For the pleasure of Miss Annie Flatley, bride-elect of Frank Long, Miss Margaret Faucett and Miss Margaret Hiegar entertained with one of the prettiest miscellaneous showers of the week at the home of the former on South Sixth street Friday evening. Little Miss Marion Stevenson, representing a kewpie, seated in a small automobile decorated in white and yellow, presented the gifts to the bride-elect. She then led the guests into the dining room while a wedding march was played. The dining table was beautifully arranged with appointments carrying out the yellow and white color scheme. In the center of the table a kewpie bride standing in a French basket of yellow spring flowers held streamers of yellow satin ribbon which radiated to miniature kewpie brides at each place, which were favors. The table was lighted by yellow and white candles in crystal holders. Tiny yellow baskets of confections were at each cover. The ices were molded in the shape of a wedding bell and were decorated with kewpies. The chair of the guest of honor was decorated with a large yellow bow and spring flowers. The guests were Miss Annie Flatley, Mrs. Roy Denning, Mrs. Forest Livingstone, Mrs. Nettie Bulla, Miss Dorothy Burns, Miss Laura May Burns, Miss Margaret Mercurio and Miss Gertrude Faucett.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE EXHIBITS ARRIVING

Exhibits for the annual domestic science show of work done in schools of the county, arrived in the county superintendent's office in large numbers Saturday and were being listed and arranged by Miss Stella Harman, county supervisor of domestic science.

Advance word from the various schools over the county indicate that the show this year will be much larger and more representative than that held last year which was a pronounced success, according to school authorities.

Commencement dresses which are being made by some of the schools will probably be shown. Unique articles showing the scope of the work undertaken in the county will be on display.

Manual training work by boys of the county schools will also be shown. This is an added feature from former exhibits.

Several schools are planning on visiting the exhibit in a body on certain

The exhibit will be held in the county superintendent's office all next week beginning Monday. About 50 schools will be represented. This does not include the schools of Richmond, Hagerstown, and Cambridge City.

Commissioners Award Road Contract Saturday

Only one bid was received by county commissioners for roads that were to be contracted for Saturday morning. John F. Hipskind, of Richmond, bid on and was awarded the contract for the Charles H. Sell road, his bid aggregating $106,297.39 which is said to be slightly below the estimate.

No bids on the South E street road were received, which is the second time improvement of this road has been postponed because of lack of bidders.

The Sell road will afford a good road to Easthaven as it will extend from North Fifth street west to Easthaven, north to Asylum avenue, and back to Fifth street. Work on this will be started immediately.
