EDUCATION IS WORLD

CURE, STATES TAYLOR

"In order to obtain democracy for the world, it is necessary to decrease the illiteracy of the world," said Dr. J. M. Taylor, world lecturer and evangelist, in his forceful address at Reid Memorial church, Wednesday night.

Dr. Taylor brought out the fact that the illiteracy of the Russians during the past years had caused innumerable clashes and trouble which might have been prevented had the people been educated. He said that if the nations had received education in the early years, the past war would not have been so horrible and many lives would have been saved.

Dr. Taylor showed how America spent her money in a way that was entirely too unnecessary. "If all the luxury money was turned in the direction of the education and relieving of the foreigners there would be less trouble and suffering on the part of these people."

Dr. Taylor urged that the churches should do all in their power to do a good work in the helping of the conditions in the foreign lands. He urged that the European nations needed a renovating and that if this was done then America would be in a much better condition.
