The danger of contracting disease from contaminated water, and danger from exposure, are some of the reasons given out by Julian L. Smith, general secretary of the local Y, for the Y pool being the best place for the boys to enjoy swimming during the hot weather. His statement follows:

"The old swimming hole was always attended by dangers; the danger of drowning, the danger of disease, the danger from exposure, the danger from association and lack of supervision.

"These dangers are all reduced to a minimum and practically eliminated at the Y. M. C. A. pool.

"Boys are only permitted to go in at stated periods and in charge of competent instructors.

No Danger of Disease. "The danger of contracting disease is almost entirely eliminated from contaminated water by the fact that it is going through a constant filtration process. No one is allowed to go in the pool without first taking a soap bath. All bathers are required to go in the pool naked in order that skin diseases may be detected and others protected. Bathing suits are not used.

"The danger from exposure is also eliminated. Boys are not allowed to stay in the water undue lengths of time. The water is kept at a good temperature and dressing rooms comfortable.

"The danger from association with the uncontrolled element and the gang that is found in unsupervised places is also eliminated.

Instructors in Charge. "There are clean, competent men, vitally interested in character development of boys, in charge at the association, and who are competent to assist parents in solving the boy problem for parents by directing the leisure hour and their sports during the vacation period.

"Vacation time is at hand, a summer schedule has been carefully worked out, a boys' secretary giving his entire time exclusively to boys' activities, a physical director to instruct in athletics and games and a Red Cross life saver for expert swimming instruction should be sufficient reason why parents should have their boys enrolled in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. at the very beginning of the vacation period.

"Any parent interested will have a cordial reception and be gladly shown through the building should they wish to call and get further information."
