Defining American Rights

Since the senate's rejection of the Versailles treaty and the league of nations, many Americans have wondered about the exact status of the United States relative to the advantages accruing from the World war.

Did that action bar us from further participation in the settlement of international questions in which we have an interest? Have we any rights and claims which the allied nations and associated governments must respect? Or are we precluded from every consideration, and have we no claims which the other nations must respect?

These are some of the questions that may have occurred to us. The note of Secretary of State Hughes to Great Britain, France and Italy, in which he defines our position on the Yap incident, clearly sets forth our rights as a participant in the war and the intention of the United States government to have its claims respected.

It defends the right which the United States has in the settlement of the war—a right which is based on the money we expended and the blood we sacrificed to make possible the termination of the conflict. The note emphatically states that any action on the division of the German overseas possessions must consider the rights of the United States, and that final action must have the approval of this government.

On this point he says:

"It would seem to follow necessarily that the right accruing to the allied and associated powers through the common victory is shared by the United States, and that there could be no valid or effective disposition of the overseas possessions of Germany, now under consideration, without the consent of the United States."

His position on the right of the United States to equal control with other nations of the cable station of Yap is expressed in unmistakably clear language:

"It also may be observed that the right accruing to the United States through the victory in which it has participated could not be regarded as being ceded or surrendered in any way to Japan, nor to other nations, except by treaty, and that no such treaty has been made."

Secretary Hughes in his concise note to the interested powers has outlined in precise language America's right to be heard and our demand for fair play, based on our participation in the World war. At the same time he indicates again our traditional policy of being just and honorable in our diplomatic dealings with other countries. He disclaims any effort on our part to obtain exclusive interest in the island of Yap or to seek special privileges which are not to be accorded to other nations.

It is hard to see how the governments to whom the note is addressed can escape the logic of its presentation, or fail to be moved by the fairness and justice of his appeal. Secretary Hughes has safeguarded our rights by this important document and at the same time laid the foundation for future negotiations on the whole question of America's attitude toward the treaty of peace.

Mondell Would Cut Taxes by $1,500,000,000

Representative Mondell, Republican leader of the house, hopes to be able to reduce the taxation estimate to $2,500,000,000, which would be a reduction of $1,500,000,000 from the figure set by former Secretary of the Treasury Houston. He favors lifting rather than shifting the tax burden, and believes the public will be dissatisfied with a method that will merely substitute one form of taxation for another.

He has not disclosed the details of the plan by which he hopes to bring about a reduction in taxes, but he expresses the sentiment of the taxpayers accurately when he asserts that they want a reduction in the amount of money required to meet the expenses of the government.

The confusing features of the present taxation system, to say nothing of its paralyzing effect on business and industrial conditions, are bad enough to warrant any kind of change for the better. If congress can cut down appropriations and change the tax laws to ease the burden that oppresses business, it will be hastening the restoration of prosperity.

TODAY'S TALK

FINALITY

Strange as it may seem, there is really no end to anything! Infinity grasps everything within its hand. The little cell, from which the mightiest human springs, is no more unusual than the one from which the most lowly finds his life. And each touches the finger of infinity and thus threads out his part in the history of the All.

Birth is simply a designation, as is death. Both are relatives, and both are important as in turn they rise a little to mark off their space in the one great endless expression which we call Time.

So that if you are wise, you will not worry. Your success is not final—nor is your failure. You may always begin again. There is no finality! Even decay is but an expression of life. The fallen flower, wilted and forgotten, excepting for the perfume which it sends to the four winds of the world, soon is known to mingle its ashes in the warmth of the earth—to rise again in new forms and new beauties.

He who says that he can't, however, dies quickest—that his dust may form substance for someone who knows in his heart that he CAN! Time will always be. It always has been.

Our lives are merely faint tapplings in the sound of the great Forever. Yet we must be very important at that, else we would not have been so richly endowed with ability to search, to discover, to appreciate, to love, to invent, and to serve generally.

The fact that we are made happliest when we help someone else, is the most profound evidence that we were born to keep the centuries from dying!

Limits? There are none. Everything that seems to end is but the small beginning of something that is to follow—including our own little life.

ZIONISTS PLAN JEWISH TROOPS IN PALESTINE. LONDON, April 9.—The Zionist organization will support a number of Jewish regiments in Palestine in order to relieve the British administration of some of its financial obligations, says a dispatch from Jerusalem today.

This decision was reached as a result of a conference between Winston Churchill, the minister for the colonies, and Nahum Sokolow, chairman of the Zionist world executive committee.

100 EGGS DAILY FROM 300 HENS. Mr. H. L. Stormer, Geistown, Pa., is getting on an average of 100 eggs a day from 300 hens, and most of them are pullets at that.

Mr. Stormer mixes Pratt's Poultry Regulator in 25 lb. pails, has used it for years and recommends it as an egg producer and conditioner.

Pratt's Poultry Regulator, mixed with a good egg-making ration, not only makes hens lay, but the eggs wanted for hatching will produce sturdy chicks that will develop into A-1 pullets and cockerels. Test "Pratts" with this understanding—"Your Money Back If You Are Not Satisfied." Pratt's Poultry Preparations will make your poultry pay. A. G. Luken & Co., J. H. Menke, E. H. Stegman and Omer G. SUBSCRIBER—Will you please give a concise history of the temple at Jerusalem?

