

GREENVILLE CYCLONE SUFFERERS RETURN TENTS TO CHICAGO

A shipment of tents to the army quartermaster's department at Chicago was made yesterday by officials here. The tents were sent to Greenville a year ago at the time of the cyclone, for the relief of sufferers who were temporarily homeless. All but two of the tents were returned.

Farmer Assigns Debts.
Two assignments were made in this city yesterday for the benefit of creditors. The first was made by S. S. Landis, well known farmer and stock raiser of Gettysburg, who named George W. Mannix, of this city and Harry Myers, of Gettysburg, as his assignees. These two gentlemen qualified and gave bond in the sum of $10,000. The assignment was caused by four suits for money past due on notes, which were filed against him in common pleas court last week. Landis' debts are listed at $30,000, and his assets at between $18,000 and $20,000.

Sarah Landis, who is the mother of S. S. Landis, also made an assignment yesterday. She named Attorney Edwin C. Wright as assignee, who gave bond in the sum of $10,000. Mrs. Landis' assignment was hastened by the assignment made by her son, she having endorsed a number of his notes. Her assets and liabilities are the same, $5,500 each.

Leas Returns to Prison.
Jacob Leas, who was sentenced to a term in the Ohio penitentiary about four years ago on a charge of non-support was arrested in this city late Saturday night and taken back to that institution. Leas had been paroled some time ago, upon the condition that he support his minor children.

Browder Suit Settled.
The case of Grover T. Browder vs. John Hofacker, for $295, claimed to be due as commission on a farm sold, which was to have come up in common pleas court before Judge Teegarden Tuesday, was settled out of court, and dismissed. Browder is to receive the sum of $200 and to pay the costs of the action, according to the terms of the settlement.

Sons of Veterans Meet.
The first meeting of the newly organized camp of the Sons of Veterans was held Monday night in the G. A. R. hall, with fifty members present. The question of renting a hall was taken up, and a proposition made by the G. A. R. in this respect was taken under advisement.

Files Second Divorce Suit.
Second suit for divorce against his wife, Susie Wells, has been filed in common pleas court here by Sylvester Wells, who alleges gross neglect and extreme cruelty. Wells and his wife were married in Miami county in 1911 and in 1918 they separated.

Corra Mildred DeGroot et al to Jessie Reed, lots 4 and 5, Ansonia, $1.
John P. Snyder to Leroy S. Beam et al, 59 acres, Brown Twp., $1.

E. B. Laberman to E. H. McEwen et al, 30 acres, Allen Twp., $5,000.
Jacob M. Witwer to Amos Miller, 8 acres Greenville Twp., $1.

Edward F. Jeffers to Albert Barton et al, 30 acres, York Twp., $1.
Etta Henkle Kester, guardian, to Jessie Henkle Herman, quit claim, 100 acres Greenville Twp., $1.

Jessie Henkle Herman to Samuel F. Ludy et al, quit claim to 100 acres, Greenville Twp., $1.
Albert McConnell et al to C. D. Hartzell et al, 40 acres, Greenville Twp., $2,200.

Albert Barton et al to Alice M. Dapora, 90 acres, York Twp., $16,000.
John E. Richards et al to Benjamin P. Richards et al, small tract, Liberty Twp., $2,500.

Clifford C. Fisher et al to J. Robert Hankins et al, 240 acres Jackson Twp., $62,500.
George Maloy et al to Martha Alice Miller, lot 234, Union City, $500.

Charley Oliver to T. A. Dickey et al, 50 acres, Brown Twp., $15,500.
Cornelius McGreevy to Cornelius Pourman, lot 15 and part lot 16, Greenville, $5,250.

William H. Willie to Eli Whit, 80 acres, Jackson, $12,000.
George W. Mannix, Jr., to John H. Young, 155 acres Wabash Twp., $20,000.

John N. Young to J. H. Feltman, 217 acres, Brown Twp., $1.
John H. Feltman to John N. Young, lots 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55 and 56, Ansonia.

John N. Young to Edwin C. Wright et al, lots 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55 and 56, Ansonia, $20,000.
Charles W. Schlecty to O. W. Schlecty, 53 acres, Harrison Twp., $1.

