

ART ASSOCIATION INVITED TO VISIT CAPITAL'S ARTISTS

The Indiana Artists club has invited members of the Richmond Art association to be its guests in Indianapolis Saturday, March 12. Visits to the studios of several of Indiana's most prominent artists have been planned, including those of William Forsyth, Clifford Wheeler, and several studios in the Union Trust building. Among those located in the Union Trust building who have exhibited here recently are: Carl Graf, S. P. Baus, Mary Chilton Gray and Paul Hadley. Supper will be served to the guests at the artists' club and later the guests and their hostesses will visit the galleries in the John Herron Art Institute. Mrs. Myra Richards will speak on sculpture in the galleries that evening.

Twenty-two members of the Indiana Artists club spent a day visiting in Richmond last fall. Members of the club travel over the state and are noted for their hospitality and gatherings held in Indianapolis, their headquarters.

Urgent Notification.

Art association members of this city who wish to accept the invitation of the Artists' club are asked to notify Mrs. M. F. Johnston by telephone or by letter not later than Tuesday morning.

The invitation, which has just been received follows:

"The Indiana Artists club wishes to have the members of the Richmond Art association as its guests Saturday afternoon and evening, March 12, for the Indiana exhibition at the John Herron Art Institute. We would like to have you arrive in the city about 2 o'clock leaving the interurban car at Irvington to visit the studios of Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Forsyth. From their studios we will come down to the studios on the fifth floor of the Union Trust building. At 5:30 a picnic supper will be served in the club rooms of the school building of the Herron Art Institute. After supper we will visit the exhibition. Mrs. Myra Richards will speak on sculpture. We have endeavored to arrange the program so that all festivities will be over by 9:30 o'clock so that our out-of-town guests may be able to return home the same evening.

"I think I may say that we will be very happy if we can make you enjoy yourselves one-half as much as we did in Richmond."

Very sincerely yours,
"ELIZABETH E. HOUSER."
