

AMUSEMENT COMPANY, BANDS, ARE SECURED FOR JACKSON PARK

Bands which will give concerts on each afternoon, and a traveling stock company which is coming to the park from Fairmount are additional attractions which the management has secured for the two day stock show at Jackson park, it was announced Tuesday. The Pershing band will be at the park on Wednesday afternoon, while the American Legion band of the Richmond legion post has been obtained for the second afternoon.

The amusement company, which tours in four large trucks, has fully satisfied the promoters of the exhibit of their good character and it is felt that it will be a welcome addition to the attractions.

An eagerly anticipated diversion for many horseshoe pitchers who are planning to attend the show is the county tournament which is being conducted under the direction of the Community Service organization. Sixteen entries have been sent in from Fountain City alone and challenges have been sent to all towns in the county. If a desire for such a body is shown Wednesday an attempt will be made to form horseshoe pitchers of the county into a league with regularly organized branches in each community for the promotion of the game.

Eliminate Pitchers

The tournament was initiated by Dempsey Dennis of Richmond, with the intention of making it a part of the program at the show grounds. It will be conducted on the elimination principle, pitchers dropping out as fast as they suffer defeat. Entries can be made until the games start at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

Half the pigs of the pig club will be listed for the sale at 1:30 o'clock on the second day of the show, according to the replies to inquiries sent out by County Agent J. L. Dolan. The other half will be retained by their owners and used as the start for a pure bred herd.

There are over half a hundred members in the pig club, which has been more successful this year than ever before, and as it is a requirement of the pig club membership that the pigs be exhibited, the management is sure of a good exhibition in this class. Few of the members have cause to be ashamed of their pigs, either all having carefully followed directions as to feed and care, with the result that a fine lot of individuals is to be shown.

Additional Prizes

Besides the premiums announced in the premium list, additional prizes have since been promised for the club members, four silver cups having been donated by The Palladium for the pig club winners in the Big Type Poland China, the Spotted Poland China, the Chester White and the Duroc Jersey classes.

Space for the animal exhibits has been cleared in a valley to the east of the pavilion, and a road has been built to the newly cleared grounds. The swine exhibit will occupy a central location, with other stock exhibits grouped around it.

Machinery displays are to be shown on the side hill along the road leading down to the live stock tents, while the automobile display will be housed in a large tent which will be pitched at the top of the hill in the clear space to the southeast of the pavilion. Other smaller tents, housing industrial displays or amusement concessions will be set where space allows.

GARY INVITES FOCH TO ATTEND DINNER OF INDUSTRIALISTS

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Marshal Foch has received and accepted an invitation from Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, to be guest of a dinner given by the Iron and Steel institute in New York city, at which, it is understood there will be a great gathering of financiers and industrialists.

The marshal will not go to America with General Pershing on board the cruiser Olympia when the body of an unknown American soldier will be returned to the United States. He considers that so solemn a voyage that there is not place for even a day.

Marshal Foch plans to sail on the liner Paris on Oct. 22, but his further plans are as yet undecided, except that he will stop in Washington for a day on his way to Kansas City, where he will attend the convention of the American Legion. He will not be present the first day of the convention as that will be reserved for organization.

BELIEVE FARM FIRE INCENDIARY BLAZE

NASHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 13.—Deputy state fire marshals and local authorities are investigating the burning of the home of Edward Ford, a farmer, living seven miles northeast of here, which is believed to be of incendiary origin. Ford and his four daughters, Ruth, Ethel, Mary and Mollie, who were asleep in the house at the time of the fire, were aroused by the flames and escaped. Mollie, who is an invalid, was carried from the house by her father. She is in a serious condition at the home of a neighbor.

Family Drugged.

It is asserted the members of the family were drugged and aroused themselves with difficulty. Authorities believe thieves may have entered the house and used some drug to keep the family from waking.

Mr. Ford can give no reason for the fire or drugging and asserts he has no enemies. Authorities, however, are convinced that the house was set on fire and say arrests will be made. The Ford family lived in Monroe county, near Bloomington, until seven years ago.

Many Attend Funeral of Mary Ann Williams

ECONOMY, Ind., Sept. 13.—The funeral of Mary Ann Williams, 93 years old, widow of the Rev. Jesse B. Williams, took place Saturday, Sept. 10 at 2 o'clock at the late residence of her son, Rufus Williams, 2 miles east of Economy, where she spent the last five years of her life.

The services were conducted by the Rev. John Hardwick. Many relatives and friends were present. Among the relatives from a distance were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Marion; Mrs. Edward Burnett, Indianapolis; Rev. and Mrs. I. W. Walters, Bartholomew county; Mrs. W. E. Dennis, Richmond; James A. Hiatt, Muncie; E. W. and Mrs. Hiatt, Newcastle; Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Brown, Spiceland; Mrs. Lydia Faris, Peru; Mrs. Eliza Mills and daughter, Cambridge City; Rev. Henry Pickett, Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. Addison Mendenhall, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. Barbara Mendenhall, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barnes, Indianapolis.

gram. The administration was not insisting upon anything else.