Lewis O. Mansfield et al to Etto Koonitz, lot 8, Glen Karn, $2,300.

Andy Asterman to Otto M. Ziegler, 50 acres, Washington Twp., $1.
Jacob D. Dick et al to A. W. Rich, lot 238, Union City, $1,216.
Ozra H. Byrne et al to Carl W. Chenoweth et al, two small tracts, Union City, $2,600.
Anna Rich to Dale C. Hime et al, lot 259, Union City, $2,100.
Harley W. North et al to Joseph H. Craig et al, lot 2045, Greenville, $1.
John T. Hiett et al to James H. Sayder et al, part lot 30 Union City, $2,500.
Orla S. Harris et al to Julia E. Schlorser, 126 acres, Harrison Twp., $7,500.

Edwin C. Wright to Oscar Hathaway et al, lots 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, Greenville, $1,700.
James M. Burg to O. M. Pearce, 62 acres, Liberty Twp., $1.

George A. Katzenberger et al to Lenna Dalzell, small tract, Greenville, $1,000.
Charles L. Furlong et al to David Cook, 25 acres, Greenville Twp., $7,000.

J. C. Riegel to Charles C. Mann et al, 92 acres, Brown Twp., $16,375.
Charles C. Mann et al to J. P. Snyder, 80 acres and strip Brown Twp., $1,600.

M'CRAY TO RETAIN ESCHBACH ON BOARD

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 17.—Governor McCray announces that he has entertained no thought of asking Jesse E. Eschbach to resign as state examiner of the state board of accounts. The announcement of the governor sets at rest the rumors that Mr. Eschbach was going to be deposed.

"I have no thought at this time of removing Mr. Eschbach," the governor said. "I am perfectly willing for him to remain in the service of the state and there is no disposition on my part at this time of asking for his resignation. Furthermore, I have never considered the selecting of another person to take his place."

Mr. Eschbach was appointed as state examiner June 6, 1919, for a period of four years. He succeeded Gilbert H. Hendren in this office. Foes of Eschbach have been circulating the report that the governor intended asking for his resignation when the changes are to be made in the state offices late this month or early in April.

Has Fine Record.
The state examiner, on the other hand, has many friends that approve of his successful record as head of the accounts board and have made it plain on several occasions that they desired his retention. On several occasions the members of the legislature during the session of the last assembly voiced their approval of the examiner and his work on the floor of the house. Tributes were paid to Mr. Eschbach especially during the consideration of the state budget bill in the lower house. Under the terms of this act the state examiner becomes the budget commissioner. Confidence that Eschbach would handle the budget system was given as the reason for voting for the measure by several of the members.

Indiana Brevities
LAPORTE.—Victor H. Kirk, newspaper reporter, will quit "chasing" news. Wednesday, Kirk received a telegram offering him $50,000 for holidays of land near Sapulpa, Oklahoma, which he was about to offer at tax sale. Oil prospectors have been making rich strikes near Kirk's acreage and in their offer expressed the belief that oil would be found on his holdings.

PRINCETON.—"This is the privilege capitalists can't deprive me of and that is killing myself. Goodbye." This note rudely scrawled in pencil was found near the scene of the box car fire last Thursday in which an unidentified man was burned to death. It was written on a leaf torn from a memorandum book and bore the address of Dr. Whitney, 422 South State street, Chicago. The crew is being investigated by county officials.

HONOR UNKNOWN SOLDIER
(By Associated Press)
LOURENCO MARQUEZ, East Africa, March 17.—The body of an unknown Portuguese soldier which will be buried in the Pantheon in Lisbon was sent to Capetown from this city yesterday and will be placed on board a ship for Lisbon on Friday. A squad of Portuguese soldiers brought the body from Nyassaland, where the soldier was killed during the war, and the governor general was present when the body was placed on the train. Military honors were accorded the soldier here.

Production of Wines Increases in France

WASHINGTON, March 17.—French wines last year exceeded by more than 177,000,000 gallons that country's supply in 1919, according to a report to the Department of Commerce today from Commercial Attache F. G. Singer, at Paris.

Production of wines in France in 1920, he said, amounted to about 1,400,000,000 gallons, as against 1,226,000,000 gallons the previous year, while the stock of wines in the country last year totalled approximately 38,600,000 gallons, as compared with 25,800,000 gallons in 1919.