The temple was the religious edifice of the Jews in Jerusalem. There were three buildings successively erected in the same spot and named after their builders—the temple of Solomon, the temple of Zerubbabel, and the temple of Herod.

The first was built by Solomon and was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar about 586 B. C. The second was built by the Jews on their return from captivity (about 537 B. C., and was destroyed by the Romans in 70 A. D.

No graping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

Can You Answer These Questions? Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting and operations fail? Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel? Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonard and known as HEMOROID, now sold by Quigley's drug stores and druggists generally, that is guaranteed?

HEMOROID banishes piles by removing the internal cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.—Advertisement.

Memories of Old Days

City Attorney A. M. Gardner was to be consulted by members of the public health and steam and electric railway committees of the Commercial club regarding his opinion on whether the present state law permits or grants the city the authority to divide the city into sprinkling districts, the expense to be met either by assessment against the property owners or the amount taken from the general fund.

Good Evening

By Roy K. Moulton

An important discovery has been made by a New England psychologist. It is to the effect that happiness is really a cinch, if you want to be happy. "Wear diamonds," he says, "and you will be happy. Diamonds have a psychological influence upon your state of mind. It is a simple thing at that and it is queer that nobody thought of it before. The discovery comes at an opportune time. Never in the history of the world has it been so much in need of happiness as now. People generally seem to be fairly well stocked up with everything else. Masterlinck's Bluebird may deliver the goods, but bluebirds are scarce. Fortunately, diamonds are not.

Columbus discovered America, but as somebody has said, "How could he have missed it?" A real discoverer is a man who can find a vacant house in a man who recently came back to his old home town, says the Howard "Courtney," said one of the things he noticed was that some of the dreams that used to disturb his sleep now weigh around two hundred pounds.

THE SHERIFF NEEDS A GUN. The following notice, taken from the New Cumberland (W. Va.) "Independent," indicates that it must be a very tough neighborhood, indeed.

"The undersigned sheriff of Hancock county residing in Weirton, West Va., hereby gives notice that I will apply to the circuit court of said county for license to carry a revolver and other weapons that may be deemed necessary in the discharge of my duties as sheriff of the said county of Hancock. Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

THE WISE PHYSICIAN I had a lot of pimples upon my princely mug, and I took yabs and simples and bitters by the jug. My blood was out of order, my life was full of care, and I was near the border of bottomless despair. And many learned physicians prescribed their capsules gray; alas, alas, conditions grew punker every day. And then I sought a healer who just had come to town, and many a boasting syleer proclaimed his wide renown. No sly, trifling question was by this doctor sprung, concerning my digestion, my liver or my lung. He said, "You're always fussing with Jinks, who lives next door; you two are roundly cussing each other, ever more. Unless you live serenely your ills I cannot cure; so long you've acted meanly it's made your blood impure. For living way to passion gives rise to many ills, and you, in angry fashion, keep kicking

Two Minutes of Optimism

THE SUCCESS FAMILY AND WHERE IT LIVES

This family is old, so old it antedates all traceable ancestry, antedates the most ancient family trees, antedates all sciences, all philosophies, all history, even the Bible.

The line runs so far back that "the memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

One thing we know and that is, it comes of sturdy stock, and today its progeny is more numerous and its blood bluer and redder than at any time before.

The first progenitor was a fiery young chap named Ambition. Aeonis ago, he was enslaved by two heartless taskmasters, Dissatisfaction and Desire-to-Excel.

It is only because he paid his ransom in full in the coin of Realization that Humanity was allowed to start its endless upward climb from Chaos and Dumb-Brute-Level to Cosmos, Progress and Civilization.

We have it on good authority that the father of this chap Ambition was Old Man Necessity; the mother, Grand Old Lady Faith.

They were joined by Love. Some brothers and sisters in this family are Self-Respect, Character, Health, Enthusiasm, Courage, Initiative, Determination, Integrity and Imagination.

Among the uncles and aunts are Sincerity, Responsibility, Conscience, Harmony, Greed for Knowledge and Capacity.

A few of the first cousins include Loyalty, Honesty, Simplicity, Thoughtfulness, Openmindedness and Reverence.

And other relatives, some near and some distant, are Courtesy, Cooperation, Self-Confidence, Poise, Service and Thoroughness.

Millions of years ago, this family began to be, and today still is, constantly and insidiously attacked by a host of enemies.

Chief of them are the ones who try most to injure it are Fear, Envy, Unscrupulousness, Self-Doubt and Worry.

These latter are the leaders of a whole gang of fools and knaves who do everything in their power to thwart it.

Most active are Laziness, Intemperance, Ignorance, Haste, Waste, Indiscipline and Expediency.

This family has many friends and the older the friends the closer and more intimate do they become, and—true test of friends—the more can they be relied upon when in need.

Some of these friends are Economy, Cheerfulness, Optimism, Courage, Duty, Patience and Vision.

Others are Hope, Backbone, Endurance, Purpose, Self-Control, Balance and Concentration.

Always hanging around and making the most of every opportunity to disrupt and have the last word are the outsiders and strangers Hard-Luck, It-Can't-Be-Done, What's-The-Use, Let-George-Do-It and Tomorrow.

The efforts of these intruders and interlopers can usually be more than offset by the guardian angels Hard-Work, I'll-Try, I-Can, Do-Or-Die and Do-It-Now.

This family is the Success family and it lives in a place known as The Average Man.