In fact President Harding has pointedly made it clear that these two things were the only things as to which he felt it proper to exert any pressure on his own initiative. Up to date congress has passed a good deal of legislation that Harding was not concerned about. But has failed to pass the two things promised.

Would Retire Gracefully.

The proposed remedy, as it is tentatively discussed, is to allow Senator Lodge's coming membership in the disarmament conference to serve as a reason for him to abdicate either the formal leadership or, at least, the working leadership of the senate. The suggestion is that his place would be taken by Senator Watson of Indiana, in an informal way Senator Watson has been exercising a quasi-leadership.

He is generally looked upon as a second string to Penrose. And when Penrose is away, Watson is frequently regarded as reflecting the Pennsylvanian's mind. It is also suggested that Senator Cummins of Iowa, who is president pro-temp of the senate, may wish to shift this position over to another.

Senator Cummins' health is not good and he has very burdensome duties as chairman of the committee on interstate commerce. If he should decide to rid himself of some of his responsibilities, his successor as president pro-temp of the senate would probably be Senator Curtis of Kansas.

Farmers' Bloc Insurgent.

Whether this change will cure the situation, or whether, indeed, these changes will take place, is so far, a matter of discussion. Watson and Curtis as successors to Lodge and Cummins would not mean much for the example of the so-called "farmers' bloc," which has been responsible for preventing most of the party discipline so far.

It is this "farmers' bloc" and others outside of the old guard that on several occasions, two of them conspicuously, have run away with the old machine. They rushed the farmers' relief bill and the soldiers bonus bill to a point where the leaders were so embarrassed that they had to call on the president for personal help in side-tracking them.

Under good party discipline, with a strong party leadership and with the steering committee functioning, these bills would have stopped before they got so far as to me an embarrassment. This whole question of making the senate a more business-like body is moving slowly.

It involves party and personal problems of much delicacy. The one certain thing is that Republican leaders are more concerned about it than about any other thing.

WOMEN HOLD BALANCE IN GOTHAM ELECTION, SAY POLITICAL HEADS

Following the neighborhood night held at Seavastopol school by the Community Service last month, a committee of seven persons of that section later appointed, has worked for community activities.

As a result of this work, a meeting to discuss community center events has been called for Wednesday night. It will be held in the school. The committee in charge are Mrs. M. Carlson, chairman; Frank Gilmore, Charles C. Ewbank, J. B. Sneider, Mrs. James E. Harris, Mrs. Ellman and Mrs. Bowers.

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 13—Women voters, participating for the first time in a mayoralty campaign, were conceded by political leaders to hold the balance of power today in the primaries that will decide which of our Republican candidates is to contest the mayoralty election with Mayor John F. Hylan. The mayor has no democratic opponent. The polls were to be open from 5 to 9 p.m.

For After G. O. P. Place.

The four aspirants for the Republican nomination are Henry H. Curran, president of the borough of Manhattan; F. H. Laguardia, president of the board of aldermen; Judge Reuben L. Haskell, of Brooklyn, and Wm. M. Bennett, former state senator from Brooklyn.

Curran, who is a coalitionist candidate, has the backing of the regular Republican machine but the other three contestants have large followings, and a close race was predicted by impartial observers. Laguardia has made his prime issue an attack on the Republican machine and especially on Governor Miller, whom he has criticized for his alleged anti-home rule attitude.

Judge Haskell, an avowed "wet" based his campaign on a claim that his showing would serve as an "indirect referendum" on prohibition. Bennett's stand was anti-coalitionist Tammany Versus Insurgent.

With Mayor Hylan the only Democratic candidate for mayoralty honors, interest in the Democratic primaries centered chiefly in the fight of James J. Hines, general secretary, to upset the Tammany slate which named Julius Miller for borough president of Manhattan. Hines' candidacy was a direct attack on the leader of the Tammany chieftain, Charles F. Murphy. Hines maintained that aside from his opposition to Murphy he is an organization.

Another contest that attracted interest was the candidacy of John J. Hopper, an anti-organization candidate on both the Republican and Democratic tickets for the nomination of city register in opposition to Miss Helen Varick Bowell and Miss Annie Matthews, Republican and Democratic candidates respectively. Hopper contended during his campaign that a woman unsuited to the office.

LaGuardia announced last night that he would have motion pictures on hand today to film any disorder or irregularities that might develop at the polls. This followed reports that a large number of "repeaters" had been imported from New Jersey to vote under names of persons known to have moved from districts in which they had registered.
