

AYETTE, GREENVILLE, FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING, APPEALS CASE

GREENVILLE, O., June 25.—After hearing the evidence in the case of Eddie Aytette, local pool room proprietor, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, Mayor John Wright took the matter under advisement and rendered his decision later. The mayor found Aytette guilty of the charge and fined him $25 and costs and suspended his right to drive an automobile for six months. Mannix, Crawford and Billingsley, attorneys for Aytette, immediately filed a motion to carry the case to the probate court, which is a court of last resort in cases of this kind. It is the contention of Aytette that he was not driving the car at the time of his arrest.

Farmer Commits Suicide
The body of Walter Christian, 40, Wayne township farmer, residing 3 1/2 miles southeast of Versailles, was found hanging in a corn crib by his son Wednesday afternoon.

Christian had been despondent for several days, and was thought to have been unbalanced mentally at the time of committing the rash deed. Wednesday morning he started to the fields to work, and Mrs. Christian, noticing that he had a rope with him, followed him to a nearby woods, where he was found acting queerly. She persuaded him to come back to the house, where they talked over his desire to end his life. After securing a promise from him that he would not make a second attempt, Mrs. Christian left to attend to household duties.

Shortly after the noon hour he was missed, and a search was at once instituted, which resulted in the finding of his body by his 11-year-old son. Mrs. Christian immediately cut all rope and summoned assistance, but all attempts to resuscitate him were to no avail.

Coroner Hittle was immediately notified and went to the Christian home, where an inquest was held.

Mr. Christian is survived by his widow, three daughters and one son, and a host of friends. He was highly respected in the community in which he lived. No definite cause is assigned for his rash act.

Vote for New School

In a spirited contest at the polls Tuesday, the citizens of Jackson township voted by a narrow margin in favor of the issuance of $15,000 in bonds, to be used for the completion of the new centralized school building. Two hundred and fifty-one votes were cast in the affirmative, and 232 against the bond issue.

Breach of Promise Suit

The breach of promise suit instituted by Nellie Wild, against James McCue, in common pleas court here, which was to have been heard today, has been settled out of court and the case dismissed. The case has aroused great interest in Arcadium, south of here, where both parties in the action are prominent citizens. Miss Wild sued McCue for $10,000 for breach of promise, alleging that he had failed to fulfill a marriage agreement. The couple had been keeping company in the neighborhood of fifteen years, and on two occasions, Miss Wild asserts, she had purchased wedding clothes, but each time McCue failed to go through with the ceremony. The terms of the settlement were not made public.

Injured in Explosion

A gasoline explosion at the summer cottage of Perry Bachman, of Greenville, at Manitou Beach, Mich., resulted in the structure being completely destroyed, together with the majority of its contents, according to a telephone message received here late Wednesday night. Mr. Bachman and Miss Belle Hahn, who were in the cottage at the time, both were severely burned. Miss Hahn's injuries being considered quite serious.

Files Cross Petition

Mrs. William Gibboney, living two and one-half miles south of Bradford, has filed a cross petition to her husband's petition for divorce in common pleas court here, in which she denies every allegation made by Gibboney.

She asks for a divorce, temporary and permanent alimony, that her husband's petition be dismissed, and for an injunction restraining her husband from disposing of any of her personal property.

Richmond Sees First Steam Propelled Truck

"Something new" in the way of motor trucks passed through Richmond, Friday, en route from Indianapolis to Cincinnati. It was a five-ton, 110 H. P. steam truck, which is to be exhibited at Cincinnati before the members of the national truck manufacturers' association.

The truck is entirely different from anything seen before in the line of commercial vehicles. It has a two-cylinder steam engine built into the rear axle for motive power. The engine has a bore and stroke of four and one-half by five and one-half inches and a steam pressure of 600 pounds is carried in the boiler.

A mileage of 5.27 per gallon of coal oil is claimed for the five-ton truck. The designer, Fred Hamilton, president and chief engineer of the Alena Steam products company, Richard Hall, superintendent and George Wilds, a mechanic accompanied the machine. The party stopped at the home of Mrs. Scott Heard, 117 West Main street, over night.

LUGGAGE OF QUALITY
At Prices that are Right

Miller's
For Further Goods
827 Main St.

Henry J. Pohlmeier
Harry C. Downing
Ora E. Stegall
William A. Welter

Pohlmeier, Downing, Stegall & Co.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Limousine Ambulance
15 N. 10th St. Phone 1335

NEXT WEEK AT THE THEATRES

SATURDAY.
Washington—Will Rogers in "Guile of Women."
Murrette—Tom Moore in "Hold Your Horses."
Palace—Joe Moore in "Love's Call."
Murray—Alice Joyce in "Her Lord and Master"; Vaudeville.

SUNDAY.
Washington—May McAvoy in "A Private Scandal."
Murrette—Conway Tearle.
Palace—"Burning Daylight" by Jack London.
Murray—Alice Joyce in "Her Lord and Master"; Vaudeville.

MURRAY.
A novel film vehicle will be offered by Murray theatre for three days, commencing Monday, in Goldwyn's all star picture, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," a story of certain love adventures in Scotland.

The play promises an exceptional entertainment, the producers having gone to big expense to especially erect an entire Scotch village in California, and select a cast perfectly fitting the strongly drawn characters participating in the action of the story. Reginald Barker, the noted film director, personally supervised the making of the picture.

The part of Bunty is played by Leatrice Joy, who is rapidly rising to fame in the film world. The manner in which she pulls the strings that involve Tam, her stern old father, played by Russell Simpson, who made such a hit in "Godless Men" and "Weelum" her lover, played by Raymond Hatton, the celebrated character actor, give Miss Joy an opportunity not only to display her good looks, but her real ability as an actress as well.

MURRETTE.

