

RULING ON UNIFORM WEARING IS CAUSE OF GERMAN PROTEST

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Oct. 5.—President Ebert's order forbidding former army officers to appear in public in their old uniforms, except when attending the funeral of a comrade, has brought a protest from the monarchists who declare there are many officers who are too impoverished to buy civilian clothes and that therefore the president's decree means virtual imprisonment for them.

The order was issued to curb monarchistic agitation, in which officers parading in resplendent uniforms have been playing a conspicuous role and strikes particularly at Prince Eitel Friedrich, General Ludendorff and Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who seldom appear in public except in full army regalia.

The order applies to ex-soldiers as well as officers but the former are permitted to wear their uniforms if buttons and insignia of the kaiser's regime are removed.

Monarchists Agitate
The monarchists recently have been agitating against the republic through the medium of soldiers' organizations such as "The Front Fighters," "The Steel Helmet," and "The National Association of Soldiers."

The movement received the enthusiastic support of a number of newspapers, which became so outspoken that the government suppressed them and issued a warning that further agitation would not be tolerated.

Labor organizations have assumed a united front against the associations of officers and soldiers who are seeking to reestablish a monarchy and, in the campaign of propaganda which has followed, serious threats and charges and counter-charges have been made. The Socialists and Communists and in fact all the ultra-radicals, have enlisted in support of labor "to save the republic." While they are not unanimous in supporting the present government, they are of one mind in the belief that the monarchists must be completely eradicated.

Use Labor Argument
One of the chief arguments of the labor organizations in their agitation against the insistent propaganda of the monarchists is that a return to the old regime would mean the loss of the eight hour day which has been the workman's principal benefit of the war and the revolution.

The monarchists are meeting this argument with the assertion that under a monarchy the cost of living would be reduced at least by half, and it is known that a certain percentage of the working population, hard hit by low wages and high prices, is listening attentively to this appeal, remembering pre-war conditions, when there was plenty of food for all at prices which the poorest paid wage earner could pay.

The controversy between these two factions has resulted in another "class war," in which both sides have been preaching the doctrine of hate, apparently with an unalterable antagonism to compromise. Many speakers on both sides have advocated resort to any sort of weapon and recent political murders have so intensified the hatred that there are observers who believe civil war is not improbable.

MAN LIVES FOOT AS LION CRUSHES MEMBER IN JAWS
CHARLESTON, Ill., Oct. 5.—James Barker, of Paola, Kas., carnival employee lost a foot when he was dragged into a cage by a lioness that had torn loose one of the bars of its cage. Barker was driving the cage to the show grounds when the animal pawed him into the cage and crushed his foot in its jaws. Another employee rescued Barker by clubbing the animal and prying open its jaws.

FRANCE TODAY SAME AS OF YORE, SAYS MINISTER LOUCHEUR

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Oct. 5.—An impressive picture of the extent of France's achievement in restoring her war-ravaged regions is afforded by M. Loucheur, the Minister of Liberated Regions, in a public statement entitled "The Revival of France."

Official statistics of the destruction caused by the war and the reconstruction accomplished up to May 1, 1921, the minister declares, show that "the France of today is the same as France of yesterday and that in peace as in war she continues to work with steadfastness, courage and confidence."

M. Loucheur's statement covers the following subjects: Inhabitants, municipalities, schools, houses, land, agriculture, livestock, roads, factories and railways. After showing that 5,154,000 of the 8,400,000 Frenchmen from 19 to 50 years of age mobilized during the war, were killed or wounded, the statement presents the following statistics of civic reconstruction.

Inhabitants—Deported because of the war, 2,500,728; returned to France, 1,975,798.

Municipalities—Abandoned, 2,256; reestablished, 3,216.

Schools—Before the war, 7,271; reestablished, 6,830.

Houses—Destroyed 739,000; rebuilt, 10,213; repaired 326,700.

Land—Devastated 3,240,000 acres; cleared from projectiles, wire entanglements and trenches, 6,881,000 acres.

