

MAIL CARRIER'S CAR IN CROSSING CRASH ON EATON TRACKS

EATON, O., April 19.—Earl Kinsey, rural mail carrier narrowly escaped serious injury Monday afternoon when an automobile he was driving was struck by a cut of cars attached to a Pennsylvania freight engine that was being switched across the East Somers street crossing, at the plant of the Eaton Milling company.

Kinsey escaped with a slightly lacerated hand. The rear wheels were torn off the automobile and the rear of the car was considerably damaged. The freight engine was in the rear of the cut of boxcars and probably was responsible for the accident. Kinsey was going eastward and the engine and cut of cars were going north.

It is said the alarm bell at the crossing was ringing at the time the accident happened.

Gilmore Case Delayed.

At this time it is not definitely known if all records in the Craig Gilmore case can be completed in time for presentation of the case to the court of appeals, which will convene here Thursday and probably be in session over Friday. Counsel in the case say there is a great mass of typing to be done and for this reason it is problematic as to getting the case before the court during its session here.

Other cases scheduled for presentation to the court of appeals at its session here are: William Mills and R. L. Estis, plaintiffs in error, vs. State of Ohio, defendant in error; Freddie Lock and J. W. Shirley, plaintiffs, vs. Preble County Board of Education, defendant, appeal; J. E. Flora and I. M. Biddinger, plaintiffs, vs. Preble County Board of Education, defendant, appeal; James F. Pierce, plaintiff, vs. George Pottenger, defendant, appeal.

Capacity. Every child is a potential saint and sinner at the same time. What he turns out to be depends upon his education and the exercise of his own free will. Here is a child two weeks old; is he virtuous or vicious? Is he moral or immoral? Is he honest or is he dishonest? It cannot be determined until he reaches the age of accountability, then it depends," he repeated, "on his education and the exercise of his own free will."

Dr. Honline then defined conversion.

"With some people it is a snap shot; with others a time exposure. One is evolution and the other is revolution. Paul's conversion was a snap shot. But I believe Timothy's was a time exposure."

"I have come to believe that religion is not so much reformation as it is formation. I have often thought we church people have been painting the pump when we should have been purifying the water. Nature gave us religion at birth, but nurture makes us denominationalists."

Defines Religion

"What do I mean by religion? Do I mean subscribing to a creed or denomination? No. Men were religious before there were creeds or denominations. Man's feelings and thoughts about God, and his conduct in relation to God, that is religion. Religion is the whole man in relation to God."

"The school, home and church are the three things in America responsible for the development of our religion. I do not think it is the function of the public school to give definite religious instruction. The Sunday school and the public school should throw some responsibility upon the home. The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Contrary to the home of 50 years ago, the home of today has got to be but a cheap tavern; a place where we go to sleep and for our meals. With the home not giving this training it is up to the church. If the church fails the child is not going to get it."

"Your problem is not to get people to church; it is to hold them, and that has to be done by trained teachers. Train your teachers. Consecration to the work and preparation for the work should be the motto of every Sunday school teacher. He is the dynamo of the school."

Bradford Harrison presided. Oliver Nusbaum led the congregational singing. The Rev. E. Howard Brown led the devotional services. Mrs. F. W. Krueger sang a solo.

Would Pool Interests

Pooling of Sunday school interests, instead of competitive activities, was the theme of an address given in the First English Lutheran church by E. T. Albertson, State Sunday school association secretary, Monday afternoon. He spoke in place of Dr. M. A. Honline, who is conducting a series of religious educational lectures under auspices of the City Sunday school association. Illness of Dr. Honline's wife caused his absence from one meeting.

Outlining the state plan for Sunday school work in Indiana, Mr. Albertson told of the departments in Sunday school work which the state organization believes should be developed.

Among them he mentioned the cradle roll, religious education in the schools, story hours for children, a young people's council, home worship, administrative superintendents whose duty would be to definitely plan and popularize Sunday school programs, vacation Bible schools, week day schools teaching religion and community training schools for the preparation of persons for Sunday school teachers and leaders.

Explains Program.

Explaining why the state program includes so wide and complete a program Mr. Albertson said:

"In this country we are doing everything in every name except in the name of the church of Jesus Christ. Our children are getting the idea that everything else is bigger than the church. We are convinced that children should learn to live and to play according to the Bible. Practically 63 per cent of the boys and girls in this state are not getting Sunday school training."

When reference to schools of religious training and education was made Mr. Albertson pointed out that while one church may be equipped with money, leaders and the proper facilities for carrying on such a denominational school, others may not be so situated. In view of this fact he urged the co-operation and interlocking of each school, one with another, in forwarding the common interest of Sunday school work. This plea was also made where committees or councils for proper Sunday school work was suggested.

The Rev. A. F. Mitchell led the devotional services. Clarence Kramer presided.

CITY MANAGER

Zimmerman stated that the whole attack looked political to him.

Councilman Walterman jumped to his feet at the conclusion of the mayor's talk vigorously proclaiming that the mayor was an "Ananias." Mr. Walterman stated that the plant was in the best condition it ever had been when Mr. Dillon was put in charge by Mayor Zimmerman.

"The reason you took the other man out was because the other man voted for Davis," Mr. Walterman said.

The mayor retaliated by saying, "All that Mr. Walterman has just said is a falsehood."

George Coughlin, assistant for the J. D. Lyon consulting engineers, stated that the reason Mr. Jeffries had been asked for his resignation was because he had failed to grow with the plant and that he believed that the plant was too big for the capacity of Mr. Jeffries. He stated that the plant was being put in good condition as could be attested by the service being given.

Relative to the statement that 80 men were employed at the plant, it was said today that 65 were on the last payroll, April 15, of whom 50 were for operation and maintenance and 15 for new work and equipment.

Councilman John White opined that the matter had been "cussed and discussed enough" and moved to adjourn.

Isaac Rader, age fifteen received the first prize of $100 for the best painting in oil entered for the fourth annual exhibition of the Federated Art Societies of Toledo, O.
