

MINISTER DELIVERS FAREWELL ADDRESS BY WIRELESS PHONE

(Special to The Palladium)
CAMPBELLSTOWN, O., Aug. 12.—One hundred men, women and children gathered to hear a farewell address by Rev. Harris, of Campbellstown, delivered to the Grange members of this community by wireless telephone from Richmond.
The meeting of the Grange was held in the assembly room of the school building, and the program was delivered under the direction of Grange lecturer, Heber O'Hara from the wireless room of the Palladium newspaper building in Richmond.
Several instrumental and vocal musical selections were given at the opening of the program, followed by a talk by Mr. O'Hara, who introduced the first speaker, E. E. McClellan, superintendent of the Campbelltown school.
After another musical selection, Rev. Harris was introduced, and made his farewell address through the wireless telephone.
All the audience at Campbelltown expressed themselves as well pleased and astonished at the clearness with which the sound was reproduced and the distinct transmission of the speeches.
The weather forecast for the next day, and latest market reports also were delivered, by radio from Richmond, and another song, "Auld Lang Syne," closed the program.

Called by Death

DUBLIN, Ind., Aug. 12.—Following a long illness from injuries in the World War, Harold McCord, 23 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McCord, of Dublin, died on Thursday afternoon at the home of his parents west of Dublin.

A military funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon under the direction of the Leroy Tout post of the American Legion of Dublin, with burial in Riverside cemetery near Cambridge City.

He is survived by the parents, three brothers, a sister. The deceased served as a soldier for several months before the declaration of war with Germany, being with General Pershing on the Mexican border, and his regiment was among the first across.

NEW PARIS, O., Aug. 12.—Local friends have been informed of the sudden death of Roy French, of Ada, Ohio, Tuesday. Mr. French, whose home was in Sandusky, was district manager for the France Quarries company. He had many friends in New Paris and as he had made calls here only last week, news of his death came as a distinct shock. Funeral services and burial were at Dunkirk, O., Thursday. F. A. Weaver, superintendent of the local quarries plant, was present.

HENRY COUNTY FAIR OFFERS GOOD PURSES

NEWCASTLE, Ind., Aug. 12.—The largest list of premiums in the history of the fair, is offered for the races at the Henry County fair this fall. The purses total $3,500, seven of $400 being offered, two of $300 and two of $50. The eleven races will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of the fair week, which opens on Tuesday, Aug. 16.

Entries of horses for this fair are twice the number of former years, and of cattle three times what have been seen before, say the officials. Most of the stock is expected to be on the grounds Saturday, Aug. 13.

Children will be admitted free on Wednesday and old soldiers will be the guests of the management on that day also in accordance with custom.
A daily balloon ascension and a musical program is offered this year.

Poland China Breeders to Show at Connersville

CENTERVILLE, Ind., Aug. 12.—Arrangements for exhibiting at the Connersville Free Fair were made by Big Type Poland China breeders at Centerville Thursday evening.

Several breeders of Wayne county are planning to make entries at that fair which has been thrown open to them this year, and will show under the name of the Wayne County Poland China Breeders' association.

Committees were named to oversee preparations for the hog exhibits at the county stock show which will be held at Jackson park this fall. Frank Williams, Poland China breeder, of Williamsburg, is the superintendent of swine for the show, and special committees were appointed to confer with him and arrange space and classes for the black hogs in the show.

NEED RIGID ECONOMY TO CUT EXPENDITURES MELLON TELLS SOLONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Both the administration and congress were warned Thursday by Secretary Mellon that the $350,000,000 reduction in estimated departmental expenditures agreed upon at the White House conference last Tuesday as a part of the whole tax revision program could be accomplished only by the exercise of the most rigid economy.

"To accomplish this reduction," Mr. Mellon declared in a letter to Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee, "it will be necessary for the administration, with the assistance of the director of the bureau of the budget, to put forth its utmost efforts to insure economy in every government activity, and for congress on its part to give the most whole-hearted co-operation, not only by avoidance of new expenditures, but also by the limitation or repeal of various outstanding balances and authorizations."

Shows High Receipts
"I cannot emphasize too strongly that the program agreed upon and outlined in this letter depends upon the reductions in expenditure which the administration expects to accomplish, and that the anticipated savings can be effected only by the most consistent and determined efforts to cut expenditures. The estimate of receipts, on the other hand, represents the utmost expected to accrue during the year, particularly in view of the uncertainties resulting from the depression in business and the shrinkage in incomes and profits."

The tax question got into house debate today. Democratic leaders attacking the program with charges that only the wealthy would benefit by most of the proposed changes in the revenue law and that the curtailment in departmental expenditures for this fiscal year agreed upon at the White House conference would prove merely "paper savings."

Attack Democrats
Republican leaders replied with the declaration that the new law would lift $600,000,000 off the people yearly and began a counter attack against the Democrats for leaving over to this administration what were described as unnecessary burdens growing out of the war, including payments to the railroads.

Representative Byrnes, South Carolina, a Democratic member of the appropriations committee, in opening the debate, said Representative Mondell, Wyoming, the Republican leader, in his claim of savings had made Director of Budget Dawes "a piker in the economy game." He said that the Republicans pretended economy was only a "smoke screen" to deceive the people and they knew that as the end of the fiscal year approached they would have to borrow money to meet expenditures.

"Their hope is," he declared, "that the people will not know it until after the next election. In the meantime, and in between time, they will make false claims in savings of expenditures in the effort to fool the people."

Fordney Backs Measure
Chairman Fordney in a vigorous reply said the Democrats had fooled the people for eight years until finally turned out of office, and that the Republicans were going to fool them by cutting off $800,000,000 of their taxes.

Majority members of the ways and means committee considering the tax bill held only one session today. This was given over largely to a discussion of changes in administration features of the existing law.
