

NOMINATE CRAWFORD FOR STATE SECRETARY INDIANA FARM BODIES

INDIANAPOLIS, May 20.—Eighteen men were nominated for secretary of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' associations at a meeting of the board of directors Thursday. The resignation of Maurice Douglas, present secretary, who has been appointed to the public service commission, takes effect June 1. Election of his successor is expected before the end of the directors' session this evening.

The candidates are Russell G. East, Shelbyville; Earl Crawford, Milton; Milton Thompson, Bloomington; Calvin Schultz, Union City; H. E. Lochry, Franklin; Arthur Goss, Vincennes; E. C. Salisbury, Bluffton; Arthur McAdam, Winamac; Perry Crane, Lebanon; Calvin Perdue, Frankfort; H. L. Moss, Indianapolis; William Jones, Fairmount; John Driscoll, Liberty; C. S. Masterson, Greenfield; H. B. Randolph, Noblesville; Lew Harris, Washington; Russell VanHook, Rensselaer; J. D. Harper, Ellettsburg.

Reports of federation officials were heard during the day. J. B. Reynolds, treasurer, reported that all bills had been paid and a total of $48,000 was on hand, with fifteen counties yet to be heard from.

A report was heard on the co-operative marketing meeting, which was held in Chicago recently. The report showed that three points in marketing were suggested at the meeting: first, co-operative marketing under one head; second, incorporated organization with a three to five year contract; and third, the use of pooling products.

P. C. Ohler, in a report on co-operative shipping, advised light loading in summer months.

Milton Thompson, professor of economics at Indiana university, spoke on taxation, the agriculture credit plan, the present marketing system, and the problem of international credit.

LAFAYETTE.—Business was practically suspended in Lafayette part of Thursday because of the annual Purdue circus which was revived by the student body this year after a five year lapse due to the war. A crowd estimated at 10,000 witnessed the street parade. The circus was held at night.

CULVER.—Boy Scout executives of seven north central states met Thursday at Culver Military academy for a week's conference on Boy Scout policies. More than 100 executives were present at the opening meeting. A special course of instructions for new Scout executives will be given.

FRENCH MINISTER HONORS HOOSIER ADMIRAL AND WIFE. PARIS, May 20.—Gabriele Guisthau, minister of marine, last night gave a dinner at the ministry in honor of Vice Admiral Albert P. Niblack, of Vincennes, Ind., commander of the American naval forces in European waters, and Mrs. Niblack.

BEAUTY CHATS

A PRETTY PROFILE.

In talking about the profile and the possible measure that might be taken to improve it, we have emphasized such things as changing the style of hair dressing so as to adapt it to the face, and keeping the skin fine and clear with color in the cheeks. Color plays an enormous part in making the profile nice looking or ordinary, since it gives a becoming roundness and softness to the side face.

But one point we have never talked about to any extent, is the very great importance of holding the head well. The profile is not only forehead, nose and chin—it is also the top of the head and the line of the back of the head, which can make or mar one's whole appearance, and the line running down the back of the neck.

The shape of the head can always be modified or altered by the way the hair is combed, and a flat line rounded by placing the knot of hair at the most becoming point. These are things to be studied out carefully with the aid of a couple of mirrors.

For the chin line is good or bad according to the way the head is held. Hold it high—not stiffly high but easily, naturally high. The chin should be up and out a trifle. This again is a matter to be studied with the aid of a couple of mirrors, for over-emphasis is apt to look ridiculous and the difference between that and real grace is as slight as it is important. A good plan is to hold the chest as high as possible. This draws back the shoulders, gives a good line down the back of the neck, and helps throw the head into position.

J. E. M.—Lemon juice and baking soda will do to keep your daughter's hair light. Two tablespoonsful of the juice, one-third of a teaspoonful of soda, to a quart of water, used as the final rinse after the shampoo. Hot crude oil massaged into the scalp the night before the shampoo, will correct this dry condition, which is causing those flakes through the hair.

P. E. G.—The growth of hair did not come from using peroxide. There is no objection to using lemon juice and ammonia together, if it is not too irritating to the skin.

Rosie—Hot water opens the pores, cold water closes them. If you use the former, be sure to dash cold water over your face.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE BLEACHES FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion whiter.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.—Advertisement.

Hold the chin well up.

over your face and neck to close the pores again. Wrinkles do not come from either.

All inquiries addressed to Mrs. Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Heart Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 16 years of age. I like two boys and I can't decide when one I like better. They used to come up to my house every night and I know they liked me very well. Lately they don't come near my house.

I am very much worried because I hate to hurt anyone's feelings. Do you think I have hurt their feelings or do you think they are tired of me? They speak so nicely to me when I see them, but still they never come up. I am very lonesome for them and I would be very grateful to you if you would tell me what is the matter with them.

LONESOME SUE

Your story is like the story of almost any girl of your age. Boys come and then without an apparent reason they cease to come. They have grown tired as a rule and have found a new interest. Do not let this discourage you because it happens to all, and is a blessing in disguise. If young men were not so fickle there would be many more disastrous marriages from too early marriage.

You are a very young girl and should not think of love and sweethearts any more than you can help. When you are old enough you will find that love is steadfast and loyal and that some man finds you more interesting all the time and does not grow tired. Keep yourself clean and sweet so that you will feel worthy when the one man comes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 18 and I keep company with a boy 21. His family doesn't like me very well and does not approve of my going with him. Should I quit him on account of his family?

BLUE EYES

Both you and the boy are of age. It seems to me that the matter should be decided by the young man himself. If he lives and respects you, accept his friendship. Respect yourself enough so that you feel worthy of the young man in spite of the attitude of his parents.

Give a

Dressing Table

This month and next there will occur, in Richmond, quite a number of weddings and the chances are that you are scheduled right now to give one or more presents.

Here is a sensible suggestion: Every bride wants a Dressing Table. You can get one—a beauty—as low as $43.00 from our concern and there are a number of styles to choose from.

Maybe you wouldn't spend that much for a personal gift, so why don't you get some other friend or relative to throw in with you and buy something worth while?

The recollection of this act would, with both bride and groom, remain as long as they lived. And think of the Prestige and Enduring Quality of a gift from this store.
