

CONTINUE EFFORTS TO FIND COMPROMISE MAYORALTY ASPIRANT

Continued efforts to bring about the selection of one man on whom the Republican forces of the city could concentrate their forces in the primary election and carry through for mayor in the November election are being made by leaders on all sides.

The leaders state that they believe the city has expressed its confidence in the present system of federal government through political parties and that it is now up to these parties to bring forth the best man possible to insure a strictly business administration.

The opinion was freely expressed that there are plenty of men in the city who would be willing to accept the nomination for mayor if they were assured the political forces would back them, but that their experience being chiefly in business and not in politics they were not willing to make a strenuous campaign for the position as the city's executive.

Guth Freeman, who headed the fight against the city manager form of government during the recent special election, stated that his recent experience was enough to convince him that the people of Richmond were willing to concentrate on some one who would assure them a good administration. He said that a compromise could and would be effected if all branches of the party here would get together with the expressed purpose of selecting a satisfactory man.

In regard to Mr. Freeman's interest in the primary he issued the following statement:

"Contrary to the statement made last Saturday evening, I am not interested in the matter of the city attorneyship. I would not accept the office if tendered me. The people of Richmond want a good business administration, and I think they should have it. That is all I am interested in."

A canvass of the prospective candidates for the mayoralty shows that most of them intend to refile their intentions. Harry Hoover, who was one of the men who filed for the nomination of mayor, announced Monday that he had withdrawn his name. Mr. Hoover said his advanced years precluded the strenuous efforts of making a campaign to land the nomination on the Republican ticket.

This committee also has declared that legislation should be enacted throughout the country to promote physical education.

Near East Reports
It is likely that the executive committee will make reports on work which Kiwanis clubs have performed in assisting the Near East and European relief movements and the China famine fund movement. It also is probable the convention will be asked to go on record as approving the American Legion's program for relief for disabled world war veterans.

Provisions for compensation of former service men as provided by the bill include the cash bonus or adjusted service pay, deferred payments under service certificates, vocational training aid, farm and home aid, and land settlement aid. The bill contains no provision for meeting the expense it involves.

PROPOSE MEDIATION IN GREEK CAMPAIGN AGAINST TURK FORCE

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, June 20.—Offensive operations against the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor are opposed by Great Britain, France and Italy, which have despatched a note to the Greek government, asking that King Constantine postpone his campaign against the Turks and accept mediation which may settle the near east situation. The note was sent to Smyrna, where King Constantine and Premier Comararis are at present, and it is believed the Greek government will make an immediate reply. Should the reply be favorable, overtures to the Turkish nationalist will quickly follow.

It is understood the British stand for the withdrawal of Greek forces from Smyrna and the restoration of Turkish sovereignty over that district. Racial and religious minorities would receive protection from an international police force, under the London plan. An agreement regarding Thrace has not been reached and discussion has been postponed pending the Greek reply to the allied offer of mediation.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS ARE URGED TO ENROLL IN MOWE'S CLASSES

Basketball players of the city who desire to get into the senior class of the summer coaching school now being formed at the Y. M. C. A. under the leadership of Coach Ray B. Mowe, of Earlham, are requested to attend the first meeting to be held Monday in the Y. gym at 7 o'clock. Boys must be over 16 years old to join this class. This will be the first meeting of the older boys' class, and no actual work will be done. Coach Mowe will give an outline for the work of the course this summer and stated that he thought with the class meeting two evenings a week, the course would be completed in six weeks.

Any basketball player or person interested in basketball in Richmond is eligible for these classes. The plan of the course is for the development of play and will be given from the coaching, playing and refereeing standpoint. After taking this course a person should be capable of handling any one of the three points with ability.

Coach Mowe is very anxious for persons planning to play independent basketball this winter to get into this class, and some very important pointers can be obtained that will be of great help to any basketball player. This is practically the same course that a person would get in attending the summer coaching school at the University of Illinois or other universities.

Being a graduate of this school, the coach will use the same notes that he used while at the school. He will teach the plan of basketball used by about four of the leading conference coaches. This is a fine advantage for the basketball players of this city and the boys are expected to respond and take advantage of this opportunity.

The 1921 carry over was estimated in the reports at about three hundred million pounds, making a total of approximately eight hundred million pounds to be disposed of at the opening of the 1921-22 season.