DESTROY BOLSHIEVIST POWER IN ARMENIA

NEW YORK, March 17.—A successful counter revolution has occurred in Armenia and Bolshievisit invaders have been driven from power, said messages received here by the near east relief. The cables added that a new government had been set up in Erivan and now controlled a wide area of the country.

The Bolshievisit army surrendered and its officers were at once placed under guard, said one message, signed by Dr. Clarence D. Usher, representing the relief organization in Erivan, capital of Armenia. The cable added that the jails were at once cleared of prisoners incarcerated by the Bolshievisit authorities and a new ministry formed.

"Few excesses were committed," the cablegram read, "but country is in impoverished condition with urgent need for food and clothing. Relief continuing."

Other messages reporting overthrow of the Bolshievisit were received from M. Tabatjian, official Armenian representative in Constantinople.

YOUTH CONFESSES MURDERS TO OHIO OFFICERS IN WEST
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 17.—Sam Purpera, 17 years old, confessed to two Cleveland (O.) officers here, they said, that he had murdered George K. Fanner and Wilfred C. Sly, both officials of the W. W. Sly Manufacturing company in Cleveland, Dec. 31. Purpera was arrested here March 11.

"ONE-FOR-ALL" DYE
DON'T FOOL WOMEN
Wool and Silk need a Different Dye than Cotton, Linen, or Mixed Goods

Beware of "all purpose" dyes offered by some stores. Every woman knows why she must buy either the "Diamond Dye" for wool and silk, or the "Diamond Dye" for cotton, linen, and mixed goods. Wool and silk come from animal, while cotton comes from a plant; therefore no one dye will perfectly dye both materials. Buy "Diamond Dyes" only, then your garments or draperies will not streak, fade, or have that dyed look. Each package contains easy directions. Just tell druggist what material you intend to dye and what color you want.

—Advertisement.

Federal SYSTEM OF BAKERIES

Oliver Twist
will be with us again
Friday & Saturday

Did you meet him last time? If so, you'll have a chance to renew his acquaintance. If not, you've missed something.

Federal SYSTEM OF BAKERIES

Alice Sherfy Houston
Will Lecture on Um!...Um!
COOKIES!

Crispy bits of deliciousness to eat any hour of the day! Remember the old-fashioned cookie jar that one never found empty?

They're so easy to make, once you get "the hang" of it. Friday is Mrs. Houston's day to make cookies and other small cakes.

These Rumford lectures and demonstrations are held every day at 2 p. m. They are free to all—and a joy to the woman who loves to cook dainty things "daintily!"

Bring tiny dish to "taste" for yourself. And pad and pencil.

Romey's Downstairs House Furnishing Department
2:00 o'clock

Romey Furniture Co.
920-926 Main St.

Free Columbia Records
75 OF THEM—SEE OUR WINDOW
LAST WEEK OF THE "Talk of the Town" Columbia Record Sale, at 59c

Weisbrod's
BUY NOW! BUY MORE! LOOK AT OUR WINDOW

FAIR AND

(Continued from Page One)

tribute the burden universally, and which will be simply and easily collected instead of being complicated and irritating.

The majority of the leaders of the executive and legislative branches of government who have been in conference lately on the taxing problem have agreed, it is said, that the existing taxing system has been driving people with large incomes to invest as much as possible in tax-exempt securities, instead of furnishing capital for new business and general commercial and financial development; that, in particular, the excess profits tax has prevented the strengthening of business enterprises and the enlargement of business activities.

The advocates of a gross sales tax to take the place of the present taxing system have been very active for some time urging the adoption of this plan. It is understood, however, that those who will have charge of the new taxing legislation have not yet formulated their policy of taxing reforms.

Representative E. E. Denison of Illinois, one of the recognized Republican leaders in the lower house, opposes a return of the "patronage" system in the appointment of first, second and third class postmasters, who are now under the protection of the civil service by an order issued a few months ago by President Wilson. Representative Denison urges a modification of the Wilson order.

