

FORMER SOLDIERS ARE SHOWING DESIRE FOR COUNTRY EMPLOYMENT

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 18.—There were 400,000 veterans of the world war out of work in the United States on March 1 last, according to an estimate received by the American Legion. This is a reduction of about 100,000 from the "peak" of more than 500,000 jobless ex-service men in the country shortly after Jan. 1, last and the legion reports state there is promise of further improvement.

The survey of the national situation on which these figures are based was made by the American Legion Weekly, official publication of the legion which states that the unemployment situation as affecting the veterans "appears to have taken a turn for the better."

Legion Agencies Help.
A chain of employment agencies operated by the legion in every state has done much to relieve the situation, say the legion officials. The legion has been instrumental in obtaining work for veterans, in discouraging the migration of unemployed men toward the great industrial centers and has encouraged a movement from cities to the farms. It has demanded that workers who left their positions to go to war should enjoy seniority rights on a par with those of military age who stayed at home.

Ex-service men have suffered more in proportion to their numbers than other workers, according to the Legion's survey, because of the operation of seniority rules and efficiency standards. Nearly a year is required for the returned veteran to get back to his old stride in industry, according to the testimony of large employers of labor. Another thing that has handicapped the ex-soldier is his restlessness and nomadic tendencies, both products of the strain and circumstances of war service.

Reopening of factories and mills in the textile regions of New England and in the mining and industrial centers of Pennsylvania leads observers in those parts to believe the worst is past, according to the legion's survey. The automobile centers of Detroit, Cleveland and Indianapolis report a slight improvement of conditions. In Chicago conditions are stationary it is said.

Prefer Open Country.

Throughout the agricultural middle west a general movement from the cities and towns of the farms is reported. The average ex-soldier had little taste for agriculture when he came back from the war. It was hard to keep them down on the farm after they had "seen Paris." They chose to work in the small factories or stores in the neighboring country seat, where, during 1919, jobs were plenty and wages high. When those jobs began to go there was at first an exodus toward the larger cities. The Legion strove to discourage this. That movement has about spent itself and farmers throughout the west now report little difficulty in getting help, and except in the larger cities there are few jobless ex-service men reported out of work in the middle west.

The south reports improvement. Dixie has been burdened with a larger quota of winter floaters than usual this year, according to reports. Some are now finding farm work in the south, others are drifting north, largely to settle on farms.

The Pacific coast, a land where there are the three great seasonal occupations of fishing, lumbering and fruit raising, has been able to decrease the number of jobless veterans by half in two months, according to advices from there. In Washington state there were 7,000 unemployed veterans on Jan. 1 and 2,000 on Feb. 1.

Drummer Doing His Bit

"I am a traveling salesman and have met others who, like myself, were suffering from indigestion, stomach trouble and gastritis. Since taking 3 weekly doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy I am very much pleased with its results, so much so that I have induced others to take it and they too were marvelously helped." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Clem Thistlethwaite's Seven Drug Stores, A. G. Luken & Co., and leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

FRANCE ENCOURAGES COMING OF VISITORS

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, March 18.—French regulations to facilitate visits of foreigners to France have been issued by the government. A distinction has been drawn between the citizens of allied countries and former enemy nations in these regulations.

In the past American or other allied visitors remaining in France for two weeks have been compelled to take out identification cards at the Prefecture of Police. Under the new plan such card will be required only if the visitor intends to stay two months. A French visa for the passports of Americans leaving a French port is no longer necessary.
