At the Bible school hour, there was an attendance of 156 and a general offering of $7.

PECULIAR ACTIONS OF VIRGIL DECKER TOLD BY WITNESS

WARSAW, Ind., June 7.—Attorneys for the state continued today to call witnesses on whose testimony they hoped to establish the guilt of Virgil Decker, charged with murdering Le Roy Lovett. The prosecution is attempting to prove that the murder was plotted in an effort to defraud life insurance companies of $24,000 by killing the Lovett lad and claiming his body as that of Virgil Decker, a close resemblance.

Harry Sutherland, of Atwood, Ind., called by the state this morning, testified that he had seen Virgil in Atwood a few hours previous to the finding of Lovett's body near a railroad crossing. Sutherland said he noticed Virgil's peculiar actions.

"Virgil told me," said the witness, "that he had just returned from St. Joseph county, and I asked him if he was afraid that he might be caught fishing."

According to the witness, Decker replied: "I don't care. I might as well go and take my three free meals now as later."

Richard Funk, a trapper, whose home is in the village of Atwood, testified he saw Virgil in the vicinity of the cabin in which it is alleged Lovett was murdered on the afternoon of March 12.

Dr. George Marshall, of Bourbon, Ind., another witness for the state, described the wounds on the Lovett boy's body. He said it was his opinion that Lovett's skull had been fractured by a tremendous blow with a blunt instrument.

A man's voice could be heard 800 miles away if it had the same carrying power in proportion to his weight as that of a canary.

According to the witness, Decker replied: "I don't care. I might as well go and take my three free meals now as later."