"Society Snobs," the latest Selznick picture, starring Conway Tearle, comes to the Murrette Sunday. The direction of the picture was under the supervision of Hobart Henley and the scenario was written by Lewis Allen Browne. The combined forces of these three artists have gone to make what is reported to be one of the finest pictures recently put out by the Selznick organization.

The hero of the story is Lorenzo Carlo, an American born Italian of good education, and his struggles to obtain the love of a girl moving in one of the wealthiest sets of the city form the nucleus of the plot.

WASHINGTON.

Will Rogers, star of "Guile of Women," a Goldwyn picture, complained of the photoplay he made previous to this one, that it was "a mighty interesting picture, but he'd rather have a little more action in it than go fishing so much!" The only with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

THE BOSCOMBE VALLEY MYSTERY

By SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement

PART SIX

The man who entered was a strange and impressive figure. His slow, limping step and bowed shoulders gave the appearance of decrepitude, and yet his hard, deep-lined, craggy features, and his enormous limbs showed that he was possessed of unusual strength of body and of character. His tangled beard grizzled hair, and outstanding, crooping eyebrows combined to give an air of dignity and power to his appearance, but his face was of an ashen white, while his lips and the corners of his nostrils were tinged with a shade of blue. It was clear to me at a glance that he was in the grip of some deadly and chronic disease.

"Pray sit down on the sofa," said Holmes, gently. "You had my note?"

"Yes, the lodgekeeper brought it up. You said that you wished to see me here to avoid scandal."

"I thought people would talk if I went to the Hall."

"And why did you wish to see me?"

He looked across at my companion with despair in his weary eyes, as though his question was already answered.

"Yes," said Holmes, answering the look rather than the words. "It is so, I know all about McCarthy."

The old man sank his face in his hands. "God help me!" he cried. "But I would not have let the young man come to harm. I give you my word that I would have spoken out if it went against him at the Assizes."

complaint Rogers ever makes about working is when it isn't strenuous enough to suit his boundless vitality. In "Guile of Women," which is now showing at the Washington theatre, the actor found action enough to satisfy even his extreme ideas. Especially did he get exercise in the two fights with big men and difficult to vanquish. In fact the day these two fight scenes were made, Rogers admitted he'd like to lay off the rest of the afternoon to recuperate.

MURRAY VAUDEVILLE.

Two clever young men and three classy girls with a wealth of good looks, wardrobe and ability, will headline the new bill at the Murray opening Monday matinee for the first half, in one of the seasons hits entitled "Melody and Rhythm" or "A Whiff From the Follies." This act has been appearing as a feature in all the Keith big-time houses this season, and is the personification of class and merit. Owing to the length of playing time and cost of this act, three acts will be offered this half. Another feature will be Harry Tsuda, a young Japanese artist in "A Spherical Novelty," consisting of a combination of remarkable balancing feats, marvelous contortion stunts and a phenomenal exhibition of muscular development that is concededly the best act of its kind today in the world.

Completing the bill is Hugh Johnson as "A Comedy Conjuror." The conjurers and card manipulators rush thru this feature of their program without any attempt to explain to an audience the "if" and "ands" of a trick that meets their approval. With Johnston, he seems anxious to disclose the formulas but in that clever wit manner that leaves one as much in the dark as before. It is a great novelty number, replete with surprises that go to make perfect entertainment and happy amusement.

Nick Hufford, formerly of the team of Hufford and Chain, and who is a standard feature in all the Keith big-time houses, will top the bill opening Thursday.

Nick Hufford, is a smilingly happy disposition rollocking son of Momus who, though still a youngster, cognized and acclaimed one of the best and cleverest comedians of the American stage.

Also on the bill will be Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilde, "Premier Shadowists." With their hands they accurately reflect farmyard scenes, inhabitants of the jungle and pictures of famous men. The pictures are in silhouette, and by the turn of a finger the figure becomes animated. This act was a feature at The Coliseum, London, Eng. Completing the bill is O'Hara and Neelley, two clever girls who bill their offering as "A Treat For the Eye and Ear," and Tripp and Sells, "Comedy Acrobats."

Carthy. I promise you that I shall not use it unless it is absolutely needed." "It's as well," said the old man; "it's a question whether I shall live to the Assizes, so it matters little to me, but I should wish to spare Alice the shock. And now I will make the thing clear to you; it has been a long time in the acting, but will not take me long to tell."

"You didn't know this dead man, McCarthy. He was a devil incarnate. I tell you that. God keep you out of the clutches of such a man as he. His grip has been upon me these twenty years, and he has blasted my life. I'll tell you first how I came to be in his power."

"It was in the early sixties at the diggings. I was a young chap then, hot-blooded and reckless, ready to turn my hand at anything; I got among bad companions, took to drink, had no luck with my claim, took to the bush, and in a word became what you would call over here a highway robber. There were six of us, and we had a wild, free life of it, sticking up a station from time to time, or stopping the wagons on the road to the diggings. Black Jack of Ballarat was the name I went under, and our party is still remembered in the colony as the Ballarat Gang."

"One day a gold convoy came down from Ballarat to Melbourne, and we lay in wait for it and attacked it. There were six troopers and six of us so it was a close thing, but we emptied four of their saddles at the first volley. Three of our boys were killed, however, before we got the swag. I put my pistol to the head of the wagon-driver, who was this very man McCarthy. I wish to the Lord that I had shot him then, but I spared him, though I saw his wicked little eyes fixed on my face, as though to remember every feature. We got away with the gold, became wealthy men, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my money, to make up for the way in which I had earned it. I married, too, and made our way over to England, without being suspected. There I parted from my old pals, and determined to settle down to a quiet and respectable life. I bought this estate, which chanced to be in the market, and I set myself to do a little good with my