

WAR ON SPEEDERS DECLARED BY POLICE IS BRINGING RESULTS

Evidence that city officials are determined to stop any tendency to speeding on the part of Richmond citizens is furnished by the police court records for Wednesday. Eight speeders paid fines of $1 and costs. They were: Carl Dunham, C. B. Floyd, I. R. Brown, H. Smith, D. R. Brown, E. R. Lemon, William Jenkins, and R. E. Calvin.

Chief of Police Wenger, invited to make a statement in regard to speeding in Richmond, said Wednesday: "There isn't going to be any statement this time. All the statements will be made in court."

Speeds of 25 miles per hour in the country, 15 miles per hour in incorporated towns and cities, and 6 miles per hour in going around corners, are provided by the state law, and Richmond motorists are expected to comply with this law.

Merrill Hamilton, 18 years old, delivery boy, arrested Sept. 24, for rounding the corner of North Fourteenth and A streets, was arraigned in court Wednesday. He had entered a plea of not guilty. I. O. Wright, the officer who had made the arrest, testified against him. Hamilton was given a fine of $1 and costs by Mayor Zimmerman.

Delivers Lecture. "We have more trouble, and more complaints about delivery boys than any other class of drivers," declared Mayor Zimmerman, in passing sentence. "There is too much reckless driving and I have ordered the motorcycle officers not to haul up people indiscriminately, but to give them warning. 'If I am caught by one of my own officers, driving too fast, I will come down and give myself the same fine as anyone else.'"

Drivers without speedometers are unable to tell anything about the time they are making, declared Mayor Zimmerman.

Attorney Frank Strayer, who handled the case for the Hamilton boy, appealed to circuit court. Bond was fixed at $100.