"The new order should provide for the appointment of postmasters by a civil service examination conducted along lines determined by the postoffice department, and those receiving the three highest grades should be certified by the examining board as eligible for the particular appointment," Denison's statement reads. "The postmaster general should be

Washington gossip.
The Hoover feud was an outgrowth of the food administration of war times. In the summer of 1918 the food administration, of which Mr. Hoover was director, in order to encourage farmers to concentrate on production of lard and bacon agreed to buy meat products for the allies on the basis of 13 bushels of corn to 100 of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in

restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

SAYS REVIVAL
(Continued from Page One.)

of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in

restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

SAYS REVIVAL
(Continued from Page One.)

of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in

restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

SAYS REVIVAL
(Continued from Page One.)

of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

given the discretion of nominating either one of the three eligibles who, in his judgment, is best qualified for the position. By giving the postmaster general an honest discretion in selecting any one of the three highest eligibles, there will be no need or occasion for cheating or evasion or refusing to comply with the spirit of the order.

Provides Merit System.
"This plan will put into operation the merit system in the selection of postmasters, and will result in greater efficiency in the postoffice department."

Representative Denison then adds frankly that the plan he proposes will save congressmen now in office from the embarrassment of making selections from the number of applicants who are now clamoring for the various postmasterhips in their districts. The adoption of his proposal, he argues, would save many congressmen from defeat or costly primary contests and, he believes, would result in the selection of a better class of men for postmasterhips, thereby improving the postal service and, in addition, "reflecting credit upon the Republican party."

Once sworn enemies Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Hoover are now close friends. After they had buried the feud, according to Washington gossip.

The Hoover feud was an outgrowth of the food administration of war times. In the summer of 1918 the food administration, of which Mr. Hoover was director, in order to encourage farmers to concentrate on production of lard and bacon agreed to buy meat products for the allies on the basis of 13 bushels of corn to 100 of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in

restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

SAYS REVIVAL
(Continued from Page One.)

of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in

restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

SAYS REVIVAL
(Continued from Page One.)

of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in

restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

SAYS REVIVAL
(Continued from Page One.)

of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

"I do not want to mislead anybody to think that the war finance corporation will try to cure the war or undo the destruction of war, but it can most effectively help conditions throughout the country, including agricultural conditions. The expression of a favorable attitude on the part of the government will in itself be a tremendous factor in

restoring the confidence of the people. "I think that orderly deflation consists in helping the orderly marketing of products. Everything is possible to people who want to do something. The first thing you need is to want to do it. This has to be done by people who see the situation in its serious nature and its grave proportion and who have faith in it and want to do it."

(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

SAYS REVIVAL
(Continued from Page One.)

of government bonds which are already too great, and that it is a step in the direction of inflation.

Mr. Meyers, on the other hand, claims that, truly seen, it will be a step in deflation. He says the way to deflate is not to freeze loans up in the banks, but to start things moving so that business men who have borrowed money on their products can sell those products and thus liquidate their loans.

Pleads For Chance.
In the plea Mr. Meyer made for a chance to show what he could do, he said, among other things:

"The way to decrease inflation is to move goods. The characteristic feature of the present business situation might be described as a congestion in the circulation of business."

pounds of live hog. This action met with the general approval of the farmers; then a few months later, came the armistice, and the arrangement was terminated, whereupon there was a heated row between the farming interests and the food administration. Mr. Wallace, in his farm papers, was in the forefront of the onslaught on Mr. Hoover, but all is now forgotten and forgiven.

Provides Merit System.
"This plan will put into operation the merit system in the selection of postmasters, and will result in greater efficiency in the postoffice department."

Representative Denison then adds frankly that the plan he proposes will save congressmen now in office from the embarrassment of making selections from the number of applicants who are now clamoring for the various postmasterhips in their districts. The adoption of his proposal, he argues, would save many congressmen from defeat or costly primary contests and, he believes, would result in the selection of a better class of men for postmasterhips, thereby improving the postal service and, in addition, "reflecting credit upon the Republican party."

Once sworn enemies Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Hoover are now close friends. After they had buried the feud, according to Washington gossip.

The Hoover feud was an outgrowth of the food administration of war times. In the summer of 1918 the food administration, of which Mr. Hoover was director, in order to encourage farmers to concentrate on production of lard and bacon agreed to buy meat products for the allies on the basis of 13 bushels of corn to 100