Alleged Ill Temper is Basis of Divorce Suit

Being the target for vile names, loose missiles and false accusations is not very pleasant, according to the testimony of James A. Willis, in Wayne circuit court, Saturday morning. He was asking for a divorce from Melissa Willis, and custody of their five children.

Less than three weeks ago, according to the plaintiff, his wife struck him with a hammer. He and three of his children testified that the defendant was in the habit of abusing the plaintiff without provoke or argument. "She just has a terrible temper which she doesn't try to govern," according to their statements.

Prosecutor Paul Beckett told the court that he had investigated the case and found that the defendant was a woman of vile temper and given to profanity.

Because of the need of two more witnesses to testify that the plaintiff has been a resident of this county for two years, the case was continued by Judge Bond.

The Farm and The Farmer

By William R. Sanborn

The manager of the elevator at Fountain City says that Will Barnes, living just east of town, probably would be the first New Garden farmer to thresh wheat this season. He will start Tuesday morning.

A price of $1.04 for new wheat opened the ball at Fountain City Friday morning. Of course, there was no wheat threshed for delivery, but that was the contract price to those wishing to deal.

The people of Boston township are hoping to escape a clutch bug invasion, and up to Saturday morning no reports of any pests whatsoever had come in from that section. The Kitchen elevator reports the last of the wheat being cut today, and says that threshing will begin on Tuesday, July 5. "I do not think we own a single threshing outfit in Boston," said the elevator man, "Richard Davenport owned a machine last year, but I think it has been sold. Theo. Roberts, living east of Richmond, on the New Paris pike, does a lot of threshing down this way, Boston being his old home township."

Farmers tell us that oats in the district south of Richmond have been filling fast since the last rains, and that while the straw will be short there will be much more grain than could have been hoped for three weeks ago. Union county farmers are telling the same story where oats do not stand too thin on the ground.

Will Meet on 11th The Center township farmers will meet on Monday, July 11, the second Monday of the month, and there pass up business on the night of the "Glorious Fourth," that being a bad evening on which to get out a crowd.

There has been some inquiry as to the total cost to wool growers consigning to the Ohio Wool Warehouse corporation, where most of the Indiana wool is now pooled. W. W. Reynolds tells us that the total cost, including the 1921 clip was 23 cents. This is divided into two charges, 2 cents for labor in grading, cost of selling, etc., and three-fourths of a cent for warehouse storage per pound.

Should Save Money The fact that the Grain Growers Finance Corporation has been incorporated under the laws of Delaware, and that its officers and directors comprise the same group as that forming the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., may have been overlooked. This keeps the whole machine in the hands of the Committee of Seventeen, authors of the "plan." This should be a saving to the farm bureau, for it is not expected that the salaries and two expense accounts will be asked or allowed the members of the committee for doing business under two titles. Be this as it may the expenses of the American farm bureau are already very heavy. It is no longer a matter of thousands but of hundreds of thousands of dollars for the current year.

A Million Contributors In the meanwhile the funds are contributed by more than a million farmers, and the list of donors is constantly being added to. The federation membership is constantly growing because of the hope of future benefits, in a national way. The bureau is now spending money to speed up progress. The salaries and two expense accounts will be asked or allowed the members of the committee for doing business under two titles. Be this as it may the expenses of the American farm bureau are already very heavy. It is no longer a matter of thousands but of hundreds of thousands of dollars for the current year.

Aside from the money the national federation is spending the cost to the states looms in important figures. Based on the claims of circulation of the Hoosier Farmer Indiana farmers will have paid out fully $500,000 for membership dues alone by December 1. Our dues are but $5, but in Illinois they are $15 per year. A large percentage of these payments is kept in the county treasuries or used in the home fields as a fund of productive community work should be possible as these funds accumulate.

Secretary Wallace Talks. When the secretary of agriculture talks to 400 millers, as he did at Chicago on Wednesday, he is apt to say much of interest to grain growers, also to board of trade men everywhere. The Chicago Tribune quotes him as follows:

"It would be a national calamity for the United States government to take over the grain exchanges and packing institutions of this country," declared Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, yesterday before 400 millers meeting at the Drake hotel.

He spoke for the United States Government and the American Wheat Crop. He referred particularly to the proposed laws which would give the department of agriculture supervisory power over the grain exchanges of the whole country.

