The oily skin often indicates that the liver is sluggish and there is too much food being taken into the system, which has an excess of fat. The skin will try to relieve the body, when the other organs of elimination cannot cope with it. This will also coarsen the pores, which will be so clogged with this heavy secretion, it becomes the harbor for soil and the disfiguring blackheads. Whiteheads also come from this internal derangement. Three cakes of yeast each day will be very helpful in these cases, as the yeast supplies food elements which such people have usually neglected and a simple astringent such as witchhazel will act as a mild astringent that will soothe the skin and refine the pores.

Beauty Chats

By Edna Kent Forbes

Discontent Makes a Young Face Old.

A YOUNG-OLD FACE

Most moral advice has a basis of sound common sense behind it. Preachy sort of people may tell us to smile because it lets sunlight into the world, or because of some equally bromide reason. A doctor will tell you that smiling improves the digestion, because the nerves are quiet and aid instead of impeding the work of assimilating food. Some of them will also add that anger, frowns, sullenness, cause poisons to form which affect the system adversely.

Any facial specialist will tell you that smiling is the best habit you can form to keep the features young, because it develops a little upward twist to the corners of the mouth, which makes the lips youthful in expression, and which raises minute little muscles about the edges of the mouth and along the cheek.

When these muscles sag, they cause wrinkles, and the lax, loose appearance which means middle age. When they are pushed up, or held in place as they normally are in youth, the cheeks are round and have the lines of grace and youthfulness.

So smile, even you do it consciously and as a beauty treatment. I'm not preaching elementary moral philosophy, only common sense. The discontented face with sullen mouth and down drawn lips develops lines and wrinkles that years of smiling and massage cannot eradicate.

Smiling will keep you young, and make you look younger—and make you feel better.

J. A. S.—If you refer to the new hair tonic that has plicarpine in it, you will surely get results from it. The henna, when used with the tonic, is merely to tint these stray hairs that have turned grey; in this case, the henna is used in the shampoo, but not allowed to remain on the hair longer than is needed for the actual time required in washing the hair.