Agriculture—Farm land devastated, 4,571,000 acres; farms now cultivated, 3,420,000 acres.

Livestock—Horses and mules carried away, 367,000; restored, 96,503; oxen carried away 523,000; restored, 120,267; sheep and goats carried away 469,000; restored 121,164.

Roads—Destroyed, 32,960 miles; temporarily repaired, 18,825 miles; definitely repaired 8,426.

Factories (each having at least 20 employees)—(1914), 5,297; destroyed, 4,700; resumed operation, 3,645.

"France took up arms only in self-defense, endeavoring at the same time to maintain justice and liberty for the world," said M. Loucheur. "For nearly five years her richest provinces have endured continual martyrdom. And yet by her own means, from day to day, the ruins are reviving; houses arise from the ground, fields are covered with promising crops. The populations of the devastated areas believe that they can rely on the spirit of solidarity of all those who have measured the magnitude of their sacrifice and understood their unquestionable right to the fullest reparations. A vast field of action is open for the demonstration of human brotherhood. These people who suffered martyrdom while the safety of France and the world was at stake, deserve a fresh belief in the joy of life. Besides shelter and bread they are entitled to peace and happiness."

NEW SERVICE IS ESTABLISHED FOR CLASSIFIED ADS

Improvements Made For Benefit of Vast Clientele of This Popular Line of Advertising.

The Palladium presents its classified advertising department today in a new form. The ads are not only arranged, but are written and set up according to a carefully worked out system, the result of years of study by experts in classified advertising.

This method has been adopted by a number of newspapers, in nearly every instance such papers as the Providence, R. I. Journal, Brooklyn Daily Eagle, Waterbury, Republican, Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader, Lancaster Examiner, Harrisburg Patriot, etc., the leaders in their communities.

Better for Readers.
The first idea in the system is to make the classified advertising more interesting and convenient to the reader. That, of course, makes the advertising much better for the advertiser.

A classified department in a daily paper with such circulation and prestige as the Palladium has in Richmond and towns around is a catalog of the wants and offerings of a big public. Naturally, therefore, the department should be arranged in catalog form so that the different wants and offerings can be easily found.

It will be noticed that the different headings are listed alphabetically. Look for what you want as you would look in a dictionary.

Trained Staff.
For many years the Palladium has had a special classified department staff, and is, therefore, prepared to make suggestions to advertisers that are expected to get the largest possible results from the advertising. This, of course, is without additional cost.

Greater Results.
The Palladium is certain that readers and advertisers will approve the new system, and that the department will rapidly increase in size as it will improve in the results it will get for advertisers.

the stock, variously estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000, is owned in Henry county.

The property of the company has been ordered turned over to Harry C. Sheridan, of Frankfort, referee in bankruptcy.

The bankruptcy proceedings were brought last June by three creditors and the company at first contested the proceedings. Yesterday the answer of the company in denial of the bankruptcy complaint was withdrawn, thus permitting the finding for the plaintiffs that the company is bankrupt.

It was understood here that Mr. Sheridan had designated Neel M. Mc-Cullough, a banker at Anderson as trustee, to close out the business under the bankrupt laws.

Whose fault is it when your husband is cross at breakfast?

If you hit your thumb with a hammer you wouldn't blame your thumb for hurting.

Then why blame your husband whose nerves may have been pounded by coffee, and whose rest probably has been broken by the irritation of the caffeine it contains?

If you stay awake half the night you don't feel any too cheerful.

The caffeine of coffee and the thein of tea are known drugs. If their use is persisted in, sooner or later the nervous system may give way.

Then you may have insomnia, or disturbed sleep. Your nerves and tissues will be robbed of that stability essential for normal and happy living.

You can avoid this possibility if you'll stop drinking tea and coffee and drink instead, rich, pleasing Postum.

Postum is the delicious cereal beverage with a coffee-like flavor. It affords the advantages of a hot drink, without the ill effects of tea or coffee.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Try it with the family for a few days, and see what a difference there'll be—how it will permit Nature to bring sound sleep and strong, sturdy, quiet nerves. Sold by grocers.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