"The establishment of reasonable government supervision over grain exchanges would be most helpful in doing away with much of the violent

Light Crop Indicated by Ohio Threshing Reports

The wheat heads are generally light owing both to their being poorly filled and to a greater per cent, than usual of light and shriveled grains, according to reports received by C. J. West, agricultural statistician, from correspondents throughout the State. With threshing only just begun in a few parts of the state it is as yet too early to estimate closely the effect which the apparently poor quality of wheat will have upon the yield, but such reports as have been received are highly unfavorable. The regular monthly report will be issued July 8. It is estimated that 65 per cent. of the fields of the state are affected by rust and that this has resulted in considerable damage.

Oats have been adversely effected by the dry weather in many parts of the state so that the condition has generally gone backward during the past week. On the other hand corn has grown rapidly and has very materially improved in condition. Planting of late potatoes is virtually completed.

THRESHING IS STARTED IN PREBLE COUNTY

EATON, O., July 2.—Wheat threshing has begun in Preble county, according to advices reaching here from several sections of the county. It Gratis township, in the southeast part of the county, the first threshing operations are said to have started. Thus far no new wheat has been received in the market here.

According to reports, the wheat yield this season is rather light and the quality is not the best. A large per cent of the grain is shriveled, it is said.

PUBLIC WISH

nothing substantial is accomplished one way or the other.

As to the tariff, only little more can be said. The ways and means committee has held hearings and in prolonged sessions has written a bill, but the writing of a tariff bill by the ways and means committee is always merely a beginning and in the present year it means even less than usual. Between the bill that the ways and means committee has written and the tariff that will ultimately be a law there will probably be little resemblance. All of the real tariff making is yet ahead of us. Some of those who have watched congress longest believe it is like that we shall reach the first of December before the new tariff is made into law.

It is this delay the failure of congress to develop leaders and its failure even to know what it wants, that has brought about the imperative call to Harding to assume leadership.

Circuit Court

Walter J. Pleasant, colored, was granted a divorce from Dora Pleasant, by Judge Bond, in Wayne circuit court, Saturday, on a charge of abandonment. According to the plaintiff, the defendant left for parts unknown in 1912, and repeated efforts to locate her have been fruitless.

The case of Silas Bricker vs. Noble G. McKinley to foreclose mechanic's lien for $22.55 was reinstated on the docket in Wayne circuit court, Saturday morning. Dismissal of the case some time ago was caused by mistake.

RAILROAD, ELEVATOR WAGE SITUATIONS ARE FACTORS IN MARKET

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 2.—Railroad and elevator wage troubles have greatly unsettled wheat prices this week, and so too have the first big offerings from the 1921 harvest. Largely in consequence wheat values are down 1 1/2 to 5 1/2 compared with a week ago. Corn finished the week at 5/8 to 1/2 advance, with oats showing losses of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 and 2c and provisions varying from 10c setback to 35c advance.

Sharpest breaks in the wheat market took place when the fact became evident that employees of all Chicago grain elevators would quit work, and that a widespread tie-up of railroads was possibly impending. Simultaneous pressure to dispose of new wheat from the winter crop belt added to the flurry in the trade, especially as bullish opinions regarding the general business outlook were receiving considerable notice.

On the downward plunge in prices, exporters were prompt to see an opportunity to buy to advantage, and then the market rebounded. Drought news from Russia and other European countries attracted much attention at this juncture and a good deal was made also of abnormal crop conditions in the domestic spring wheat states. Railries, however, were not well maintained as many bulls preferred to realize on holdings rather than to face uncertainties of the weather and other factors until trading could be resumed on next Tuesday.

Corn and oats dropped with wheat, and touched lowest prices yet this season but were steadied later by chances of crop damage.

Provisions averaged a little higher, owing more or less to buying for Europe.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Aside from the unsettledness occasioned by recurrent weakness of foreign oils, notably Mexican and South American issues, the stock market this week maintained a fairly steady tone.

Rails and railroad equipments showed a decided tendency to throw off their prolonged spell of depression on better earnings and another decrease in idle freight cars. There were indications also that large equipment contracts would soon be awarded by transportation companies.

Approach of the mid-year witnessed a further slowing down of operations in the steel industry, but the motor trade was subject to conflicting conditions, curtailment at some centres being offset by increased production elsewhere.
