quotations was criticized by the Argentine papers. The Argentine papers are still in progress with excellent interest, large attendance and conversions each night. Mr. and Mrs. Wetzel and son Clarence shipped their goods Friday to the southern part of the state where they will live this year. Mrs. Paul Oler called on her mother, Mrs. Will Channess, Thursday.

His daughter, Opal, is also very low with typhoid fever. Jack Cates continues very poorly. Mrs. Harlan Johnson spent Thursday with Mrs. Carl Johnson. Mr. Earl Adams of Lynn, called on his mother, Mrs. John Adams, Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Merl Swindle of Richmond, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Swindle and Mr. and Mrs. Sam McKissick.

Newspapers Criticize.
Newspapers of this city, however, denounce the action of the Chicago board, La Nación saying: "The explosion of Mr. Griffin was a gratuitous insult to our commerce. The attempt to disregard Argentine quotations is based on malinformation, both of the Argentine and world cereal market. Are the imperative economic laws of supply and demand not known in Chicago? By that law the level of values is spontaneously re-established by virtue of the liberty which rules in transaction, and which is reflected without delay in markets all over the world. The grain buying markets of Europe are not going to be ruled exclusively by prices in the United States markets, but European buyers before making purchases will study Argentine quotations and those in all other agricultural countries."

The Diario de Comercio, under the title of "Boycotted," pokes fun at the notion of the Chicago board, and says that North American grain houses will have to obtain quotations in any event.
