

CLASS SYSTEM IN RUSSIA EXTENDS TO RATIONING OF SOAP

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Feb. 21.—There is a class system in Russia more rigid than in what the Bolsheviks call the "capitalistic countries," and it even extends to the manner in which soap is rationed, says M. Schwartz, the San Francisco Socialist, who recently was released from prison in Moscow and sent with his dying wife to the Estonian border.

"Before I went to Russia and saw the Soviet government at close range, I believed Lenin and Trotsky were really trying to do away with the class system," said M. Schwartz, in telling many interesting details of his sojourn in the land of the Soviets, supplementing the statement which he made immediately upon his arrival here.

No Regard for Rights.
"I soon found out in Petrograd and Moscow and other Russian cities and villages that the class system under the Bolsheviks is more fixed than in the capitalist countries," he went on. "This system is administered with utter disregard for human rights and the teachings of modern civilization."

"Lenine and Trotsky and their associates at the top of the scheme enjoy the greatest luxury. There is plenty of food for the commissars, but the folks further down the scale are rationed according to their attitude toward the government."

"Even the soap is graded according to the class system. The commissars have good toilet soap. Slightly less desirable soap is given to their immediate subordinates and there are third and fourth grade soaps for those away from the Kremlin crowd. The fellow who gets the fourth grade soap must have a terrible time scrubbing up with it for it is about like pumice stone."

Workers are Hoodwinked.
"I can't see why laboring people the world over should support another kind of class government in Russia, a class government which is ruthless, brutal and unjust to a degree that would overthrow any set of rulers not supported by a gigantic army," said Mr. Schwartz. "My fellow workers in England and America have been hoodwinked, many of them, by such men as John Reed and other communists who didn't know the Russian language."

"I found the opposition to the government was universal. Men, women and children of all classes with whom I talked told me of the horror of the situation. And hear in mind that these people talked at the peril of their lives. If I had repeated what they said to any official of the government they would probably have been shot. But their misery is so great they can't refrain from talking to a stranger."

Mr. Schwartz was born in Germany, but was taken to Russia by his parents when he was still an infant and grew up in Odessa and Kiev. He attended a Russian university and became an officer in the old army. When about 27 years old he went to America, where he became a citizen and has lived for 27 years. He first worked in America as a street railway employee and then became a labor organizer.
